his Memorial Day weekend offers several opportunities to honor veterans within the townships of Antioch and Lake Villa.

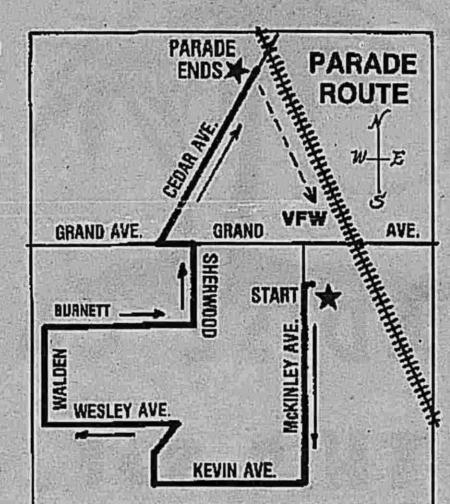

In conjunction with the dedication of the World War II memorial in Washington, D.C., the village of Antioch has teamed up the Antioch VFW Sequoit Post 4551 and the Antioch American Legion Post 748 to provide a day of honor and recognition on Saturday, May 29.

"They led the way for all of us who followed from Korea, Vietnam and Desert Strom along with the men and women who now proudly serve," said Walter Bushie, American Legion Commander.

The day will begin with a breakfast served by members of Boy Scout Troop 85 at the Antioch VFW Sequoit Post 4551 located at 75 North Avenue from 7-11 a.m.

World War II veterans will eat for free," said VFW Post Commander Bill Oerly. "The scouts will be serving a breakfast that you could have eaten during World War II: Spam, eggs, pancakes, chipped beef on toast."

A special prayer dedication service will be held at the post at 11 a.m. Additionally, a variety of displays will be set up, and the Sweet Adelines will perform patriotic, a cappella songs. At noon, a motorcycle procession of Vietnam veterans and other military motorcycle clubs will ride from the post down Main Street to the William E. Brook Entertainment Center, located off of the east side Orchard Street, for the remainder of the day's events in Antioch.

All veterans, from all wars, will be honored with a service at 12:30 p.m.

From 1-9 p.m. a variety of other activities including a picnic, raffles and band concerts will take place. Maravela's Catering is sponsoring the food.

The Lakes Area Community Band will take the stage at 1:30 p.m. and the Identity Crisis Band will play dance music from the '60s and '70s from 4-9 p.m.

Fund raisers will be held for both the Antioch Clock Tower and a veteran's memorial that is anticipated at the base of the tower. All other proceeds will benefit these ventures as well.

Also taking place on Saturday, May 29, is the Lake Villa VFW Post 4308 anniversary party held at the post hall, just south of Route 132, near the railroad tracks west of Route 83 in Lake Villa. A pig roast will take place

Budget discrepancies linked to turnover, old computers

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

It appears that many of the Village of Antioch's financial discrepancies have come about for reasons that are two-fold: there has been a high degree of employee turnover in the past couple of years, and the village has an antiquated computer system.

This conclusion was made by those who have been hired to help reconcile the books: Trisha Steele, the village's new finance director as well as Stephanie Zaher and Joel Manning, of the accounting firm Manning, Silverman and Company under the direction of Alan Probst, village administrator.

Steele said she had spent much of her first week on the job developing policies and procedures to ensure the village won't be confronted with a similar situation down the road. She said the crux is that the village had outgrown its accounting system.

"What the village had in place was appropriate for a small community," she said.

Zaher said the accounts didn't balance by $3.1 million, but said the books "didn't start out correctly from last year." She said one of her main tasks was to do a "data dump" and make sure that everything is in balance for the current year.

Manning, who said he's done a lot of work in a variety of municipalities, said, "What's happened in the past few years is that there haven't been a lot of technical people up front, nor has there been much money spent on computer equipment. When people have left, some functions haven't been completed."

With that, Manning said that within the engineer-ing department several hundred thousand dollars in fees hadn't been billed from the end of 2003. He said it was his assumption that there was even more that hadn't been billed since the beginning of 2004.

"When someone has left; there was no one to do those functions; no one fully being brought up to speed as to what functions a person did," he said. "We have signers on bank accounts who aren't even employees anymore. There's been no one responsible to coordinate all of this."

Trustee Mary Turner asked how this could happen. "Several employees have left in the past year," she said. "Why didn't anyone step in and that these things had to be billed? By my third meeting, the former village administrator (Mike Haley) was gone, given a severance package and left with a Nextel. To my knowledge there was never even a phone call made.'

As to the computers and software, Ben Goldstein, also an employee of Manning, Silverman, said the computers' field size was limited to $9,999,999, and that fact created problems when the village's assets went over $10 million this year.

"This issue just came up this year," he said. "The asset base didn't come over $10 million until this year." Manning reported that the former auditor had zeroed out certain things when the issue of the size of the computer field came up, but that he hadn't been able to get any answers as to why.

Reportedly adding to the discrepancies is that onesided entries were made in which money that was spent was recorded, but corresponding assets weren't listed.

Steele said that she, Probst and the accounting firm were using a new approach and focusing on things a month at a time. "We're clarifying May 2003 in a systematic manner," she said. "We're keeping track of reconciling items and reorganizing the records."

She said she anticipated the work would be completed for the past fiscal year by June 30. Probst said he would need an additional $60,000 to continue to pay outside consultants to see that this work is completed.

Probst said the group had achieved a "major victory" and had just been able to "crack the code" that would allow the group access to previous data.

Turner said her point about no one having called Haley was that consultants might not have had to spend months of time, not to mention the money spent in fees, working to crack a code.

Trustee Bob Caulfield said, "We've asked appropriate questions at the appropriate times. If you were inti-mately involved with the process, you'd know that we

'Horse country plan' invites public comment

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

A public review meeting of the "horse country plan" officially known as the Northwest Illinois Route 173 Corridor Joint Local Land Resources Management Plan (JLLRM) has been set for Tuesday, June 8 from 6-8 p.m. at the Newport School, located at 15872 W. 21st Street (off of Route 173) in Wadsworth. The first hour is an open house that will allow those unfamiliar with the plan an opportunity to review it; public comment will be accepted during the second

The Route 173 Corridor Council, comprised of the mayors and presidents of Antioch, Old Mill Creek, Wadsworth and Zion as well as Lake specifically encouraged..." County board members Judy Martini (R-Antioch) and Randall Whitmore (R-Wadsworth), is the plan's sponsor. The area of discussion includes 3,300 acres located between I-94 and Route 45, with southern border of one-quarter mile north of Route 173 and the state line as the northern border.

George Sakas, senior planner for the Village of Antioch, said he has affectionately adopted the name the "horse country plan," in part, because the goals include encouraging agricultural and equestrian uses.

One section of the plan's text reads: "Desirable non-residential uses within JLLRM planning area include all types of parks and open space. Equestrian-oriented uses are

The other stated goals are as follows: to preserve and enhance the rural, agrarian character and landscape; to preserve, where appropriate, the historical and rural character; and to preserve and enhance ecologically sensitive areas such as wetlands, floodplains, woodlands and wildlife habitats.

The full 24-page plan can be viewed www.co.lake.il.us/planning/173pla n.asp, complete with maps, charts and graphs. The report addresses land use and density, households and employment, transportation, services and infrastructure, existing plans and zoning, environmental resources, historical resources and future land use.

Phil Royang, corridor council facilitator and director of planning, building and development for Lake County, said that once the council completes its review, the plan would be forwarded to respective jurisdictions for individual review and approval. He said this meeting is the key first step in adopting this plan, and noted that the council is advisory and that it would be up to individual municipalities to adopt the plan.

Sakas said, "What this means is that residents will have plenty of opportunities to find out about this plan. After the council is done reviewing it and making any edits, it will come before planning and zoning and again before the village board (in Antioch). Other municipalities will follow whatever their individual procedures are."

Public comment will be accepted until June 15. There are links for e-mail comments on the Web Site for those who are unable to attend the June 8 meeting.

Previously, Royang said that this corridor council was shaped after the one that has been active along Route 12 for six years or more. A memorandum of understanding between the various entities was signed this past February.

Beyond this specific plan, the goals of the corridor council are to coordinate the use, zoning, development and infrastructure to ensure the aforementioned are in accord about the development along Route 173, and to set the procedures in place for it to happen.

XParks reinstates Thursday pilates

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Due to popular demand, the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department is reinstating its Thursday morning pilates and yoga class.

Office manager Candace Olsen said that the class had been removed from the 8:45-9:45 a.m. time slot because of waning interest, but after some time away the class regulars have been clamoring for its return.

"We would still like to get some new people involved in the class," Olsen said. "Because our regulars have missed the class so much, we're bringing it back."

The new session will begin on June

Olsen described the program as a relaxing, low-impact exercise class that focuses on strength training and stretching. She said instructor Janice Fenske incorporates tension balls and bands in the work out.

"This is really a great class," Olsen said. "It's appropriate for all ages from teens (under the age of 16 with a parent only) up to and including seniors."

Olsen said the class is for people of all skill levels and that prior yoga or pilates training is not necessary to to take the class.

She said, "Janice Fenske is an excellent instructor who is really good at working with people one-on-one so that no one gets lost in the class."

Classes run in about month-long session at a cost of $40 for residents and $45 for non-residents. No special equipment is required.

Olsen recommends wearing comfortable clothes that allow ease of motion. The class is taught on a matted floor so only bare feet or socks are allowed, no gym shoes.

To register for this class or to find out more information, call the parks office at 847-395-2160.

High school begs off NSFF program

By JULIE MURPHY and BRENDA BALIN-BETTSCHER Staff Reporters

While Community High School District 117's board of education wants to ensure the health of its students, it does not want to hitch its wagon to the National School Fitness Foundation (NSFF) or its "LIFT America" program that is intended to reimburse districts for the costs of equipment obtained through NSFE

In earlier action, the board had agreed to enter into a contract of intent, though not a financial agreement, with the organization. Each of the district's two high schools would have gotten "grants" for $250,000 each for reimbursement. Now District 117 is asking its legal counsel to break the contract of intent.

Superintendent Dennis Hockney said, "The attorney general in Minnesota is investigating (NSFF), and though we had signed a formal agreement saying we wanted to be part of that program that's no longer

In its current newsletter, the National School Boards Association (NSBA) asked whether the program was too good to be true and highlighted details to inform districts of the situation. It said, "NSFF claims that it receives the money to reimburse schools from federal grants and contributions from private foundations, but Minnesota officials allege that the company is relying on 'royalty payments' from districts it has recently signed contracts with to reimburse districts that have been in the program longer."

The Minnesota Department of Commerce along with State's Attorney General Mike Hatch and the State Auditor Patricia Anderson have been conducting an investigation into the foundation that has been in operation since 2000. An Order to Show Cause, with a pre-hearing conference held on May 20, was filed that imposes on the NSFF and its authorized agent School Fitness Systems (SFS) that it show the state why the commerce department should not order them to cease and desist from the offer and sale of securities.

As early as March 1, Anderson issued a press release warning schools about entering into contracts with NSFE

"Based on what we know, I really question the public value of the program," she said. "The risk seems excessive for public dollars. It's tempting to try and get something for nothing, but you usually end up paying more in the end."

Anderson outlined several of the legal issues surrounding NSFF that were addressed to Hatch, the Internal Revenue Service and the United States Department of Education. Those legal issues are as follows: compliance with bid laws, the value of products received, classification of contracts as "grants," and lack of audited financial statements.

According to the NSBA newsletter, many districts across the country who have been involved with the program have both received reimbursements and have been pleased with the program.

Locally, Lake Villa C.C. District 41 is one of them.

Superintendent Michael Anderson said, "We saw this as a chance to recoup money we already planned to spend."

The District 41 Board of Education had asked the schools to come up with an anti-obesity program. The program was to begin at Palombi Middle School and eventually spread to the elementary schools.

As part of the program, the board allocated $200,000 to be spent on equipment. The first equipment purchased was a climbing wall and aerobics equipment, such as stationary bicycles.

"I found out about NSFF through a superintendent at Richmond-Barton High School," Anderson said. "About three weeks later, I got information in the mail."

Anderson said the agreement with NSFF was that the not-for-profit organization would reimburse the cost of the weight-training equipment and the computer kiosk needed to record students' progress, if the school would purchase the equipment through NSFE

"We did our homework," Anderson said. Other schools had been receiving reimbursements, so, although the contract said NSFF, as a foundation, could not guarantee the payments, District 41 signed up for the program. "So far, we've received $50,000 in " reimbursements," Anderson said. The agreement calls for the district to receive $6,500 per month for 36 months. The contract began in October 2003. According to Anderson, all payments have been received on time, so far.

The program has proven both effective and popular.

"We have a waiting list of students who want to participate," he said. "We are going to offer it as a summer school program."

Hockney said that while there may be satisfied districts, District 117 is begging out of the program.

Band, chorus in fine form oth the Lakes Area Community Band and its guest, the Westosha Chorus, were in fine form during the spring concert. Both will provide some of the entertainment lined up for the special day of honor and recognition on Saturday, May 29.

A special dedication service will be held at the Antioch VFW Sequoit Post 4551 at 11 a.m. The Sweet Adelines will perform patriotic, a cappella songs after the prayer service.

At noon, a motorcycle procession will travel from the post to the William E. Brook Entertainment center where the activities and a picnic will continue until 9 p.m. The Lakes Area Community Band will take the stage at 1:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Steve Porch, the band is a 40-member, not-for-profit group of musicians from the area supported by Festival

SCHOOL DIGEST

District 34 hosts summer school

Antioch Community Consolidated District 34 is hosting its summer school program for students entering first through ninth grade.

Classes will be held June 9 through July 2 at the Antioch Upper Grade School from 8 a.m.-1 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Classes will be offered in three categories: remedial, enrichment and sports camps.

Summer school consists of a total of 90 hours of class time with the costs varying between $50-75.

District 34 offers summer sports camps

Several summer sports camps are being offered by Antioch Community Consolidated District 34 to students of all ages within the district.

Junior volleyball and junior basketball camps are offered for those in first through fourth grade. Wrestling camp is offered to students in first through eighth grade.

A special pitching clinic is being offered for third- though eighth-graders who want to learn the fundamentals of fast pitch softball.

For students in fifth through eighth grade, additional sports camps include cross-country running, as well as basketball and volleyball.

Sessions run June 9-July 1. Brochures are available at school offices, or call Jason Lind for more information, 847-838-8374.

Emmons announces 2004-05 registration

Emmons School District 33 will hold registration on two dates over the summer.

Registration will be held on both July 29 and Aug. 3 from 2-8 p.m.

For more information, call the school at 847-395-1105.

Emmons offers sports physicals

Incoming sixth-, seventh- and eighthgraders to Emmons School for the 2004-05 school year who are interested in participating in sports can have a sports physical done Aug.

The district has arranged for a family practice physician to be at the school on that Thursday from 4-6 p.m. to give athletes their physicals.

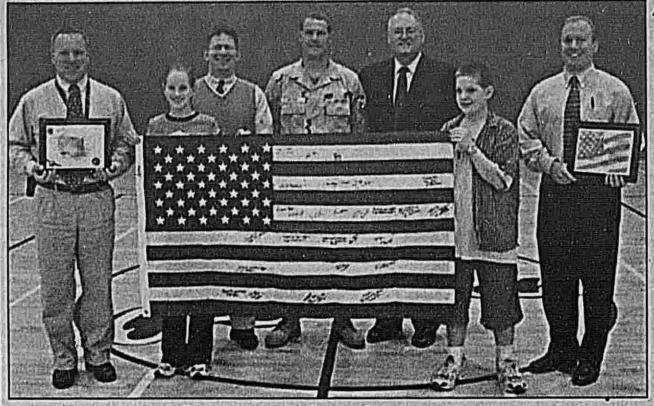

Call the school at 847-395-1105 to have a student's name placed on the list.

Early childhood screening

Antioch Community Consolidated District 34 offers early childhood developmental screening.

Parents with concerns should consider this. Developmental screening is a brief series of activities and observations designed to identify children who may have a potential problem that requires further assessment.

Screening is available to children between the ages of 3-5 years old and who have not yet entered kindergarten within District 34. To schedule an appointment, call the special education office at 847-838-8422.

High school chemical non-toxic

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Concern over milky white liquid in the drainage ditches along side the road bordering the Lakes Community High School in Lake Villa, part of Community High School District 117, turned out to be worry over nothing.

According to Superintendent Dennis Hockney, on May 19, Midwest Track Builders were in the process of putting a second layer of surface on the new school's track when the latex product being used spilled.

"There was never any hazard or danger," Hockney said. "The product was a non-toxic, latex product that is used to cause adhesion. While the company was powering washing the track and preparing the surface, this spilled."

He said that though the milky-white look created a little excitement, the product is watersoluable and was no problem to clean up.

Hockney said, "Everything was perfectly cleaned up by Thursday. The company used a vacuum similar to what is used to clean a septic system and went all along the ditch until the area was entirely clean."

Theft over $300

A pump and attachments was reportedly stolen from a Neumann Homes' site on Kimberly Drive, on May 24 between 9-10 a.m.

Neumann Homes' construction manager waived a police officer down. He reportedly told police he had come to fill the fuel tank of a pump that he had checked earlier in the day, but it was gone. He also said he checked with other employees to see if the whereabouts of the pump, that had been pumping water out of a hole for a foundation, were known to no avail.

The gas pump, with 3-inch input and output fittings, and attached hoses, is valued at $550.

DUI

Carlos Guiracocha, 34, of 6250 N. Pulaski, Chicago, was arrested for DUI on May 24 at 12:12 a.m. on Route 173 east of Talman.

Police locked him traveling 56 mph in a 40-mph zone, and cross over the fog line. When stopped, Guiracocha told police he did not have a driver's license.

Police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on him; Guiracocha failed all field sobriety tests requested of him. A check through LEADS/NCIC came back with information that his driver's license was suspended.

During inventory for tow, a plastic cut with a clear beverage was found in the car.

Guiracocha agreed to chemical testing resulting in .131 blood alcohol concentration. He was issued additional citations for speeding, improper lane usage, driving while suspended, DUI over .08 and illegal transportation of alcohol.

He was released on personal recognizance pending his June 15 court date.

Jenna A. Martin, 19, of 176 Tree Line, was arrested for DUI on May 19 at 1:39 a.m. on Deep Lake Road south of Route

Martin was stopped for having crossed over both the centerline and the fog line.

Police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on Martin and requested field sobriety tests, all of which she failed. During inventory for tow, a bottle of vodka was found.

Martin agreed to chemical testing resulting in .187 blood alcohol concentration. She was issued additional citations for two counts of improper lane usage, illegal transportation of alcohol and DUI over .08,

She was released on personal recognizance pending her June 15 court date.

Driving while revoked

Johan R. Strauss, 25, of 297 Joanna Court, was arrested for driving while revoked on May 23 at 7:24 p.m. on Main Street at Margate Terrace.

He was locked traveling 45 mph in a 30mph zone. He had neither a driver's license nor proof of insurance.

He was arrested and issued citations for speeding, driving while revoked and no insurance. Strauss was released on personal recognizance pending his June 9 court date.

nn Kakacek, president of the ALB and retired English teacher (ACHS) inspired former student (1985) Christina Vileikis (Vegas Vacation) to actively pursue her dreams as a writer.

On the flip side, Mr. John Kakacek trained Rhett Bobzien (ACHS 1985) and motivated the young man to become a professional wrestler (Thor, Berlin Bomber). In grade school the two students were bitter enemies, but presently both laugh about their childhood differences.

Christina passed this question off to an anonymous person who claimed to formally work for Dwayne Johnson's (The Scorpion King) PR department, "Could Mr. Bobzien become the next ROCK?"

Rhett's photo will be given to up-in-coming new film producer BJ Rayniak who currently works at Blockbuster in Antioch. BJ plans to move out to California in September. BJ was in Spiderman 2 worked as a crew member and production assistant that handled the camera and props. Attempts are currently being made to introduce BJ to actress (Vegas Vacation) and film producer Corinna Harney. We can get her and other celebrities to this area. HONOR be a cash bar. For information, call 847-356-2666.

In keeping with tradition, the Antioch VFW will host a separate Memorial Day ceremony on Monday, May 31 at 11 a.m.

"It's a very nice ceremony every year," Oerly said.

He said there would be a service with prayers and a 21-gun salute by the honor guard.

"We usually have several Girl Scout and Boy Scout troops help us with the flags," he added. "I think they enjoy this and it gives them an opportunity to learn about handling the flag."

The ladies auxiliary will present the wreath, the emblem of eternity.

Refreshments will be served after the ceremony.

Typically, members of the Antioch VFW march in the annual Memorial Day Parade of Lake Villa VFW Post 4308 on Monday, May 31.

The parade steps off from the parking lot of Palombi Middle School, on McKinley Avenue, south of Route 132, at 1 p.m. It winds its way south on McKinley, west on Kevin and Wesley, north on Walden, east on Burnett, north on Sherwood, west on Grand (132) and finally proceeds northeast on Cedar Avenue, ending at Lehmann Park sometime between 1:45-2:15 p.m.

Immediately after the parade, at the flagpole and monument in the park, a memorial service and wreath-laying ceremony will be held.

The guest speaker will be VFW State Commander Terry Vance, who is spending the weekend with the Lake Villa post as it celebrates its 50th anniversary.

Founding Post Commander Tony Sciacero, 92, is the parade organizer.

The parade will include numerous civic groups, school bands, businesses, political representatives and scout troops. A highlight this year will be an appearance by the Great Lakes Navy Marching Band.

There is no pre-registration for participation in the parade. Those wishing to march may show up at assembly at noon at the Palombi Middle School parking lot.

The Meeting House, part of the Lakes Region Historical Society, will be open on Memorial Day from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. to showcase its veterans display.

"We have items from the civil war all the way up through Desert Storm that belonged to locals," said President Wendy Maston. "We thought it was important to be open on Memorial Day so people can come in and see this display."

The Meeting House is located in Antioch on Route 83 on the east side of the road, and north of Route 173.

Rain conditions don't compare to 2000

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Though it's never wise to tempt the fates, the rains that have caused flooding along the Des Plaines River have not wreaked the havoc on Antioch that those in late June of 2000 did.

Village Administrator Al Probst said, "There were a couple of problems in Oakwood Knolls, and a little sandbagging behind the Jewel, but there have not been any significant problems." He said the highest levels of standing water and ponds above their banks occurred at about 7 a.m. on Saturday, but that levels have been dropping off ever since.

"Lee Shannon, public safety inspector, has been keeping track of things and we're in pretty good shape," Probst said.

Mark Ring, Antioch Township highway commissioner, said that all of the lakes within the Chain O'Lakes are high and that he had some concern about the level of the Fox River, as it had not crested at the time of this story.

"The worst ever was in 1986," he said. "This isn't that."

Nonetheless, he and is crews have been busy delivering sandbags and the sand to fill them to homeowners living along Antioch's lakes. Ring said that he will deliver a truckload of sand and 200 bags per request.

Those needing sandbags should call 847-395-2070.

Unlike winter emergencies with salt, Ring said there was little chance Antioch Township would run out of sand with the two gravel pits located on the west end.

Ring said that reports that Blarney Island sunk in the swollen Grass Lake may be true.

"I've been here since 1977, and to my knowledge it's flooded every time we've ever had a high-water event," he said. "No one's called for help, but I don't know what I could do anyway."

At Ring's best estimate, more than 2,000 bags have been delivered and a comparable amount of sand. He said, "A bag will hold 40-60 pounds of sand, depending on who is doing the filling."

Northwest Rt-173 Corridor Joint Local Land Resource Management Plan

Public Review Meeting

Tuesday, June 8, 2004, 6:00 – 8:00 PM Newport School, 15872 W 21st Street (just off Rt-173), Wadsworth

6:00 – 7:00 open house for public to review draft plan 7:00 – 8:00 public comment accepted by the Rt-173 Corridor Council

The public is invited to review and comment on the draft Northwest Rt-173

Corridor Joint Local Land Resource Management Plan. This plan is being sponsored by the Rt-173 Corridor Council, which is comprised of the mayors and presidents of the municipalities of Antioch, Old Mill Creek, Wadsworth, Zion, and two members of the Lake County Board. The draft plan contains recommendations for future land use and preserving agriculture, natural resources, and the rural character of the area bound by Rt-173, US-45, Stateline Road, and I-94/US-41. Draft plans are available for review on the Internet at http://www.co.lake.il.us/planning/173plan.asp and at the following municipalities and libraries:

- Antioch (847) 395-1000
- Zion (847) 746-4000
- Lake County (847) 377-2875
- Warren/Newport Library
- Wadsworth (847) 336-7771
- · Antioch Public Library
- Old Mill Creek (847) 838-0275
- · Zion Public Library

Individuals who are unable to attend the June 8th public review meeting, are requested to mail or fax their comments to the Route 173 Corridor Council, 18 North County Street - 6th Floor, Waukegan, Illinois 60085. Fax no. (847) 360-6734. Comments will be accepted until 5:00 PM, Tuesday, June 15, 2004.

After the Corridor Council finalizes its review, the members will forward the Plan to their respective jurisdictions for review and approval. Once adopted, the Plan will act as a clear guide for directing growth in the Northwest Rt-173 Corridor.

LOCAL DIGEST

Local makes West Point presentation

Brian Harris, a graduate of Central High School in Paddock Lake, Wis., will give a presentation on life at West Point Academy and the military on Sunday, May 30th, at 10:45 a.m. at the Antioch-Lake Villa Township Center.

Harris has been a student at West Point for the past four years. The Antioch-Lake Villa Township Center is located at 1625 Deep Lake Road, about one-third of a mile north of the intersection of Grass Lake Road and Deep Lake Road.

Questions should be directed to Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church Pastor Darald Gruen at 847-265-2450.

Monday worship services offered

Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church in Antioch will conduct evening worship services on Mondays at 7 p.m., beginning May 31.

These services are being offered as an alternative to the existing 9 a.m. Sunday schedule, and intended to give families vacationing on weekends or those working on Sundays, an opportunity to fulfill spiritual needs on another day. Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church currently conducts worship services at the Antioch-Lake Villa Township Center, located at 1625 Deep Lake Road, about a one-third mile north of Grass Lake Road.

For more information, call 847-265-2450.

4-month detour on Grass Lake Road

Grass Lake Road will be closed for about four months beginning on May 17 between routes 59 and 83, though Lake County will maintain local access for those either live on or just off that stretch of road.

Traffic will be rerouted from the east, Route 83, and the west, Route 59, north to Route 173. Through traffic will be expected to use this detour route.

While local access will be maintained, residents might have to enter their destinations from the opposite direction from which they are accustomed.

Construction will be completed in three stages.

Grass Lake Road will be closed to all local traffic at a point east of Prairie Road in the first stage. This means that residents who live on Prairie Road will have to access it from the west side.

In stage two, Grass Lake Road will be closed at a point west of Fox Run Lane, meaning that residents who live on that road will have to access it from the east.

Those same residents will have to access Fox Run Lane from the west side during the final stage of construction as Grass Lake Road will be closed to all local traffic from a point east of there.

Completion of the construction is expected by Oct. 31.

Chamber raffle pays $10,000 to one winner

One person of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will be $10,000 come July 24 when the winning ticket is pulled during the Taste of Summer.

In addition to the one grand prize, five winners will double their money and walk away with $200. Those purchasing tickets between now and May 27 will be entered into an early bird drawing and could win $500 in chamber gift certificates.

Tickets are $100 each and will be sold through the Taste of Summer, though the number of tickets is limited and may all be sold prior.

Teen invasion hits library

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

It won't be a British invasion, but a teen invasion that will hit the Antioch Public Library this summer.

"We want to give teens something to do this summer, and keep them coming to the library now that school is almost over," said Jane Connors-Geddes, adult programs coordinator. "We've created a schedule that should keep them active and interested."

The kick-off event will be a concert with the Bucket Boys on Wednesday, June 16 at 6:30 p.m. at the pavilion in Williams Park, directly behind the library. Reservations are mandatory for this event and can be made by calling 847-395-0874.

Connors-Geddes said the band brings a positive message to teens through the use of hip-hop music and humor that elicits crowd interaction.

"This is really a good, positive band and we're happy to be bringing them here for our summer kick-off," she said.

Other events planned for young adults in June include creative writing workshops for 13- to 15-year-olds on June 15 and June 29. The Tuesday sessions will be held at 2 p.m. Journals will be provided, and reservations are mandatory for participation.

Sixteen- to 18-year olds will meet on Thursdays, June 10 and 24 at 6 p.m. to hone their creative writing skills. As with younger age group workshop, journals will be provided and reservations are mandatory.

 Connors-Geddes said the workshops were broken down by age group so that all participants would get the maximum benefit. Throughout the summer, Game Night will be held every Thursday from 7-9 p.m. Teens can bring their own card games or board games, or come without and join in a game with another individual or group.

"Good games to bring include chess and card games or other board games," Connors-Geddes said. "This gives kids a good place to meet for this type of activity."

For those who like to play bingo, Teen Bingo Night is Monday, June 14, at 7 p.m.
Those who want to improve video game skills, can join in a discussion devoted to just that on Tuesday, June 15, at 1 p.m.

Connors-Geddes said, "Kids are always coming in here and printing out tip sheets off the Internet. This way, they can bring in their sheets and share them with one another."

She added that the discussion would be open to any type of video game from handheld games like Game Boy to X-Box.

"Bruce Almighty" will be shown at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 22.

"This is the first movie of the summer, but we plan on showing one PG-13 movie every month," Connors-Geddes said.

Sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders are encouraged to read "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe" and join in a discussion about the book on Saturday, June 26, at 2 p.m.

With the exception of game night, the Antioch Public Library asks that those wishing to participate make reservations in advance. Refreshments will be served at most of the events.

The library is located on the east side of Main Street, north of Orchard and Depot and immediately north of Williams. For more information, call 847-395-0874.

Three Sequoits heading to Charleston

By JOHN PHELPS Lakeland Correspondent

After 32 years, boys varsity track head coach Norm Hahn will step down from the coaching ranks. He will, however, still stay on as the school's head trainer next season.

Fortunately though, Hahn has one more week of coaching as three of his Sequoits will head down to Charleston this weekend for the IHSA Boys Track and Field state finals.

"I remember for years we didn't have anybody qualify," Hahn said. "So to have three this year is very gratifying."

Not surprising, though, because those three have been at or near the top in just about every meet this season, albeit triangulars, dual meets or invitationals.

At the Grayslake sectional, senior Jim Beatty outran the thunder and lightning by capturing the title in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 9:51.6. This marks the second time Beatty will make the trip to state. He also competed in the 1,600 run, where he took sixth with a time of 4:36.6.

Running mate Andy Napier also qualified for State by winning the 1,600 after clocking in with at 4:26.7. Napier is also no stranger to the State meet having gone down last year in not only the mile, but as a member of the 3,200 relay team.

"They both have experience know how tough it will be down there (at State)," Hahn said. "They know the strategies of how to compete against the best, like not getting boxed out."

Napier will run his preliminary race on May 28 starting at approximately 11:30 a.m. To qualify for the finals the next day, he will need to finish in the top-12.

As for Beatty, there aren't any prelims. Instead, he'll run his race on Sat. starting at noon.

Perhaps the biggest surprise for the Sequoits is senior transfer Oleg Sokolov, who qualified for Charleston by taking second in the high jump. Sokolov, who transferred to Antioch two years ago from Niles North, has overcome numerous leg injuries from last season. At sectionals, he finished second in the high jump with a leap of 6-feet, 3-inches.

"He's very dedicated and hard-working," Hahn said. "He's won the high jump at most of our meets this year. His best jump has been 6-4. It'll be tough at State. He'll need to get about 6-5, but I think he can do it."

Sokolov will find out his fate early Fri. when he competes in the prelim's around 9 a.m. Again, the top-12 from each heat will move on the finals the following day.

Other Sequoits not qualifying for State but achieving personal bests included senior Marshall Perry, who took third in the triple jump at sectionals with a leap of 42-9 3/4, and senior Taylor Pechauer, who was fifth in the discus with a PR toss of 141-7.

The 3,200-meter relay team of seniors

Tony Amundson and Mike Tiddens, and sophomores Mike Lodesky and Dakota West, clocked in with a time of 8:42. Senior David Dee also notched a PR when he took sixth in the 800 run with a PR of 2:03. Dee was a member of the Sequoits 3,200-meter State qualifying team last season.

Sophomore Ryan Oliver also earned a PR by taking fifth in the 3,200 run with a time of 10:31.5. And the 800 relay team of sophomore Josh Stammich, senior Kyle Ketterling, junior Mark Neuman, and junior Dan Small also earned a PR after finishing sixth with their time of 1:34.6.

Overall, Antioch took sixth out of 16 teams.

"That was pretty good for us," Hahn said.
"I was quite pleased, given the number of quality teams at our sectional."

Future looks bright for Grayslake booters

By MIKE KRIZMAN Lakeland Correspondent

Grayslake girls' soccer coach Mike McCaulou felt confident in the direction of his program even after a 5-0 loss to perennial state power Lake Zurich end the season on Monday.

After finishing 6-12-3 during his first year at the helm, McCaulou helped lead the Rams to an 11-9-3 mark in 2004, the most wins according to records dating back to 1987. The goal now for McCaulou and Co. is not to rest on their laurels, but to keep making an upward climb until a state title is in reach.

"I believe we made huge strides this year," McCaulou said. "It's been a great two years for me here and I know it's only going to get better. We have to continue to pluck away and build on the improvements we've made."

With the end of a season comes a time to recognize the seniors, and McCaulou couldn't have been more proud of the four on his team. Forward Erica Faden, goalie Kim Gottsacker, midfielder Bethany Russ and defender Amy Jenkins all played an important roll in helping turn around the program.

"Leadership is the best word to describe "Leadership is the best word to describe this group of seniors," McCaulou said. "Their leadership the last two years was outstanding and they kept everything positive."

Against Lake Zurich on Monday, the Rams had a better showing than the last time the two teams met. The Bears came away with a 7-0 victory earlier this season. The opportunities to score were there this time, but the girls struggled to finish them off.

"They're a great team and you can't take anything away from them," McCaulou said of Lake Zurich. "They finish. We had opportunities to finish, but we didn't do that. I'd be surprised if they (Lake Zurich) don't finish one or two in the state."

Lake Zurich midfielder Jessica O'Donnell was key in the win Monday afternoon. Her two second half goals helped put the Bears over the top and into the regional championship.

Head coach Pete Ternes felt that O'Donnell gave his team the spark they needed.

"We were putting a lot of pressure on ourselves in the first half and not playing the way we normally play," Ternes said. "As soon as Jessica scored those goals, we relaxed and played much better."

As for Grayslake, McCaulou is excited about the future of the program, as well as the future of his seniors. All four will be playing soccer on a college campus next year, including Russ who scored 27 goals this past season and will look to play for Illinois State in the fall.

McCaulou feels that the attitude of the girls took a significant turn for the better in 2004 and that it will only help in the won-loss category once the 2005 season is underway.

"The girls are expecting more from themselves," McCaulou said. "It's hard to verbalize until they start to win. Actions speak louder than words and the girl's attitudes have helped them be successful on the field.

"The team doesn't like to lose," McCaulou continued. "And it makes them want to work harder and expect more from themselves to try and get better every game."

A little breather is always good. And Antioch Fastpitch can use it, especially with the regionals coming up Memorial Day

"We need a little time to heal," said Sequoits first-year head coach Julie Sexton. "It's also a good time to fine-tune everything."

As for the healing part, having gone almost the past week without playing a game will help outfielder Amanda Steiskal recover from a sore ankle. Catcher Jill Norwick and third baseman Carolyn Cooley could also use the time to recuperate, as they have been a little under the weather as of late.

But come May 29 at noon, Sexton and the seventh-seeded Sequoits will be ready to tangle with North Suburban Lake rival Lake Forest in the semifinals of the Lake Forest regional. The Scouts, whom Antioch split with during the regular season, are the 10th seed.

The winner will move to the regional title game on May 31 at noon against either second-seeded Deerfield or 16th-seeded North Chicago.

Sexton likes her team's chances against Lake Forest, seeing that the last time they played Antioch came out with a victory that started them on a seven-game winning streak.

"Beating them that second time we played helped get us back on track," said Sexton, whose team averages between 5-10 hits and

Carmel paces field at sectional meet

By STEVE PETERSON speterson@lakelandmedia.com

Carmel High's boys track team looked for a second big weekend in a row, seeking the team title and qualifying as many events as possible.

"We had a great day, with the only exception being the mile relay. We got everyone else to state," said Carmel coach Jim Halford.

Carmel's downer in the 1,600 meter relay, due to an injury, was more than offset by several outstanding individual accomplishments, as the Corsairs lead the area contingent to the boys state meet May 28-29 at Eastern Illinois University. A lightning storm forced the Grayslake meet to be held over two days.

"We had three straight years to win the ESCC and that is something everyone will remember," Halford said.

Warren finished a solid third in the team standings behind Carmel's 94 points and McHenry's 69, with 68. Warren won the 3,200 held Friday with Mark Schneider, Nathan Walker, Pedro Estrada and David Kierna in 7:59.6. Carmel was second in 8:03.5, with Bryan Wynn, Steve Dana, Matt Pirih and Rich Fugiel. Dana would later be hurt as well as Jim Levasseur, ending the 1,600-meter relay's season. Warren was second and qualified in the 1,600 with Walker, Ray Varner, Paul Thomas and Mark Schneider.

Grayslake's Bob Applehans broke his own school record, set earlier in the season, with a toss of 158 feet.

Applehans earned the state berth and the sectional title despite scratching on four of his six throws.

Grant's Eric Horvath qualified in the 300 hurdles after setting a record at the Lake County meet.

"I just take it one week at a time. Anything can happen. I qualified last year, but this year I have a feel for what state is going to be like," Horvath said.

"Eric has been consistent all year," said Grant coach Sam Spasojevich.

Jim Larson of Carmel qualified with a second place 153 feet 2.5 inches. "The Johnsburg guy (winner Shawn Jozwiak) put pressure on me and there was Dave Moosman. I did it on the second throw. I usually save the best for last. The first throw is a continuation of the warm-ups to get me in the finals. I use the two throws in prelims to put everything into it. In warm-ups, I try to steady. As a team, we did really well," Larson said.

Larson was third in the discus, won by Grayslake's Bob Applehans in 158-0.

James Looby, a senior for the Corsairs, won the 300 hurdles in 39.1. Both Horvath and Ray Varner of Warren tied for second in 40.1. Horvath survived just touching a hurdle, but did not interfere with any other runners.

Fugiel won his speciality, the 400 meters, in 49.2, finishing up a conference title. Schneider of Warren was second to qualify in 49.4.

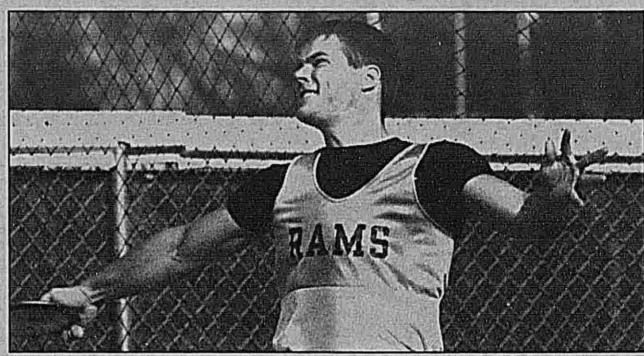

Carmel's Pat Kimener improved his technique just at the right time. He added nine inches to his pole vault effort, winning in 13 feet, 9 inches. Jeremy Shaw and Eric Fettner of Vernon Hills were 2-3, both with 13-3.

Warren took second in the 1,600 as Nathan Walker, Ray Varner, Paul Thomas and Schneider finished runner-up to Johnsburg.

Cheron Williams, a junior, gave Libertyville a second-place effort and qualified in the long jump, in 20 feet, 10 inches. Williams was fourth in the high jump.

Wes Sheldon, a sophomore, qualified for Vernon Hills (24 team points) in the 800 meters. "Wes has been battling off a little illness. He qualified. He had a personal best. Wes is just a sophomore, but he has run fast enough to make the finals down there. He's our No. 1 cross-country guy. To be sectional champion is a special accomplishment," said Vernon Hills coach Doug Williamson. "He made them pay in the middle third of the 800 meters. No one went after him." Sheldon beat Levasseur and Pirih of Carmel's 1:58.7 and 2:01.8.

Josh Patterson of Wauconda had a strong effort Friday in the prelims, finishing second in his heat in the 200. He finished sixth in the finals. Chris Gehrke also gained a sixth, in the 300 hurdles.

over four runs per ballgame. "It (beating them) helped show us where our guts and vulnerabilities were."

As for the game plan come regionals, it's all about aggressiveness.

"We're going to try and present ourselves as an aggressive force on offense," the coach said. "Defensively, rather than reacting, we're going to try and manipulate their offense. We want them to react to our defense."

A healthy Cooley will be one of the keys to Antioch's success in the playoffs. She received the game ball after going 3-for-3 with two RBI in Antioch's last contest, an 11-1, five-inning decision over Grant.

Norwick is another big key, not only behind the plate, but with her good mixture of speed and power batting in the lead-off position.

Shortstop Katie Korecek and center fielder Jackie Schmit, one of the, if not the team's leading hitter all year with her almost-.400 average at the plate, are other main ingredients where offensive production is concerned.

As for the starting pitcher against Lake Forest, the decision will be made later this week. It'll be either Lanaya Gutowski or April Mysliwiec. The choices are pretty good, whomever Sexton goes with.

"We're confident whoever we go with," Sexton said.

For the regular season, Antioch finished 16-15 overall and tied for third at 5-5 in the NSC Lake.

"That's kind of where we predicted ourselves to finish, given the strength of our conference," Sexton said.

But now that doesn't matter because it's playoff time, where you win or go

Let's not think of the latter, not just yet anyway.

Eleven times over the past 60 years, the Des Plaines River has crested over nine feet in Gurnee. The river is considered to be at a flood stage when it rises to a depth of seven feet. This week's cresting at 11.69 feet almost eclipsed the 1986 mark of 11.95 feet, considered the worst flood ever in Gurnee. In the background is an aerial view of downtown Gurnee near the intersection of Grand, Old Grand and Kilbourne avenues.

THE FLOOD OF 2004

Near-record river levels finally crest in Gurnee, while recovery efforts start

By NICHOLAS ALAJAKIS Staff Reporter

ne of the worst floods in the village's history displaced residents, damaged businesses and shut down roads and schools. But it failed to dampen spirits, as residents came together for five days that won't soon be forgotten.

The excitement surrounding the flooding of the Des Plaines River peaked Wednesday afternoon when Gov. Rod Blagojevich, speaking to a crowd in Gurnee, declared Lake County a state disaster area.

Blagojevich had spent parts of the morning touring the flooded area by helicopter. He said he was inspired to the area by hearing stories of how the community came together to help each other during the near-record floods.

The declaration now gives the area an opportunity to receive federal aid, if it is granted, Blagojevich said. It also makes way for the Illinois Emergency Management Agency to coordinate cleanup duties in the area.

The flooding, which was a result of heavy rains late last week through-out the area and in southern Wisconsin, affected 39 residences. A total of 65 structures had taken in water as of Tuesday afternoon, according to the village.

The water crested on Tuesday evening at 11.69 feet. The record for flooding in Gurnee occurred in 1986 when the Des Plaines reached 11.95 feet. This year's flooding was expected to exceed 1986's levels, but never did.

Water began receding Tuesday afternoon, and could be back below the seven-foot flood levels by Monday, said Bill Morris, hydrologist for the National Weather Service in Chicago.

"It takes a while for the water to move back because the Des Plaines has no slopes," Morris said.

Once water gets down to 9.5 feet, residents and business in area will be free of water, according to the village. The two-foot recession is expected to occur by Friday, Morris said.

hile most eyes in Chicagoland were on Gurnee this week and how that village is recovering from a near-record flood, other areas in Lake County were hit hard after nearly a month of heavy rain.

Preparation saves dozens of homes

Levees, sandbags and countless volunteers are the reason why many homes stayed dry in one of the biggest floods in Lake County history. The efforts of those who volunteered along with 120 tons of sand used for over 30,000 sandbags saved homes in Libertyville Estates and Countryside Manor and near Lake Minear.

"This is probably the most orga-nized community," Dave Christensen, of the Illinois Emergency Management Agency, said to Libertyville officials Tuesday, "It's rare to roll into town and ask questions and people have the answers."

While no homes were drastically effected by the flooding, several major roads were put in danger of closing including Route 176 and Rockland Road, whereas Oak Spring Road did close around 8 p.m. on Monday night. Thanks to less rain on Monday night then originally predicted, the river crested Tuesday evening and residents on the brink were able to finally let out a sigh of relief. Especially those of Libertyville Estates who saw the water rise within a few inches of a levee that was put in after the flood of 1986.

"That water would probably be in our houses by now so (the levee) has made a huge difference," longtime Estates resident Margaret Mcinerney said. "You feel a lot more comfortable, like you have a chance now."

Houses in Countryside Manor weren't as lucky as Sprucewood and the south side of Oak Grove roads were enveloped in water by late Monday and only residents were 40 of the 65 structures in the area. Village officials would not allow people back in to their residences until the Building and Engineering Department as well as a Lake County health safety inspection had inspected their buildings for structural safety by the Lake County Health Department.

The water carries lots of bacteria and people who spent any time in it are encouraged to get a tetanus shot if they had not done so in the past eight to 10 years, said Sandra Egan, a nurse with the Lake County Health Department. Free shots were offered on site for free throughout the week. More than 140 people had taken advantage of the service by Tuesday afternoon, Egan said.

Assistance came from numerous village and county employees. From Saturday to Tuesday volunteers throughout the community could be seen bagging the more than 150,000 sandbags used to preserve the area's structures.

The Great Lakes Naval base even sent more than 4,000 sailors at the request of U.S. Rep. Mark Kirk (R- Fort Sheridan).

The biggest effort was seen at Gurnee Grade School, where hundreds of volunteers spent last weekend sandbagging to keep the school, located about 200 yards from the river dry.

Rudny praised the efforts of those who worked at the grade school.

"There was a mission to save the school," Rudny said, "They did that."

Despite water levels outside of the building reaching four-and-a-half feet, very little water got into the building, said District 56 Civil Engineer Pat Bleck.

Bleck and his staff worked around the clock to keep the building dry.

"We heard there was a rumor going around that water had gotten in," Bleck said. "It didn't."

Despite water levels cresting lower than expected, not everyone escaped without major damages.

Shawn Depke, owner of the Trading Post strip mall at 4600 Grand Ave., said that despite sandbags and water pumps, his buildings have taken on more water than in past floods.

The 18 inches of standing water his building had on Tuesday is far beyond what he experienced in 1986 and in 2000, Depke said.

"I don't know what the experts are saying. This is worse," Depke said.

Village Administrator Jim Hayner said Gumee was better prepared this time around, and efforts were made to take on minimal damages.

Experience from past floods taught everyone something, Hayner said.

Residents like Tim Froman used his experiences with floods and cleared his basement of all its belongings before the floods came.

There should have been another lesson learned from the past floods, said Village Trustee Tom Chamberlain. People need to realize that floodplains flood, and homes should not be in the area, Chamberlain said.

Following past floods, the village had offered to purchase and level homes in the flood plains, but only about 10 people took them up on the offer.

Now the village is spending lots of money to assist those people, Chamberlain said.

Fellow Trustee Jeanne Balmes said it was unfair to try and make people leave their homes. Balmes, who lives in the floodplain said she does not plan on leaving the house she as lived in for five years...

The floods weren't just inconveniencing those near the flood area. Many roads and highways surrounding Gurnee remained closed Wednesday morning.

Major closings included Grand Ave., which was closed from Milwaukee Avenue to Route 41. Route 120, which closed Tuesday from O'Plaine Road to Hunt Club Road. Route 120 was later reopened. And Route 41, which closed from Milwaukee Avenue to Delany Road.

"The county decided it must keep Washington Street open at all costs," said Suzi Schmidt, Chairman of the Lake County Board. "It's the only road into Waukegan."

The closings caused headaches for many, including Hayner, who said he was forced to park his car at the intersection of Milwaukee Avenue and Grand Avenue and walk to Village Hall, so as to save up to an hour.

Area schools were also closed due to flooding. Both high schools were closed from Monday to Thursday. And District 56 schools are expected to re-open Tuesday. Woodland School District 50 did not close.

Final costs for the flood are not yet available. Cleanup will first have to be done, Rudny said. But state and possible federal assistance will go a long way, he added.

allowed to drive through the water. Those living on Hawthorne Lane and River Drive near Lake Minear also found their streets partially submerged, but no homes were effected.

Despite everything, the aspect of the flood that stood out most was all the aid that was given so quickly throughout the town.

"We've got people from the Fire Departments, the Village, volunteers, even some work release people from the Lake County Jail," Libertyville Highway Commissioner Bill Morgan said. "Everybody is pulling together and that's the important thing."

Lake County's western front takes rain in stride

Atwater Parkway, an island in Fox Lake, and its neighbor York Street, were among the hardest areas hit by flooding in western Lake County.

Sandbags were made available to those who requested them from the village of Fox Lake. Street department and emergency services coordinator Ed Lescher keep a vigil on high water areas. The U.S. Coast Guard closed the entire Chain O' Lakes to boat traffic on May 24.

Home Depot of Volo donated 14 skids of sandbags to be used by residents said Grant Township Highway Commissioner Kim Kiesgen. She said areas hit hard in the township incluide Stanton Point, Meyers Bay and Vista II.

Residents pitched in with sandbags and moral support as residents had to use boats to get around yards.

Chain O' Lakes closed

Fox Waterway Agency officials announced May 25 that the water level had crested, but 8-12 inches are expected to come through the system. A start to a decline of water levels is expected May 28, pending no additional rains.

Keeping their sense of humor, residents said they could see carp swimming in what used to be their lawns.

The FWA announced the full closing of the Chain O' Lakes May 23.

"It is never a popular decision to restrict boating, but with the amount of rain falling in the watershed in both Wisconsin and Illinois, flood damages have to be considered. Hopefully, Mother Nature may ease up some of this water can move through the system," said FWA Executive Director Ingrid Ruttendjie.

At noon on May 22, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources staff observed that flows and stages met the criteria for operations of the new Obermeyer Gates at the Stratton Lock & Dam in McHenry and the Algonquin dam.

The Obermeyer gates were opened approximately half way as soon as possible, officials determined. They further noted that it is not expected that the operations of the gates will impact the system south of Algonquin any more than would be expected during an otherwise high water flow event, while alleviating the high water conditions on the Chain O' Lakes Fox River System.

Wauconda Village Administrator Dan Quick said it may be necessary to totally close Bangs Lake.

"The lake is at record high levels. We have not had to close the lake in about 10 years," Quick said.

Unincorporated Mylith Lake resident John Hermansen said its lake is getting high there, too. "It is the worst I have seen it in five years," Hermansen said.

Those plans and thousands like them were put on hold as the entire Chain 'O Lakes was closed Saturday, one week after a no-wake rule was put in effect, then closed entirely.

District 117 rejects fitness program

Antioch-While Community High School District 117's board of education wants to ensure the health of its students, it does not want to hitch its wagon to the National School Fitness Foundation (NSFF) or its "LIFT America' program that is intend-ed to reimburse districts for the costs of equipment obtained through NSFE In earlier action, the board had agreed to enter into a contract of intent, though not a financial agreement, with the organization. Each of the district's two high schools would have received "grants" for $250,000 each for reimbursement. Now District 117 is asking its legal counsel to break the contract of intent.

Gavin to stay at Lakes school

That would be a necessity if Gavin Central School is not repaired by August. Gavin is los-ing the use of Glen School in Fox Lake and Martin School in Lake Villa for 2004-05. Gavin School North was closed last summer. Legislation aimed at assisting Gavin District 37's relocation was approved by the Illinois State General Assembly and Senate. It will only be used if all other means for recouping costs have been exhausted.

New Metra station planned

Grayslake—The Grayslake village board approved accepting a federal grant that will allow plans for a new Grayslake train station to progress. Plans to build a Metra station on the north side of Washington Street, a quartermile west of the intersection with Lake Street, have been ongoing for about 10 years. The new station will be on Metra's North-Central line, which runs from Antioch to O'Hare Airport and into downtown Chicago. The goal for completion is sometime in late-Fall, 2005.

County approves ethics ordinance

By JEFF ZACHARY jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

The Lake County Board has approved a resolution adopting an ordinance called the Lake County Ethics Ordinance.

Brent Paxton introduced the ordinance at the county board meeting.

"The State of Illinois enacted an ethics act and all the counties and municipalities need to follow it," Paxton said,

The county had originally planned to put in the ordinance an "Ethics Commission" but the commission was put on hold until the June meeting when the board decides who they want on the three-member commission.

The Illinois General Assembly

recently passed, and the Governor signed into law, comprehensive changes to the ethics/gift ban laws and this ethics ordinance had to be adopted by May 19 of this year.

In fact, all municipalities and counties in the state have had to adopt this ordinance.

The new law is a revision of state statutes regulating ethical conduct, political activities and the making and acceptance of gifts and sets out prohibitions on political activities by officers and employees of local governments.

The law states that no officer or employee shall perform political activities during compensated time or require an employee to perform political activities as part of work duties, as condition of employment or during compensated time off.

A violation of the political activities portion of the ordinance can result in up to 364 days in jail and a fine not to exceed $2,500.

The Attorney General's Office has also recommended that townships designate an Ethics Advisor to help interpret and comply with the law, and a three-member Ethics Commission to help enforce the ordinance.

Village administrator Barry Burton said, "The ethics advisor is a non-binding advisor provided to help shepherd the process."

He added that in the interim, before an ethics commission is appointed, the State's Attorney would investigate any ethics violation by a county official.

Commuters knee-deep in options at Harris Road

By BILL SCHROEDER

Mid-Lake County rail commuters, especially those residing in Libertyville and Grayslake, have twice as many commuting options as residents residing elsewhere in Metra served areas, Cutting a ribbon to symbolically open the new Prairie Crossing station on the Fox Lake Metra Line, J. Patrick McAtee of Metra said residents living close to the North Central line station nearby on Harris Road can get connections to 57 stops, making the intersection of the two lines a veritable commuter's haven.

McAtee was joined in the ribbon cutting by Libertyville Mayor Duane Laska and George Ranney, developer of Prairie Crossing and a long-time rail commuter advocate through Chicago 2020, a research and advocacy group serving the Chicago Metro area.

The new Prairie Crossing station has a 385-foot platform and has parking for 400 cars. It makes the third commuter station serving Libertyville, Laska pointed out proudly.

Prairie Crossing now is utilizing a rehabbed temporary station McAtee pointed out that a permanent station matching the nearby by North Central facility will be provided in the near future.

Both McAtee and Ranney, a resident of rural Grayslake, stressed the importance of advancing commuter rail service "to get people off the highways." Think about the link between transportation and land use, Raney asked. "We need more projects like this—where job sites and rail service are available."

Ranney pointed out that Grayslake officials are cooperating with Prairie Crossing to provide housing and retail near the two Harris Road stations. Future growth

Walkers raise $16,000 for the elderly

By BRIAN JANOSCH brian@lakelandmedia.com

Vista Health's "Walk for ElderCARE" raised $16,000 for the assistance of the elderly on May 16. The sunny day brought out over 200 walkers in the first year of the event.

"Anytime you increase awareness of what you're trying to do it's good," volunteer Susan Freeman said. "I think we're on our way to doing a better job of that."

Walkers from around the county gathered at Victory Lake in Lindenhurst to take part in the event. They were greeted by the sounds of the Grayslake Student Choir who performed before the event got under way.

After the Vista Surgery and Treatment center put on a short stretching clinic, the walkers were on their way.

"(The walkers) did a loop around Victory Lake's property," said Linda Lampinen, ElderCARE Community Relations Manager. "It was nice because the paths went back into the country a little bit."

At the end of the day 50 different raffle prizes were given away and each participant was given a gift bag for taking part in the event.

"We have a meeting for the planning committee to talk about what was good and what we may not have taken advantage of," Lampinen said. "The format and everything worked, we only want to improve it."

Overall the event was a success, especially for the first year, Lampinen said. But there is still area for improvement.

"The first time you do anything the logistics of everything come into question," Freeman said. "From an organizational standpoint we felt everything went smoothly."

The money raised will help the non-profit organization build a stronger volunteer program, continue transportation services and increase community awareness and outreach.

1 West Nile case too many

Hotline back in hopes to eliminate virus

Now that spring is here, the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center is urging residents to protect themselves against West Nile virus. West Nile virus is contracted from the bite of a mosquito infected with the virus.

"While only one human case of the disease was reported in Lake County last year, West Nile virus continues to be a local threat and residents should continue to take precautions against it," said Dale Galassie, the Health Department's Executive Director.

The Health Department will re-activate the West Nile virus hotline on May 1 for county residents to report dead birds, report areas of stagnant water (which are conducive for mosquito breeding), or to obtain more information on the signs and symptoms of West Nile encephalitis. The West Nile virus hotline number is 847-377-8300.

The Health Department will collect a limited number of dead crows and blue jays for testing beginning June 1st. The Health Department will contact you if the bird you report is needed for testing. All other dead birds will not be collected by the Health Department. It is recommended that dead birds be disposed of by placing the bird in a plastic bag and discarding it into your garbage. Dead birds cannot spread West Nile virus. The information residents provide is very important and will be used to monitor West Nile virus in the county and identify any problem areas that exist. The Health Department will share this information with municipalities and townships.

The Health Department also is urging residents to prevent mosquito breeding and prevent mosquito Recommendations to prevent mosquito breeding include:

· Discard old tires, buckets, drums or any water holding containers. Poke holes in tires used as bumpers at docks.

Drain unused swimming pools.

Recommendations to prevent mosquito bites include:

 Whenever possible, limit outdoor activity at dusk.

 Wear light-colored clothing that minimizes exposed skin and provides some protection from mosquito bites.

 Make sure door and window screens fit tightly and that all holes are repaired.

 Whenever applying mosquito repellent to exposed skin, always follow label directions. The most effective repellents contain DEET, which is an ingredient used to repel mosquitoes and ticks. The more DEET a repellent contains the longer time it can protect you from mosquito bites. A higher percentage of DEET in a repellent does not mean that your protection is better, just that it will last longer. Based on a recent study: a product containing 23.8 percent DEET provided an average of five hours of protection from mosquito bites; a product containing 20 percent DEET provided almost four hours of protection; a product with 6.65 percent DEET provided almost two hours of protec-

Lake, McHenry fire departments hold combined drill to be prepared

By JEFF ZACHARY

jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

Lake County and McHenry County residents can be assured of a quick response in case of a major emergency if the multi agency and multi-county hazardous materials and emergency response drill held on Saturday, May 22, at Midwest Printed Circuits in Round Lake Beach is any indication.

"It took about three minutes for the first unit to be on the scene," said Captain Derrick Warner, a training officer for the Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District. "Our first people on the scene didn't hurt themselves, they waited for the guys with the right equipment," he added.

Warner was referring to the drill, which consisted of a worker at the factory simulating knocking over a 55-gallon drum of an unknown chemical. The worker, Mauro Rivera, then made a 911 call in Spanish to CenCom to see how well the dispatcher would handle the call.

The telecommunicator immediately dispatched an ambulance to the scene. Upon arrival at the scene the paramedics found a number of employees (police cadet volunteers) passed out on the concrete floor in a cloud of smoke.

They waited for firefighters with the proper equipment before attempting the rescue. In addition to the 20 fire departments that "HAZMAT" responded to the call, Technicians from Lake And McHenry counties used the drill to improve their skills and tested existing emergency response plans.

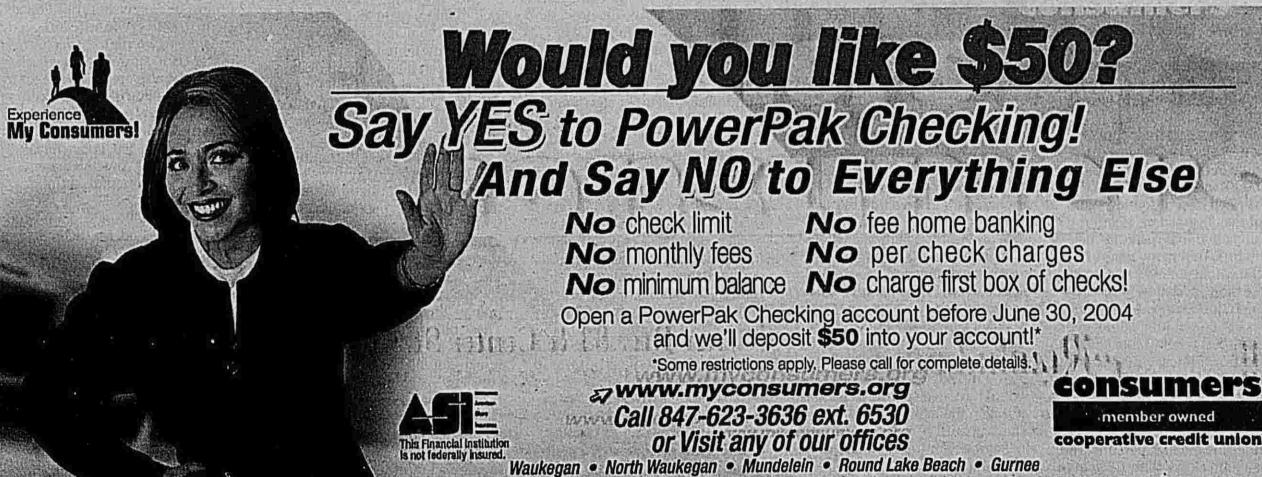

Further testing the capabilities of the first responders, part of the drill involved multiple casualties at the Hillcrest Nursing Center directly across the street from the factory.

Smell of success not appreciated by neighbors all it the "Perfume of economic success." Or call it what it is, an obnoxious stink generated by a meat processing plant. Whatever, a sausage factory in Lake Villa has nearby residents complaining about odor wafting about the neighborhood.

Industrial smells weren't given much thought a few years ago when village fathers were courting a business that would provide local employment and enhance the real estate tax base. Lake Villa officials aren't ready to admit that the factory deal has turned out to be a stinker, but they know they have a problem on their hands. Dare we caution that there's trouble in the air?

Modern technology has come a long way to correct industrial odors. It wasn't always that way. Old-timers can remember when Waukegan was a kolidiscope of scents produced by a prosperous and job-rich industrial community pouring forth from businsses involved in tanning, industrial finishes, baking powder and building products. Grayslake Gelatin, known the world over as an early health food supplement and basis for a wide variety of food products, turned the air blue when the liquor used to process hog hides was changed. Fould's Milling in Libertyville was known fondly for "local bouquet." Even today, Abbott Laboratories from time to time emits a distinctive aroma.

Sometimes it just takes time to get used to an industrial .
odor. Residents of the attractive Prairie Crossing residential community know that there is a landfill nearby only on certain days when the air blows out of the southwest. There is a regional sewage treatment plant right in the middle of Fox Lake that is well established and accepted. Residents of Antioch turned a one-time eyesore—and nose sore—into a park and attractive gathering place.

One of the rare times that both officials and the public got excited about obnoxious smells was when residents of a new Buffalo Grove subdivision realized that they had bought homes next to a hog farm. They quickly came to their senses, and rezoned the farm out of business.

In these days of tenuous economic times, it should be noted that factory smells hereabouts disappeared when the plants went out of business or relocated. So did the jobs. We hope that won't be the case with the Lake Villa sausage factory.

CLC showcasing cigar box fame or 70 years or so following the Civil War, itinerant artisans criss-crossed the nation trading their art for food and lodging. Some of them specialized in turning the plentiful cigar boxes of the time into objects of art, usually jewelry boxes, curio cases, picture frames and lamp bases. Usually, their only tool was a pocketknife.

The work came to be known as Tramp Art. The biggest and best collection of Tramp Art now is on display at College of Lake County in a show running through August. Steve Jones, CLC art gallery director, said the 41 pieces on display capture a style and time like no other known artistic endeavor. Tramp Art originals disappeared at the end of the Depression when better economic times ended the hobo era or tramping.

Amy Ortiz, a resident of Gages

Flood of kindness

Marge Warner sends along word how her Antioch neighbors assisted during a 17-hour power outage that knocked out the sump pump and threatened oxygen tanks required by her husband. Keith Cox, Marge related, strung an extension cord across the street despite flooding in the lower level of his home. Beth and Russ Dusak donated electricity Keith waded through water in the Warner home to hook-up the sump pump and power the oxygen concentrator. Charles Toman offered a generator. Senior citizens Rudy and Rita Gantar, known for distributing fresh-baked strudel during stressful times, stood by to lend a hand if needed. Marge's story is an example of neighborly kindness repeated scores of times throughout the Lakeland area during days of flooding.

Redoing Reagan

George F. Green of Gurnee is helping organize Lake County attendance at Navy Day Saturday, Aug. 14, at the City of Dixon in west Central Illinois when officers and personnel of the USS Ronald Reagan will be honored. Dixon, where the President spent most of his early life, is considered Reagan's hometown, although he was born in nearby Tampico. Green was on hand when the Navy's newest aircraft carrier was commissioned last year. Dixon officials want to recreate a historic event and advance patriotism. Green stated, with the city-wide celebration that will be open to all interested persons.

Talking to horses

Suzi Stolarik talks to horses almost as much as people. As a trainer, riding teacher and promoter of equestrian events, horses are uppermost in her mind every waking minute. "They're my life," exclaimed the owner of C & S Ranch, Rte. 45 and Miller Rd., Lake Villa. Stolarik passes on her love and respect for horses to 18 riding students. The energetic horsewoman recently staged virtually single-handedly the St. Jude's Benefit Horse Show that attacted more than 200 riders from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

Supporting troops

Blue Line for the Front Line, a project of the Vernon Hills Police Dept. to collect comfort and personal items for military personnel in Iraq, is so successful that cash donations also are being sought to support mailing of gifts. Board speaks -on polling place law and billboards t is important, I believe, when the Lake County Board speaks out in public on an issue that is in the public's interest, even though the issue may be outside of the control of the county government. The board did an excellent job of sounding out in protecting our interests at a recent meeting.

They expressed their concern that a new election law has the potential of bringing some chaos around the polling places. It has always been my contention that one of the reasons that election turnouts are not as heavy as they should be is that many voters feel that the whole polling process has a sense of intimidation to it. Although the casting of the ballot itself is a secret matter, some voters just don't feel comfortable being " i greeted by "political types" of both sides or neighbors who may have different political persuasions and giving one an uneasiness when they exercise their right to vote.

Under the old law, persons were restricted no closer than 100 feet to a polling place entrance to do any electioneering. I have seen the time during volatile, contentious elections that even that restriction can bring about some heated verbal exchanges. I believe that the 100 foot barrier was at least a reasonable attempt to maintain civility and order around polling places.

Although I haven't researched the new law, I understand it was proposed by House Speaker Michael J. Madigan and would allow electioneering within 100 feet of where people vote. In fact, before the bill was amended, it would have even allowed electioneering in the halls of schools. That's absurd.

I agree with County Board Rep. Judy Martini (R-Antioch) that polling places-should not be places where you allow a circus-type atmosphere to exist. The county board is correct in contacting local legislators to change the procedure and bring back a semblance of orderliness to all polling places. Hopefully, the procedure can be remedied by the time the all important November election is held.

The electorate is particularly indebted to the many public school systems which allow their facilities to be used as polling places. I don't know what we would do if school districts changed their policies and disallowed the use of their buildings to be used for voting. We must continue to guard against any disruption, both of the voting process or the ordinary activity within any building where voting is held.

The other issue where the county board chose to speak out was in regards to Gov. Rod Blagojevich's proposal to sell advertising space on billboards along the tollway system. Board members were rightly outraged that such a policy would degrade the countryside and spoil the natural beauty of some of the forest preserve proper-

Why is it that it is often so difficult to take a giant leap forward and then spoil it all with 10 backward steps. Remember all of the fuss to keep billboards off of the federal expressways, both for public safety and to maintain a natural landscape along our highways? It's that almighty dollar again.

I understand that the county officials in DuPage County are as concerned as our members and are trying to work something out with the governor's office. Also, Chairman Suzi Schmidt will relay the expression of opposition by the Lake County Board.

Suzi is right in calling such a policy 'environmental pollution." These billboards aren't midget operations, by any stretch of the imagination. They are ugly monsters and we should not allow public policymakers to corrupt our countryside with giant advertising billboards.

Thanks to the county board members for protecting our interests.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Another term looms for Schmidt issidents on the Lake County Board aren't finding much traction mounting support for a challenger to Suzi Schmidt, the durable Lake Villa politician who in her second two-year term as chair.

Board members who would like to see Schmidt replaced look longingly at Rep. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake). Problem is that Cole failed two years ago and settled for the vice chairmanship. The coalitions Cole would need, like the Democratic bloc, already are on Schmidt's side. Also, trading for the Forest Preserve presidency is not a possibility because Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside), the current Forest Preserve chidf, works together with Schmidt like Mike and Ike.

From the day he won renomination, outspoken Larry Leafblad professed his support for Schmidt. Leafblad is a heavy favorite to go back into a mid-county district. With five months or so to go, Schmidt has the 13 votes needed and probably more to retain the chairmanship.

Volunteers sought

Democrats had a solid front of November candidates out for a 8th Dist. Democrats and Independents (EDDI) meeting at Fremont Township Public Library, Mundelein. Rich Garling, vice chairman of EDDI, said discussions were highlighted by issues and volunteer opportunities. Candidates attending included Melissa Bean, 8th Dist. congress; incumbent Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vanderventer; state representative nominees Sharyn Elman, 62n Dist., Nancy Shepherdson, 51st.; Margo Nelson, running for CircuitCourt Clerk; Michael Jacobs, state's attorney candidate; Richard Keller, running for coroner, and Spiro Georgeson and Steve Skinner, County Board candidates.

Successful surprise

Hainesville Mayor Ted Mueller, who never misses an appointment, had to be cajoled to show up at Lake Chance Saloon, in Grayslake, where well wishers were waiting to celebrate his 80th birthday at a surprise party. Mueller is the county's oldest municipal chief executive.

Village first

Ted Peshak, legendary commercial film maker and an early Green Oaks resident, has applied for construction permits to erect the village's first high rise. The office building would overlook I-94 on property Peshak owns near his home on Bradley Rd. Village officials spend the weekend showing off their newly remodeled village hall in the Old Red School House on Rte. 37 and O'Plaine Rd. Memorabilia on display included class photos of Oak Grove School from the middle 1940s.

Kirk endorsed

The League of Conservation Voters (LCV), a national environmental and conservation lobby group, voted to endorse Congressman Mark Kirk (10th-IL), the group listed Kirk's solid 80 percent rating and his leadership protecting the health of the Great Lakes. Kirk authored the Great Lakes Mercury Elimination Act to deny new permits for facilities dumping mercury into the Great Lakes. The group also recognized Kirk's bi-partisan work with Congressman Rahm Emanuel (5th-IL) on a big to reduce pollution, stop invasive species, protect coastal wetlands and insure Great Lakes water standards.

Lost road dollars

Employing a bit of basic multiplication, Democratic County Board Candidate Steve Skinner believes he has come up with an issue for the November election. Skinner took the pay in increases county board members recently voted themselves for the next four years and came up $1,189,000 which he labeled misdirected "road dollars." Skinner says the top priorities of the Lake County Board should be improving transportation, promoting economic development and attracting new jobs. Skinner is running in the mid-county District 6.

Powers recovering

County Board Rep. Bob Powers (R-Round Lake Beach) is recovering slowly from complications involving knee surgery. Friends already are organizing precinct canvassers because Powers won't be doing much walking as he campaigns for re-election in November. During hospitalization and recovery, Powers lost 30 pounds. "Not a recommended way to diet," he joked.

Top earner

Based on his attendance record (dismal), county board observers noted wryly that Rep. David Stolman (R-Buffalo Grove) was the highest paid commissioner even before a recent pay raise was enacted. Stolman regularly is berated for his "no show" style of fulfilling his duties, but he plows ahead unfazed.

Neither confirm nor deny

Round Lake Village Trustee Donald Newby has let the cat out of the bag and announced he will support fellow trustee Jerry Shaw for mayor in 2005. Newby said he will be running on the same ticket as Shaw. For his part, Shaw refused to confirm he was running, but made no attempt to deny it.

Skinner backer?

Round Lake Park Mayor Ila Bauer has hinted that she might support Steve Skinner in the Lake County Board District 6 board

"I am choosing to remain noncommittal at the moment. However, I think that I will probably choose to support the candidate who has not referred to the Round Lake area as the 'Armpit of Lake County.' I have a great deal of pride in our community and I hope for a representative who will be proud to represent us," Bauer said.

Skinner's opponent is Larry Leafblad.

he entire world is watching the way America is handling the prisoner abuse case in Iraq. The abhorrent actions of a few military personnel have, for some, stained the reputation of our armed forces. With all the attention focused on this issue it may be easy to forget the overwhelming majority of our men and women in uniform are people of integrity, character, and bravery.

I had the pleasure of meeting with some of our country's best on Sunday, May 16 at Great Lakes Naval Training Center where Major Anthony C. Turner was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism. Major Turner was quick to point out he received the award only as a result of the support, professionalism and excellence of his fellow Marines of the Wing Communication Squadron 48. As I looked in their eyes and shook the hands of these fine Marines, my pride in our armed forces soared to new heights and I was inspired to share this experience with you.

As we commemorate Memorial Day with parades and ceremonies, let's also remember all the men and women who are currently serving in our Armed Forces. Every American owes a debt of gratitude to them and to all veterans who have carried and continue to carry the banner of freedom throughout the world.

rarely discussed anywhere in the popular media yet, along with non-incestuous sexual abuse, is a problem that affects a great many people from all walks of life.

The Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault (LaCASA) applauds the sensitivity and thoughtumness that the writers and cast of NBC's Las Vegas applied when showing how difficult it was for one of their main characters (Mary Connell played by Nikki Cox) to confront her abusive father, and to break the silence that survivors are so often forced to endure due to fear, shame and threats of violence or even death should they ever tell of what happened to them.

The show also candidly portrayed how the lack of reporting of incest and other forms of childhood sexual abuse virtually assures that it will continue unabated. After the character Mary learned that her abuser had remarried and fathered two more daughters with his unsuspecting new wife, she was faced with the moral dilemma of knowing that sexual predators typically continue their pattern of abuse until they are exposed and prosecuted. She told her unremorseful father: "You tell your wife what you did to me-or I will," and then was forced to disclose details of her abuse to her father's new wife in order to protect her unknowing step-sisters.

Based on LaCASA's more than 20 years of experience in aiding sexual assault survivors through their personal healing and recovery process, we know that breakthrough TV programs like this, that reach so many people in all walks of life, will certainly lead incest survivors across the US to finally seek help for the first time. In addition, by applying the power of network programming to illuminate the subject of sexual assault, they have helped us to shatter the silence, which is the only way to combat sexual assault, rape and incest in America.

Lessini lend of reach Questions troubling

My wife and I found the ECRA questionnaire troubling. This mailing will only add to the general concern in the community about the performance of the District 46 administration and school board. Much of the questionnaire can only be completed by individuals up so that "reasonable" people would answer, "strongly agree" to most of the questions. We can see no value in the process. The big question is: Why are you spending the money to send it out? You should be spending the money on what you have been hired to do. Specifically, funds should be spent on the children's education. The taxpayers did not authorize you to spend funds on consultants for projects outside of the actual process of educa-

The vast majority of voters in Grayslake believe that property values are affected by the quality of the schools. However, at this time the majority of voters are not certain that more funding is the answer to the serous problems of District 46. Most would agree that the health of District 46 is one of the major problems facing the residents of Grayslake.

There are many residents, including myself, that would like to know a lot more about the financial management of the District 46. How does it compare with other districts in Illinois from a financial standpoint? Without these answers, I doubt that your referendum will pass in November. If it does not pass, it will not be because the taxpayers are not willing to pay for the education of the children.

Buckling for life

May 24-31 is what used to be called "Buckle Up America-Week," now "Click it or Ticket Mobilization" (I prefer the former).

I remember, years ago, working to get the seat-belt law passed in Nebraska. It was a difficult battle, but we got it done. Today 75 percent of people buckle up with hardly a thought.

However, people still die because they do not wear their safety belts. Of those killed in vehicle crashes, 60 percent were not wearing a safety belt (63 percent of those between 16-23

Getting everyone to buckle up would greatly reduce needless death on our roadways. For each percentage point increase in usage 250 lives would be saved. Considering that motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for people 15-24, merely getting them to buckle up could give us the greatest improvement in the death rate of teens and young adults. What a boon to our society to preserve these lives and their gifts and abilities.

Unfit for honor

I understand that you cannot fully research every submitted story; however, I am extremely disappointed that your paper would print an article promoting Ruth Grever as an honored senior citizen.

The story you printed covered Lake County Council of Senior Citizens annual Senior Volunteer recognition luncheon. St. Francis de Sales' Keenager Group had nominated Ruth Grever obviously not executing a criminal background check before presenting her as their representative.

Ruth Grever has been convicted of stealing her parent's estate, and fined $133,000 to be returned to Ela Township for her failure to pay for her mother's care at Winchester House. Additionally, she blamed her ex-spouse and four daughters for her thievery. She then filed for bankruptcy to avoid paying the court costs and $133,000 fine (after which she purchased a new car).

She was sentenced in Judge Emilio B. Santi's Lake County Court, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

Won't serve taxpayers

If by improvement increase of population in our schools by Volo, 220 students crammed into Big Hollow and Grant High Schools, it could be said it improves Volo's coffers. Period. More traffic and crowded classrooms.

Oh, and then there's the new hotel proposed for State Park Road with 116 units of two-three townhomes each two story. More traffic on our already burdened roads.

Oh, but there's the hotel and water park proposed for Fox Lake. Sorry people. You want to use the water park, rent a room. Nice work Fox Lake. Eliminate resident use. Too bad this endeavor can't be boycotted-or amended to include the taxpayers it should

Lake County Chamber announces new president

Steve Robinson was unanimously voted to become the next president of Lake County Chamber of Commerce and will begin his new role on Monday, June 7.

"Steve will do a tremendous job leading our chamber," announced LCCC chairman David Sherman. "His experience over the past decade leading the DBR Chamber of Commerce board of directors made Steve stand out from the many qualified candidates. As a Waukegan High School graduate and Deerfield resident he knows our area very well and his chamber knowledge and promotional background is second to none. The search committee is very excited to bring him aboard as our new leader."

Robinson has been a partner in the graphic design firm, Graphic Bytes, located in Deerfield, since 1997. In 2002-2003, he served as chairman of board for the Deerfield, Bannockburn, Riverwoods Chamber of Commerce, where he has been a board member since 1997.

In addition to serving as chairman, Robinson also served as vice-chair, secretary and marketing committee chair while with the organization.

A graduate of Purdue University, Robinson served eight years on the board of "Together We Influence Growth" as Vice President of Communications. He also served as Director of Major Gifts for the Alzheimer's Association in the late 1980's.

Robinson and his partner have sold their business and Robinson looks forward to beginning his new role with the chamber.

"I look forward to working with all the members and businesses that are associated with the Lake County Chamber," said Robinson. "I've enjoyed my association with the other chambers and look forward to combining my chamber background and business experience into a new long term career."

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce, along with its affiliate chambers—Gurnee Chamber of Commerce, Waukegan Chamber of Commerce and Hispanic Lake County Chamber of Commerce have many programs planned for this summer including the annual golf outing, a new business to business expo, co-sponsoring the Waukegan Air Expo and the Gurnee Relay for Life and planning for next year's Power Breakfast series, which it also co-sponsors. The chamber has also raised nearly one thousand dollars for fireworks at Gurnee Days and the Village of Gurnee's Fourth of July show, and hopes to raise even more over the next few weeks.

The chamber's new Web site, www.lake-countychamber.com was constructed recently and can provide even more information on the chamber's current and future programs, as well as information on how to become a member. Or the Lake County Chamber can be reached at 847-249-3800.

Memorial Day roadblock set

The Lake County Sheriff's Office, Round Lake Park/Hainesville Police Department and the Illinois State Police will be conducting a roadside safety check on Route 120 in Round Lake Park on May 29, from 10 p.m.- 3 a.m.

"Law enforcement personnel assigned to the safety check will be watching for drivers who are driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol, operating unsafe vehicles, violating seatbelt or child passenger restraint laws and transporting open containers of alcohol." said Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re. "Roadside safety checks such as this are a unique way for law enforcement to combine forces in the continuing effort to make Lake County roads safer."

Funding from the United States Department of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has made this roadside safety check possible. The Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Traffic Safety administered the grant through Lake County Safe Communities.

Postal workers deliver food to needy

Participating Lake County Letter carriers, almost 30 local corporations and United Way of Lake County successfully collected over 105,000 pounds of food donations in the 12th annual "Stamp Out Hunger" Food Drive.

The almost 50 tons of food was delivered to local food banks and pantries to make sure local families have food this summer. The results are higher than last year by 25 percent, making this the most successful "Stamp Out Hunger" annual food drive in Lake County.

The amount includes a contribution of almost 3,000 pounds of canned goods and other food necessities from over a dozen local corporations and organizations: A Safe

Place, Allscripts Healthcare Solutions, American Hotel Register, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Lake

County, Bombardier, Central Baptist Family Services, Central Lake YMCA, City of Waukegan, Coca Cola Corporation, Gounty of Lake, Enterprise Rent-a-Car, Gurnee Exchange Club, Independence Center, Interlacken Construction, ITW Paslode, Lake County Democrats, Lake County Republican Federation, Law Offices of Stephen Simonian, Libertyville Bank & Trust, MacLean-Fogg Company, MainStreet Libertyville Inc., Mickey Finn's Brewery, Mundelein MainStreet, Nosco, People's Energy/North Shore Gas, Al Salvi, U-Line, United Conveyor and United Way of Lake County

The National Association of Letter Carriers local president William Schorsch was both surprised and encouraged by the results.

"I can't thank the thousands of Lake County families who left food by their mailboxes and the hundreds of letter carriers, rural carriers, and other postal employees and volunteers who collected and processed the donations for local food banks enough," said Schorsch. "I am amazed that we were able to collect enough food to fill our local food banks for the entire summer."

"In this struggling economy, the generosity of employees and residents in this food drive is truly remarkable," said Kristi Long, President & CEO of United Way of Lake County. "United Way assesses where the greatest need is in the community. Our local pantries are in desperate need with empty shelves and dwindling resources as they try to help our local families facing hunger during the summer months."

Whooping cough outbreak plagues 3 Barrington schools

The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center announced an outbreak of pertussis (also known as whooping cough) at three Barrington schools. Last week, health officials reported eight confirmed cases and three probable cases at Barrington Middle School Prairie Campus, Station Middle School and St. Anne's School. Of those confirmed cases, all but one student had been vaccinated for pertussis.

"It's a false notion to assume that pertussis is a disease limited to babies and toddlers," said Dale Galassie, the Health Department's executive director. "We are finding that even people who previously had the pertussis vaccination can be vulnerable. It is important to know the symptoms and seek medical advice if you or someone in your family has symptoms resembling pertussis."

Pertussis is a highly communicable, vaccine-preventable disease that can last for several months. Symptoms usually appear five to 10 days after exposure, but can take as long as 21 days. The first symptoms are similar to those of a common cold accompanied by coughing. The cough gradually becomes severe and often progresses to coughing spasms, which can end in vomiting or the characteristic, high-pitched "whoop." Coughing may last as long as 10 weeks. For additional informacontact the Health Department's Communicable Disease Program at 847-377-8130.

Volunteer's passion raises money for Condell

He does it for the love of the sport and for the love of his hospital. For the 15th straight year, Robert Schachner is chairing Condell Medical Center's Auxiliary's Golf Open, which has raised more than $850,000 for the hospital over the years.

"Planning the Golf Open is a team effort and we have had hard-working committees year after year," Schachner said. "Most of all I am proud to be part of an event that supports the mission of Condell."

One of the most popular events hosted by Condell's Auxiliary, the Golf Open has grown to accommodate nearly 300 golfers. Funds have helped purchase medical equipment for the hospital's cardiology, oncology and radiology departments. Proceeds also have helped to enhance hospital departments including the Emergency Department and the New Life Maternity Center. Proceeds from this year's event will be directed toward the purchase of new equipment for the Respiratory Care Department.

"We are grateful for Bob's years of dedication, which have truly helped improve the quality of life for so many people in the community," said Mark P. Foley, director of development for Condell Medical Center.

This year's event, the 23rd annual, will be on June 8, at Pine Meadow Golf Course in Mundelein. Tee times are 7:15 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. For reservations or sponsorship information, call 847-990-5615.

The real root of attention and behavior problems

Another school year is coming to a close and I have gotten multiple calls from people about kids who have struggled the whole school year with behavior and attention problems. I know what is at the core of the majority of these problems and since many of the calls were similar in problem, instead of responding to just one call, I have put together this column to hopefully shed some light on how parents can help their kids.

All of you need to know that what is most likely at the root of the problems your kids faced this year and years before has to do with a lack of multi-tasking ability. Good behavior and attention require the child to be feeling good about him or herself. If that child cannot multi-task well, chances are he or she is not understanding things right, not following directions well, not getting all of the information, not able to keep up with other kids and ultimately not feeling very good about him or herself, thus behavior and attention problems.

Many out there feel that you either have it or you don't and if you don't, you just have to live with it. I don't buy it. I don't believe that multi-tasking is an innate ability. You are not born with an ability to do it or not. I fully believe that it is learned and trainable and the differences between people involve what they were exposed to or not exposed to when they were young. If a child is trained the right way, multi-tasking is just natural to him or her and that child will have much better odds of being able to effortlessly absorb and integrate information and ultimately to put it into action. Now, that does not mean that if your child is 7 or 10 or 12 and not multi-tasking well that it is too late for him. It is never too late to improve multi-tasking abilities. Even in adults. Expose your child and/or yourself to the right things which I will talk about shortly and those abilities can skyrock-

How you define multi-tasking is really going to determine how you improve it in a child and/or adult. Many in the business world define multi-tasking as the ability to handle multiple task at once or to do multiple jobs at once. What I do with kids in my practice is a deeper level of multi-tasking improvement. I go to the root and work with sensory multi-tasking or the ability to absorb and integrate multiple pieces of sensory information at once and be able to put them into action, using visual, auditory, tactile or touch all at once. Something that we may view as simple such as listening to a teacher and being able to also visually absorb what is on the black board at the same time. Something like writing notes or observing a picture on a paper while listening to the teacher. These things are very hard for many kids because they can't keep all of those senses working together and get all the information. They might be o.k. with using one sense like seeing information, but if they try to add in a second one like listening at the same time, they can't do it. They get lost.

PARENT'S PLACE

All humans have the ability to block out certain pieces of information and that is important because without that, we would go nuts. Just think about all the information coming at you right now as you are reading my column. You are looking at the words and processing them. You may have a window open and someone is cutting the lawn next door. Your kid might have the stereo going upstairs. The tv may be on. There might be a bird chirping outside the window. These are all things that your brain filters out while you focus on reading. If you had to pay attention to all of them at once, you would become very flustered. So the filter is very important. Good, strong multi-tasking skills help that filter become much more powerful so that we can only focus on what we need to. We don't want to turn your child into someone who focuses on everything at once. What is important is the skill of being able to choose what you need to focus on and do that. So, if there are three things that need done at once like writing notes, looking at the board and listening to the teacher, the child can do those things successfully and feel good about doing them well. Even more importantly, if there is a typewriter sound in the hall or the lawnmower outside the window, your child can tune those out and focus on what is impor-

It is really important to train those multitasking skills as early as possible because badly trained multi-tasking skills can lead to children having emotional and family problems as well. Many of the kids I have seen who have this problem have as their main difficulty the ability to deal with all the information that comes at them so when it comes time to convert that information into action, they are lost and overwhelmed. Many parents and teachers mistakenly see that lack of action and think the child is being obstinate or defiant or worse yet, in need of medical attention, when in fact they really don't know what they are supposed to do because they lost most of the information. Then, when the child realizes that he or she hasn't done what was asked and an adult, their parent or teacher, gets mad at them about it, they feel hurt and defensive. Over time, these hurt feelings can create such bad feelings in the child that bad behavior and off-task behavior can become purposeful because the child feels he or she can,t do it right anyway. This can lead to more serious emotional problems and can damage relationships between parents and kids. Another problem that can grow out of that is a hatred for learning and school because all it causes is pain.

All of these mutli-tasking based tragedies are truly sad and can and should be stopped before they get a chance to start and become habit. Since multi-tasking is really the basis for learning anything including reading, spelling, math, etc., the earlier it is strong, the more information a child can retain and use later. It is the true building block of all education. Training the multi-tasking skill can really make a lot of changes pretty fast and I recommend that all parents expose their kids to as much multi-tasking training as possible. Even those parents with kids who don,t have current problems. Improving multi-tasking abilities now can also mean going further in education and career. It just makes sense that the better you are with manipulating information and utilizing it, that many more choices will be open to you in life. That's a good thing for any child.

You can improve multi-tasking with a professional like me and/or you can do some things on your own. Obviously, if your child has had behavior and/or attention problems for a long time, professional intervention would be the best route. If your child has minor problems or you just want to enhance those skills to improve the child,s choices in life, you can do some things on your own. I actually do three versions of working with people on this. One version is for kids who have been suffering for a long time and have built these problems into life habits already. Another one is a preventive program for kids aged 3-6 and builds multi-tasking and readiness skills so they never have to get to a place where this becomes a problem. I also have home-based programs for kids who just need enhancement. People who want more info

Something you can do on your own is anything musical. Drums and piano are the two best choices for multi-tasking because both require you to use multiple senses and multiple parts of your body. I cannot quote the exact study, but I know there was a study done on low income children regarding this. Each home was given a piano and required the kids in the study to practice their piano a certain amount of time each day. In order to keep the piano they had to do it. There was no other intervention done and at the end of a certain period of time, these kids had academic and behavioral improvements that were significant. This did not surprise me one bit.

What to do in spring

May landscaping suggestions from the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) include updated information on the Asian longhorned beetle, other insects and watering advice.

The Asian Long-horn Beetle (ALB) could still be out there according to Chicago's Asian-Beetle Eradication Office. The city of Chicago and state of Illinois would like to bring closure to the pest, but it takes a certain number of years before regulations can be lifted to verify the eradication.

Keep on the lookout for the destructive Asian longhorn beetle, known to attack healthy hardwood trees as maple, horse chestnut, poplar, willow, elm mulberry and black locust. The one-inch, bullet-shaped beetle is shiny coal-black with white spots and long, horn-shaped, black with white ringed antennae longer than the insect itself.

The plate-shaped, black feet have a whitish-blue upper surface. The white wormlike immature beetles bore into tree trunks and branches, causing heavy sap flow from wounds and large sawdust accumulation at tree bases. Adult beetles leave round holes in the bark that are three-eighths inch or larger. Yellowing leaves and leaf drop are other indicators that the pest is present.

For information or to report Asian beetle sightings call the Chicago's Asian Beetle Eradication Office 312-742-3385 or the Illinois Department of Agriculture at 1-800-641-3934. Information can also be found at http://www.aphis.usda.gov/ppq/ep/alb/

More common insects to watch for this

Check pine trees early in the month for Zimmerman pine moths, which cause clear or white resin to drip down the tree trunk and branches. Check for European pine sawflies (larva with a small, dark green body and a shiny black head), which work in groups to eat last year's growth. Mugo pine is a commonly affected plant.

Check deciduous trees, especially crabapple, apple and cherry, for eastern tent caterpillars (black with white stripes) that form silk tents in tree branch crotches. Early control is simply removing the tents.

Check for aphids (approximately oneeighth inch long, bright green insects) feeding on new growth, particularly on crabapple, ash, hawthorn and spirea. Leaves will appear wet where insects are feeding. Minor infestations have only an aesthetic effect.

Water, water, water

At the time of this writing, the Chicagoland area is experiencing a dry spell. Given that, and the fact that there was insufficient snow cover throughout the winter to act as a blanket to protect small plants from drying winds, plants may require supplemental watering this month. This is especially true for evergreens, including broadleaf evergreens such as rhododendron and holly and plants adjacent to building structures, which may not receive adequate rainfall.

ILCA offers the free color brochures, "Your Landscape Begins With A Dream," for planning, budgeting and creating outdoor spaces and "Garden Centers Are 'Natural' Resources," with guidance in garden center selection. Included is a list of member landscape contractors and garden centers. Call Monday through Friday 630-472-2851, write ILCA, 2625 Butterfield Road, Suite 204W, Oak Brook, IL 60523 or e-mail lodell@ilca.net for print material.

CARMEL SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

Girls' track

Despite sweltering heat and a biting wind, Carmel sophomore Colleen Donovan had a day to remember at the IHSA Track and Field Championships at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

"It was a horrible day for a distance race," Carmel coach Jim Halford said.

Donovan finished 4th in the state in the 1,600-meter run, with a time of 11:06.47.

"I was really happy with my performance," Donovan said. "I can't really complain about the conditions, because everyone else had to run in them too."

Halford was delighted with Donovan's performance.

"It was an outstanding accomplishment," Halford said. "She put herself into the elite of long-distance runners."

It was Donovan's first appearance in the state meet, as she missed much of last season with a recurring hamstring problem. Luckily, the hamstring healed in time for the season.

"My hamstrings feel really good right now," Donovan said. "I always kept up with my training but it was hard sitting out of meets. Now I feel like I'm finally better."

If that's true, Donovan has a good shot at her ultimate goal in the next two seasons.

"I definitely want to be a state champion," Donovan said. "It's something I'm going to build up to."

Several other Corsairs also competed in the state meet.

Keli Coleman competed in the 200-meter dash, finishing 8th in her heat in a time of 27.58.

"It wasn't her best effort," Halford said. "But I can't take anything away from her; she did win the (ESCC) and sectional meets."

Coleman also competed as part of the 4x100-meter relay team, along with Ashley Bryce, Katic Quille and Katic Peterson. The team finished 9th in their heat in a time of 50.75.

'That was better than their sectional time," Halford said. "It was a solid performance."

But the day belonged to Donovan, and Halford has high hopes for her.

"If she can stay healthy, she has the ability to win a state championship," Halford said.

Girls' soccer

The saying goes, "Third time's a charm," but that didn't hold true for the Carmel girls' soccer team on Tuesday.

For the third straight year, the Corsairs faced ESCC rival St. Viator in the sectional title game. And for the third straight year, the Lions sent Carmel home unhappy.

St. Viator got on the board early, scoring a goal in the 5th minute to go up 1-0.

The Corsairs had several chances to tie it as Becky Smith made a run up the field and sent a perfect pass to Liane Fiore, who had a shot at point-blank range that was stopped by Lions' keeper Kaitlin Bujak to preserve the lead.

Smith had an opportunity herself a minute later but just missed the top-right corner of the net. That was the way it went much of the night for Carmel.

"We had our opportunities to score," Carmel coach John Halloran said. "We just couldn't capitalize on them."

Still up 1-0 in the second half, St. Viator went for the knockout blow, and landed it as Laura Majewski scored in the 43rd minute to put her team up 2-0.

Carmel was able to climb back in the game, however, as Fiore stole the rebound from Bujak in the 54th minute and put the ball in the back of the net to cut the lead to 2-1.

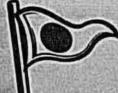

It was not to be, however, as Elise Weber added an insurance goal on a penalty kick in the 60th minute.

"In a game like this it all comes down to a couple of bounces," Halloran said. "They took advantage of their opportunities and we didn't; that was the difference."

Youth basketball tournaments

North American Youth Sports announced that they will hold their annual national championship youth basketball tournament in the Chicago area at the Forest View Educational Center, at Hersey High School and at the Mount Prospect Park District Rec Plex in the Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect area on July 21-25.

The tournament will feature ten different brackets, including 5-6th grade boys, 5-6th grade girls, 7th grade boys, 7th grade girls, 8th grade boys, 8th grade girls, 9-10th grade boys, 9-10th grade girls, 11-12th grade boys and 11-12th grade girls. All grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled.

The entry fee for the tournament is $600 and guarantees each team a minimum of nine games. There will be awards presented in each bracket.

The entry deadline is July 2. For more information, call the toll-free NAYS summer tournament hotline at 1-800-787-3265.

The American Youth Basketball Tour (AYBT) is now accepting team registrations for any boys or girls basketball teams that would like to compete in upcoming spring and summer basketball tournaments.

AYBT is a developmental, youth-based basketball organization that specializes in hosting quality youth basketball tournaments at a cost-efficient price to teams all over the Midwest.

For more information on AYBT, visit www.aybtour.com or call Northern Illinois district director Brian Evans at 847-223-8031 or e-mail him at BLB2003@XSITE.NET.

There are still a few openings remaining for the May 22-23 AYBT tournament, which is being held at Horlick High School in Racine, Wis. Any girls or boys team in grades 5-12 can enter the guaranteed 5-game tournament.

The cost for the highly competitive tournament is $250 per team. Contact Evans for more information.

Golf season approaching

The golf season is finally here and the Waukegan Park District wants you to get ready to play. Orchard Hills, our challenging yet forgiving course at 38342 N. Green Bay Road, Beach Park, is now open for daily play. Its wide fairways and short rough make it an excellent choice for group outings. Passes and permanent tee times are on sale now.

Morning and afternoon flights are avail-

Bonnie Brook Golf Course, 2800 N. Lewis, Waukegan, is consistently ranked as one of the top-50 public courses in the Chicagoland area. The championship 18-hole layout offers a solid test for any golfer, while being forgiving enough for the high handicapped player. Lottery applications for weekend permanent tee times are available in the pro shop now. Both courses have dates available for outing, but hurry as dates fill quickly. For further information, call Superintendent of Golf Dave Beno at 847-360-4737.

The official youth football camps of the Chicago Bears are here. The camps provide non-contact, weeklong day camps for kids with or without previous football experience, ages 6-14. Professional educators teach camps with supplemental instruction from Bears heroes like Wendell Davis, Thomas Sanders, Allan Ellis, Al Harris, Glen Kozlowski, Jim Morrissey, Bobby Douglass, James Thornton, Fabien Bownes and Anthony Morgan. Bears heroes are former Bears players who understand the dynamics of communicating with young people.

The camps will take place all across the Chicagoland area, including at Rockland Elementary in Libertyville from July 19-23 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. The cost of the camp is $325. For more information, call Tom Finks or Scott Smith at 312-226-7776.

Summer hoops camp

The annual summer basketball camp for boys will be held at Warren Township High School, June 14-July 1 for grades 2-12. Times and locations vary by grade, The camp fee is Registration forms are available at grade schools and both high school campuses. For more information, contact Warren coach Chuck Ramsey at 847-599-4742.

Softball players wanted

The Grayslake Blazers, a 14-year-old and under girls traveling fast pitch softball team, are looking for one more player (eight or seventh grade) to complete it's roster for the upcoming season. The Grayslake Blazers are an independent team that plays in the North Suburban Fast Pitch League and participates in several weekend tournaments in the area. The Blazers practice and play their games in Grayslake but will accept girls from the surrounding communities. If interested, please contact Bill Miller at 847-231-4835.

Soccer tryouts

The Fox Lake Area Soccer Association is holding tryouts in the coming weeks for the 2004-05 season. The date will be Thursday, May 27 at Stanton School's soccer field from 6-7:30 p.m.

Boys U-10-U-14 and Girls U-10-U-19 should come with shin guards and a water bottle for tryouts. Players should be ready to play as they arrive. Parents will need to stay for a short meeting prior to the tryout. Coaches are also needed.

Football registration

Registration for the Mundelein Junior Football League is Saturday, June 5 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at Century 21 Marketplace, which is located on the corner of Routes 176 and 45 in downtown Mundelein.

The MJFL provides organized football and cheerleading for ages 8 through 8th grade for the children in the Mundelein, Fremont Township and Vernon Hills area. The league is made up of Travel and In-house teams. The league teaches the children the benefits of a team, while developing and discovering sportsmanship, character, responsibility, respect, safety and the essentials of being a good athlete.

For questions on Football call 847-816-1997 or 847-566-4306 or cheerleading, call 847-546-2203 or visit www.mjfl.org.

in the vicinity of Rte. 21 and Harris Road will be an example of a transit-orientated development, he said.

An interesting sidelight of the Harris Road twin commuter stations is that the land had been allowed to sit idle by a group of speculators who became disinterested. Ranney said ament the re-contoured and extensively landscaped commuter center was being used as a dump for construction debris. Until Metra officials and rail commuter advocates saw the value of the location, it had no future. "Its prime use is how the land now is being utilized-for transportation."

North Chicago VAMC receives high marks from Joint Commission

The North Chicago VA Medical Center has achieved accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) as a result of its demonstrated compliance with the Joint Commission's nationally recognized healthcare standards

Formed in 1951, the JCAHO is dedicated to improving the quality of the nation's healthcare through voluntary accreditation. North Chicago VAMC received Joint Commission accreditation after an on-site review found the medical center had demonstrated compliance with the Joint Commission's national standards for hospital accreditation, long term care, behavioral health care and home care.

Sharon Pusateri, RN, Manager of Quality Managements programs at the medical center stated, "In becoming accredited, our hospital was evaluated against a set of national standards that demonstrated our staff commitment to provide the highest quality care to veterans." North Chicago VAMC received the following final scores: Hospital Accreditation: 97; Long Term Care 97; Behavioral Health 97; and Home Care 93. The average score for VA hospitals was 93 and non-VA hospitals 91.

Medical Center Director, Patrick Sullivan added, "These scores show that we make a significant investment in quality on a day-to-day basis throughout our medical center. We seek accreditation for our organization because we want to be the best and we view obtaining Joint Commission accreditation as another step toward excellence. The community should be proud of this achievement. Everyone here at North Chicago VA Medical Center plays a valuable role in working to meet the standards. I think it sends the message that the staff at the North Chicago VA Medical Center are committed to providing the best quality care to our Veteran patients."

Big Brothers Big Sisters announces scholarship winners

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Lake County has announced the names of two area high school seniors who have received $1,000 merit scholarships from the social service agency. The winners were selected based on their commitment to the values of mentoring, demonstrated academic ability, initiative, resourcefulness and need.

The recipients are Jessica Ryba from Mundelein High School, who will be attending Carthage College and Jenna Kah from Stevenson High School, who will be attending Trinity University.

This scholarship was made available to graduating seniors who have been involved in Big Brothers Big Sisters as a volunteer mentor or who received mentoring services. In their High School Mentoring Program high school students spend one to two hours once a week with elementary and middle school students.

Link to lead Waukegan's July 4 parade

Link

According to city officials, Link was chosen because of his support of the Waukegan Park District and city of Waukegan. He helped pass recent legislation that will eventually help improve both the city's parks and the Waukegan lakefront.

Although the parade is still a few months away, anyone who is interested in being a participant, vendor or sponsor can contact Elmer Martinez, Waukegan Park

Communications Supervisor at 847-360-4726.

"We're looking for input from everyone," Martinez said. "The theme this year is Happiness Happens Here, and we'd like for the entire community to show us what makes them 'happy' in Waukegan."

The parade kicks off at 2 p.m. from downtown Waukegan and heads north along Sheridan to Bowen Park. Bowen Park will be home to the Heritage Festival from noon-6 p.m.

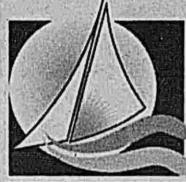

The festival will have vendors, musicians, a petting zoo, rides and family games. The day will end with a display of fireworks along the Waukegan lakefront.

For more information about the Independence Festivities call Elmer at 847-360-4726.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES - March 21/April 20

You have set high standards for yourself this week, Aries. The problem is you feel like your life is on hold until you reach these goals. Let a friend guide you through.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Conflict is a scary thing, not just for you, but for others as well. Keep a level head when a confrontation arises on Thursday. You'll be the voice of reason.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

There is no reason to wait to have fun this week, Taurus. Start the weekend a bit early. Socialize with friends on Wednesday and let the party continue through the remainder of the week.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Salvage good ideas from a project that has failed recently. You're no quitter, so get back on the horse. Enlist the help of a partner to provide a new perspective on the work.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

The feeling that you must always attend to someone else, putting your needs last, is growing old. Make yourself the priority this week and pamper yourself, Indulge in a gift just for you.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

You have a bevy of emotions stirring this week, Sagittarius. Just weed out the ones-that are counter-productive. Keep your sense of humor and you'll make it.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

Monday features a chaotic gathering of people. Sagittarius is a key figure at this gathering. Keep your cool and romance may flourish when you least expect it.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Perfect opportunities come up for a new romantic relationship. Expect a close friend to become something more. The magic may begin as early as Tuesday.

LEO - July 23/August 23

This week you may strike the perfect balance between work, love, individuality and family. This begins by your letting go of the reigns and giving someone else control. Bravo!

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

A slight altercation could get your adrenaline pumping this week, Aquarius. Take a short cool-down period so you don't say something you'll regret later.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22 Expect Wednesday to be a hectic day. Do your best to not spread yourself thin. Make demands of your loved ones to help out and take some of the pressure off of you.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

Your enthusiasm is so attractive now that you'll find many who want to be your friend. Continue to focus on being interested in others.

Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day of remembrance for those who have died in our nation's service.

There are many stories as to its actual beginnings, with over two dozen cities and towns laying claim to being the birthplace of Memorial Day.

But Waterloo New York was officially declared the birthplace of Memorial Day by President Lyndon B. Johnson in May of 1966.

Memorial Day was first proclaimed by General John Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic on May 5, 1868, and was first observed on May 30 of the same year.

FREE SERVICE This springs rainfall has left many residents of Lake & McHenry Countles concemed about the impact wet basements will have, not only on the longer term structural soundness of their homes, but also on the personal health of their families. As most of you already know wet basements are a breeding ground for molds, mildews, bacteria, & fungi. A national company has offered to assist county residents, which are experiencing musty or mold issues due to damp or flooded basements, by providing a device, which would be placed in their home or basement for 3days to help kill potentially dangerous molds, mold spores, airborne pathogens & eliminate musty odors. this company has offered to provide this service FREE OF CHARGE through JULY. . This will be handled on a 1st come, "1st serve basis". Placements will be handled locally through NaturalAir & Water Systems. You can contact them at 1-847-497-9174 M-F between 8am & 7pm or on the web @ www.naturalalrandwater.com to arrange for setup & pickup times &

ATTENTION PET OWNERS We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.

*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.

*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare. *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

McCree is a bright-eyed cat that absolutely loves other cats. As he can be bashful with people, he always looks up to his feline friends for directions on how to act around them. If one of his feline mates is with him, he gets more relaxed. He is definitely ready to venture off to a home with people that would be willing to give him some time to get comfortable while he gets to enjoy the company of one of more feline residents.

McCree is about three years old, neutered, up-to-date on routine shots tested negative for Feluk and FIV, and microchipped.

And don't forget to check out our website at www.save-apet-il.org for many more cats & dogs, all ages & personalities, just waiting for a new home.

THE GRASS CAN BE GREENER ON YOUR SIDE!

A thicker greener lawn is easy with a Hunter Lawn Sprinkler System.

Hunter°

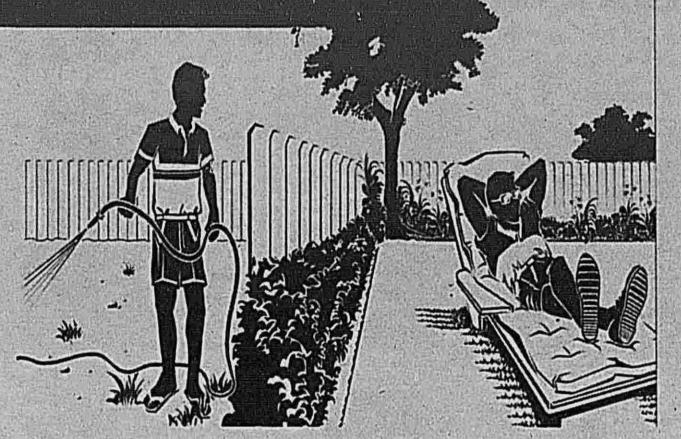

The Irrigation Innovators

Hunter makes the world's #1 rotary sprinklers and control timers for turf and landscape—so you can set it and forget it!

But why just irrigate when you can fertigate?
Fertigator is an automatic, programmable

f e r t i l i z i n g system that works with your sprinkler system for gradual feeding of lawns and gardens, with all organic fertilizers. The results are healthier soil, less runoff, decreased water bills, and thicker, greener lawns with less weeding.

problems."

He said the highest levels of standing water and ponds above their banks occurred at about 7 a.m. on Saturday, but that levels have been dropping off ever since.

Mark Ring, Antioch Township highway commissioner, said all of the lakes on the Chain are high and that he had some concern about the level of the Fox River, as it had not crested at the time of this story.

"The worst ever was in 1986," he said.
"This isn't that."

Ring said that reports that Blarney Island sunk in the swollen Grass Lake may be true.

Better prepared for worse effects

Round Lake Beach Mayor Richard Hill said his village is doing a good job fighting the elements which was not the case in 1986.

"We have had little problems from the rain. We did have to close a portion of Mayfield and Oakwood roads over the weekend but they are open now," Hill said. "I must give credit to former Mayor Carl Schrimpf for the concept of Hook Lake and former Mayor Ralph Davis for following through on creating the lake. It has held back the floodwaters that used to devastate Round Lake Beach," Hill said.

Kay Doll is a unit leader at the University of Illinois Extension located on Highway 45 in Grayslake.

According to Doll, the following Web site has valuable research based information for Lake County residents concerning the flood disaster clean up. The Web site is: www.ag.uiuc.edu/~disaster/after.html.

Doll also commented on the flood, "I live in Gurnee and in my opinion this is worse than 1986. There is water on roads that did not have water on them in 1986."

Crane, Kirk, ready with relief

U.S. Rep. Phil Crane (R-Wauconda) applauded Gov. Blagojevich's decision to tour the flooded areas of Gurnee on Wednesday.

"I'm pleased (Gov. Rod Blagojevich) will see for himself the devastation that has occurred in my district as a result of flooding along the Des Plaines River," Crane said.

As the governor declared the area a disaster, a prerequisite for receiving federal funds, Crane said he will take all steps necessary to ensure Gurnee receives all the federal dollars it needs.

U.S. Rep. Mark Kirk (R-Fort Sheridan) also called a meeting of area mayors on Monday, outlining steps towns can take to receive relief.

Health department now urging residents to take precautions

The recent rains in Lake County have brought about incidences of flooding and possible sewer back-ups in a number of areas. The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center recommends the following steps to minimize health hazards for residents who have experienced flooding in or around their homes:

Prevent children and pets from playing in or drinking contaminated floodwaters left in puddles or flooded areas. This may result in illness. Be extremely careful about possible dislodged manhole covers, and the whirlpool or suction effect if water is draining.

Also, people with open cuts or other wounds should take extreme care when walking through floodwaters due to the possibility of contracting tetanus.

In general, flood workers who have had a tetanus shot within the past 10 years will not need to be revaccinated. However, workers who acquire a wound and who have not had a tetanus shot within 5-10 years may need a tetanus booster.

Although disease outbreaks are rare after flooding, flood water can contain organisms that may cause disease. Symptoms to watch for include nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal cramps, muscle aches and fevers.

If you have a private well, check its condition. If the well casing is submerged, surface water may have entered the well and contaminated the drinking water,

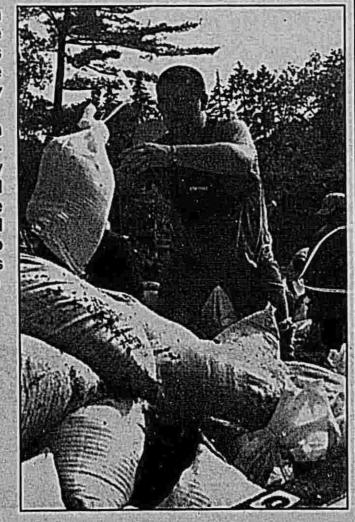

In these cases, you should not drink the water until it is tested and shown to meet drinking water standards. If coliform bacteria are present in your drinking water, the well should be disinfected by a licensed water well contractor and then re-sampled. LCHD has three regional offices where you can pick up sterile bottles to be filled and returned for analysis. Call 847-377-8020 for information and a office near you.

Family finds storm cloud's silver lining

Kolbs stay dry with a little help from their friends

By BRIAN JANOSCH brian@lakelandmedia.com

At 11 a.m. on Monday morning the Kolb family of River Drive in Libertyville thought they had a disaster on their hands.

By 2 p.m., that disaster had become a

"This is all overwhelming," Marsha Kolb said. "As bad as (the flooding) is, (the help) is so incredible. They always say things are mixed blessings. This is it."

The Kolb family was among several families whose homes were put in danger by extensive flooding of the Des Plaines River near Lake Minear. For the Kolbs and other families in the area the threat of water reaching their homes became legitimate when the water started rising at substantial rates Monday morning.

"I worried a little bit Sunday night," Rich Kolb said. "Then Monday morning, when it came over the banks, I started getting really worried."

The first course of action was to salvage the most important items from the basement. For Marsha Kolb, this meant grabbing all the photos, and for Rich Kolb, it meant saving the wine collection. The family also moved several pieces of furniture and placed others up on blocks.

Once the most important items were taken care of, it was time to fortify the back of the home with sandbags. And the miracle began with one simple phone call.

Marsha made a call to a friend of hers to help move items up from the basement and make sandbags. That friend called another friend, and that's when a different type of floodgate opened up for the Kolbs. Before they knew it more than 20 able bodied volunteers from schools, church and the neighborhood were in their front yard filling up bags at rapid rates.

"(This help) is amazing. It's incredible," Rich Kolb said. "People are calling out of nowhere to help. It's really impressive."

With the amount of people that showed up, the group was able to not only build a substantial wall around the Kolb's house, but also the homes of three more neighbors on River Drive.

"I'm from Mundelein, but my friends, the Kolbs, live here and I wanted to do anything I could," Mary Smith said. "Then I was calling the kids that all graduated (Sunday), and got them over here to help."

Despite all the assistance, all the Kolb family could do was hope. Hope that their basement stays dry. Hope that their neighbor's garden can be salvaged. But most of all, hope that people appreciate.

"When my kids come home from school today and see this, I hope they realize it's about giving to one another. That's what I hope," Marsha Kolb said.

> Marsha Kolb Liertyville resident

By the time Tuesday rolled around Marsha Kolb was seeing fish jumping in her back yard, but she wasn't seeing water in her basement. A river had formed between their house and the next-door neighbors, but thanks to the efforts of all those the day before Marsha Kolb was left feeling "it worked out well."

The Kolb's may have been left with a submerged fire pit, a submerged playground and a submerged yard, but their spirits were left well out of reach of any amount of water.

"It's really not bad with all the people," Marsha Kolb said. "Everything in the basement is just stuff. I appreciate what everybody has done so much."

hen Lindsey Andrews got a job working for her gymnastics coach four summer ago she never thought she would be finding her niche. But four years later she prepares to enter Carroll College to become an elementary school teacher.

"I taught gymnastics for my summer job and I loved working with the little kids," Andrews said. "I figured I would go into that field since I enjoy doing it." Teaching should end up being the perfect job for Andrews as it has always played an important role in her education. Much of the success she has been able to achieve in high school she attributed to the assistance of her teachers and counselor. The relationship she has had with her teachers actually played a large role in where she decided to attend college. "I chose (Carroll College) because it's a smaller school and I like to be one on one with teachers and I think I'll learn much better that way," she said. Andrews was a three sport athlete in gymnastics, field hockey and track and field until her senior year when an ankle injury kept her our of gymnastics. Andrews also participated in National Honor Society and the German Club. With everything Andrews has been involved in, her parents have been right beside her enjoying every minute of it.

"She gives 110 percent, aims high and achieves those goals," Mark Andrews, father, said. "With someone like that you always want to see her so you don't miss anything."

Family has played a large role in Lindsey Andrews' life and moving away is the biggest fear she has about college. "I'm very family oriented," she said. "I'm very close with my parents, my sister and my brother. I am scared to leave them, that's why I choose somewhere close, so I can come home."

Lindsey's younger sister Melanie and older brother Chris have been like best friends to her as she's grown up. She recalled vacations, weekends and dinners that were always spent as a family and she always appreciated that aspect of her life. "Everything I have, (my parents) are always there," Lindsey Andrews said. "They will always make sacrifices to be there for me or take off work to be at an event that I'm in."

When she's not in one of her many activities or spending time with her family, Lindsey Andrews likes to spend time around a bonfire or campsite just relaxing with her friends. With how active she is in school, it's no surprise she spends her free time partaking in more relaxing activities. That doesn't mean she isn't looking forward to boosting the workload both academically and athletically in college though.

"I'm excited about getting off on my own and doing track because I kind of vant to see what that's like on a collegiate level," Lindsey Andrews said

The few and the proud

Many of 2004's student leaders will be looking to carry their leadership qualities over into college and eventually become the country's leaders by working with the government, in the field of medicine or even educating tomorrow's leaders.

But James Kubisiak wants to lead the country in a different way and a little sooner than the rest. He wants to be a marine.

"My friend just got out of the marines and was telling me all about the benefits," Kubisiak said. "Eventually he convinced me to sign up."

After enlisting in August, the countdown has reached two months before Kubisiak leaves for boot camp. Something that, though it excites him, provides a little bit of fear in his life. "I've figured out how to get up and go," Kubisiak said. "But I am most worried about the actual boot camp. It's going to be a lot of hard work and I don't think I am in tip-top shape right now." Kubisiak may be acting a bit modest when speaking of his physical condition coming off his third year on the varsity track team. He ran the 100-meter dash, the 4 X100 and 4 X 200 relay ear-

ost families have one tradition or another, with most of them ranging from military service to a career

Carmel senior Becky Smith's family has a much more exalted tradition. Each of Smith's three siblings has attended Harvard University.

And Smith herself will continue that tradition this fall when she becomes a member of the 368th class to attend America's most prestigious university.

By ROB BACKUS

STAFF REPORTER

The tradition began when Smith's oldest sister, Charmaine, attended Harvard for her undergraduate degree before graduating from Harvard Medical

"Charmaine went out there (to the Boston area) and stayed there," Smith said. "Now everyone else is following her."

Her brother, Bryan, is currently a senior at Harvard and her other sister, Kristen, went there before moving on to law school at Boston University.

Talk about lofty expectations. But Smith has had no trouble living up to them so far. She's about to graduate from Carmel with a 4.05 grade point average, which is in the top 10 percent of the graduating class of 306 students.

But her classroom proficiency is just the begin-

'At Carmel, the school's motto is "Get involved." And Smith has taken that to heart.

She's the president of the student council, and a member of the National Honor Society, the diversity committee - which she helped start - and Mu Alpha Theta, the school's math team.

If that wasn't enough, she's also a star player on both the varsity girls' basketball team and the soccer team.

"Around the school she's involved in so many things," said John Ryan, the varsity girls' hoops coach and Smith's guidance counselor at Carmel. "She's a great example of our motto."

"I like being involved," Smith said. "Most of it stems from student council." She's also a natural leader, something Ryan certainly noticed on the basketball team.

"Some people lead by example, some people are more vocal, she's both," Ryan said. "She brought everyone together and was our hardest worker."

She was also the leading defender on a team that went 27-4, setting a school record for basketball victories, boys or girls.

"I'm an athlete at heart, especially this season," Smith said. "I devoted a lot of time to the student council, but sports have been a huge part of my life at Carmel."

Sports are even in her blood, as her father, Paul, played soccer at Western New England College in Springfield, Mass. Her father and mother, Beverley, emigrated from Jamaica shortly thereafter.

"My dad is my biggest fan," Smith said. "Win or lose, he always buys me Culver's after the game. "My parents and my (siblings) are my role models. They played a large part in shaping who I am." What she is, according to Ryan, is a "great kid."

"I'm going to miss her," Ryan added.

While her other siblings are either doctors or lawyers, Smith is going a different route, choosing to major in economics.

"I want to go into business, but I'm not sure about my career," Smith said.

Another possibility she's considered is a future in politics.

"When I was little, I wanted to be mayor of Mundelein," Smith, a Mundelein native, said. "I'll learn more about it in college."

She couldn't have picked a better place as Harvard is home to the John F. Kennedy School of Government, arguably the leading political school in the country.

Serio proves hard work pays off ith constant allegations begin made against student ath-letes, both in high school and college, including admissions violations and academic fraud, it's refreshing to see someone reach their goals simply through hard work.

And Carmel senior, and Antioch native, Mike Serio is the perfect example that hard work pays off in the end.

"I've always strived to be the best scholar athlete I can be," Serio said. "But it's a delicate balance. I can't think about how tough it is, I have to look at the positives."

Serio will soon graduate from Carmel with a 4.21 grade point average, which places him 20th out of 306 students. He's also been a star athlete on both the football and baseball teams for the past two years.

"He's an incredibly smart kid," Carmel football coach Andy Bitto said. "With Mike you have a 4.2 student who's a community leader and excels in two sports. He's the perfect student athlete."

In two years of varsity football, Serio amassed 1,074 yards rushing, 14 rushing touchdowns and four more receiving touchdowns. He also contributed in other ways.

"He can hurt you in so many ways," Bitto said. "He could catch, and he was the best blocker I've had in 19 years of coaching. He was the most coachable player I've ever had."

Serio also has one other way to hurt you on the football field. In the Class 6A state title game against Bloomington, Serio set a record with a 91-yard kickoff return.

"That was the highlight of my career," Serio said. "Winning the state title was pretty good too. I can't even explain how great it was; it was just incredible. I was happy just to be a starter." He's also the starting right fielder for the varsity baseball team, something his diminutive 5-foot, 9-inch, 170-pound frame might be better suited for in the long run.

"Physically, I'm better at baseball because size doesn't matter as much," Serio said. "There's a huge emphasis on size in football and unfortunately you can't teach height."

Becky Smith and Mike Serio

"Some kids have all the physical talent in the world, but something's missing and they never reach their full potential," Carmel baseball coach Chuck Gandolfi said. "Mike took his Godgiven ability and worked his butt off to get where he is today."

Serio plans to play both sports next year when he attends the University of Chicago, one of the top schools in the Midwest.

"You can't do much better than the University of Chicago," Serio said. "They're the Harvard of the Midwest." Serio plans to major in either Pre-Med or economics, but still has a life-long dream in the back of his mind. "I get goosebumps just thinking about playing pro football," Serio said. "That's why Walter Payton is my all-time favorite player. He didn't even get a college scholarship and look what happened. You never know." His cheery demeanor comes from his other inspiration, Chicago Cubs slugger Sammy Sosa. "I have his number and play his position," Serio said. "He taught me to just have fun and keep a smile on my face no matter what." Like most kids, though, his biggest inspiration comes from his parents, Paul and Mary. "They've always been there for me," Serio said. "I admire them and look to them for my inspiration. They always tell me to do my best and no one can ask for more."

Whatever his career choice, Bitto is convinced Serio will come out on top.

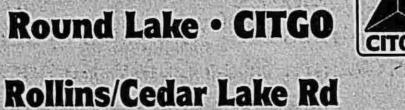

"He'll be a millionaire one day," Bitto said. "He'll be successful in whatever he does."

"I remember coming here when I was 9-years-old to take the photos of students," she said. Her mom, Sue Kloeffer was an employee at GCHS.

Eberly and Erica Wehde are not leaving the final weeks at GCHS quietly. They were busily preparing for the school's American Cancer Society walk this month.

GCHS Principal Dr. Marilyn Howell had praise for both members of the 281-student Class of 2004.

"Wehde has shown tremendous leadership skills and has compassion for her peers. Eberly is a good student, very articulate young woman who is bright and capable," Howell said. "It will be hard to replace them."

By STEVE PETERSON Staff reporter

Eberly is a member of National Honor Society and vice president of the Student Council, where Wehde is president.

"I always wanted to be in student council, ever since grade school. It is the first thing that I got involved with here at Grant. It has been exciting to be involved in so many things. My first year, we helped put up the GCHS banners in Fox Lake. That helped unite the school and community," Eberly said.

Eric Taubry advises the student council, who said he appreciates the leadership shown by the student council leaders.

"Student Council is an excellent group. I could not ask for better leaders. They are very organized. We have done the Mittens for the Township, a food drive, a blood drive," Taubry said.

NHS activities include a blood drive, reading to grade school students and tutoring. The NHS members also help out at the Fox Lake-Round Lake Area Rotary Club's Christmas party and the spaghetti din-

"I have met my closest friends through clubs. It is great to get involved and help one another," Eberly said.

Eberly is Editor-in-Chief of The Bark, the student newspaper.

She plans to attend Western Illinois University, majoring in political science. "I want to be a constitutional lawyer," she said.

Eberly's older sister, Rachel, is a student at Illinois State University. A younger brother, Matt Eberly, is a junior at GCHS.

"There will definitely be a lot of good memories," Eberly said of her GCHS days, Teachers will miss Eberly's leadership skills, including her duties as Editor-In-Chief of The Bark newspaper.

"I have known her for four years. She has taken the student paper and the Yearbook class, that is now only the student newspaper class. The Bark has done some controversial stories this year. It has done what it has done due to Ashley and her leadership. She is able to talk to anyone and is not intimidated by anyone," said GCHS The Bark advisor

The student newspaper had eight issues this year, 13 the year before when Eberly was also involved. The student newspaper class had 19

Wehde is busy planning the Cancer Walk and concluding her year as student council president. She is already recruiting her younger brother Aaron, who is in eighth grade, to be part of student council next year.

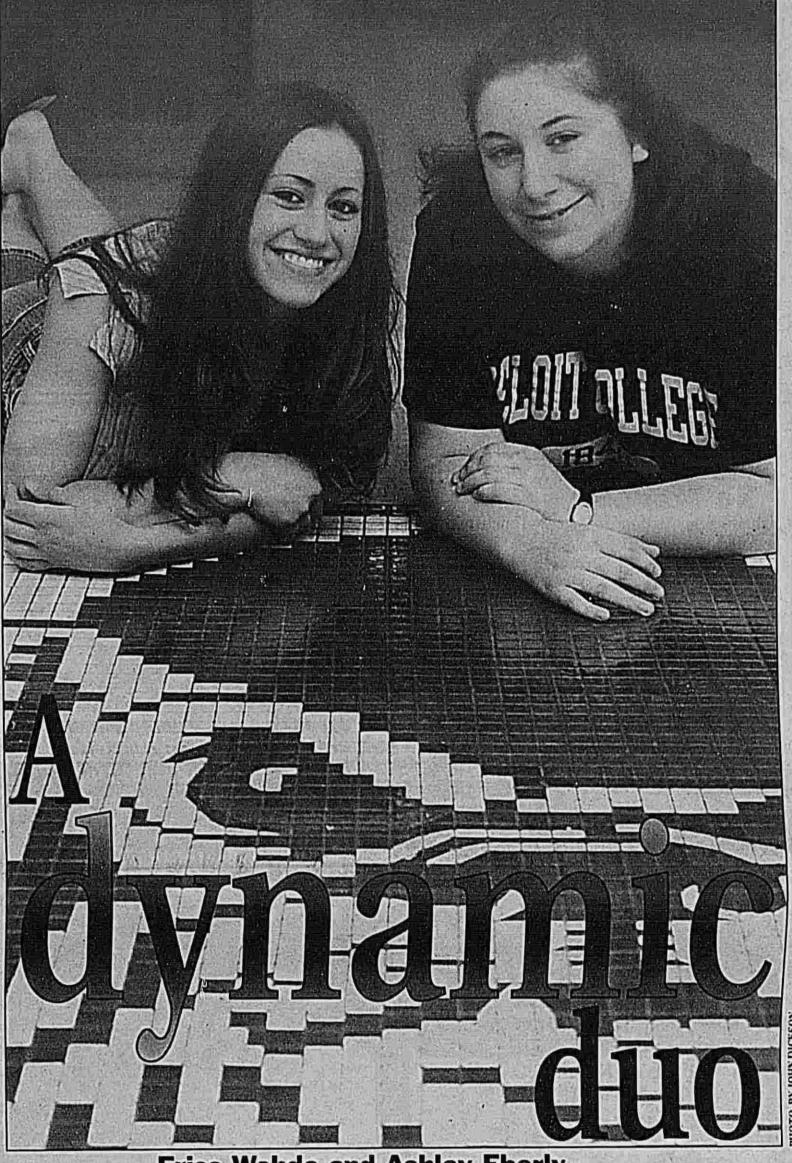

Wehde will attend the University of Illinois at Champaign this fall. "Knowing the community and seeing things you helped make a success," she said of what she will recall about GCHS.

Wehde is one of the YWCA of Lake County Women of Achievement Award winners. She won the Dr. Minnie P. Leggette Young Woman of Achievement Scholarship.

"I remember helping with the food drive, the mitten drive and was chairman for the Cancer Walk," she said. "I have been more involved this year in what is going on."

The daughter of Linda and Wayne Wehde began volunteering at an early age. She was a peer leader as a fifth grader at Gavin South Junior High. "I have tutored English, math, science, but my best subject is English," she said.

"Erica is a very involved young women in her community and school," said Cynthia Cobb, chairman of the judging for the scholarship award. She is academically and athletically talented. The critical thing for us is that the students are involved in the community and she certainly is. She goes the extra mile, not just to get the A, but to understand the material. She is also very active in her parish's religious education. She has the whole package. Also, her essay was very well writ-

Wehde said she was "very excited" when she learned of the YWCA honor. "They are all very nice people."

She has been NHS treasurer, student council president as well as the cancer walk. "I'll miss the teachers and the staff," Wehde said.

She hopes to teach English at the high school level after college.

Grayslake Community High School students prove anything is possible im Hamilton and Amy Jenkins had four years of juggling academics, sports and activities and still found time for family, community service, and if they could squeeze it in, fun.

"All you have to do is prioritize," Hamilton, the valedictorian of the class of 2004, said.

"Both Amy and Tim are students who are solid, supportive, hardworking, and go beyond what is asked of them," said Diana Schmitz, English teacher and advisor of the National Honors Society at Grayslake High School. "Their kindness is extraordinary.

On his way to St. Louis University to study political science and international studies, Hamilton, 18, with a GPA of 4.5, earned the dean's scholarship, University Vision scholarship and an athletic scholarship. He wants to someday follow his father's footsteps to become a lawyer.

"My dad is a corporate attorney, so I wouldn't mind doing that," Hamilton said. But, his dream job is to one day be an ambassador to a foreign country.

"I love politics and foreign affairs," Hamilton said. Jenkins, 17, was ranked sixth in her graduating class with a GPA of 4.4. She plans to attend Judson College in Elgin and is a Golden Apple Scholar, a scholarship program for future teachers. She will also be receiving an academic and athletic scholarship

If professional soccer playing doesn't work out for her, Jenkins hopes to become an elementary school teacher.

"I like to watch people learn," Jenkins said. "It is a cool feeling to see you helped a student understand something."

"Amy is special in so many ways," Schmitz said. "She is well-rounded, involved, and is one of the students with a clear understanding in life. With Amy becoming a teacher, we are in good hands in the future."

"Tim and Amy are both great students and representatives for Grayslake Community High School," Principal Doug Domeracki said. "They challenged themselves academically and were very involved with the school."

Jenkins and Hamilton share a love for sports.

Jenkins has been playing soccer since she was in first grade and is captain of the Grayslake soccer team. Last year she received all-soccer honorable mention.

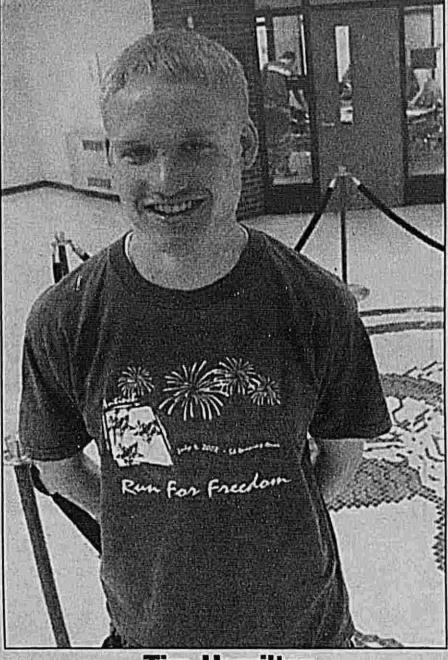

"I love it because it is a different game every time," the allaround player said. "You always have to be ready to react to different situations. As captain I tried to show leadership and take charge when a bad situation would occur."

Jenkins and her teammates would always support each

'We were friends both on and off the field," she said. Jenkins also played volleyball her freshman, sophomore and junior years and was on the bowling team her freshman and senior years.

Captain of both the track and cross-country team his junior and senior years, Hamilton, tried to provide a good example for his teammates and motivate them to work hard.

"I think an important part about being a leader is being open-minded and seeing all the different viewpoints,'

Tim Hamilton

Hamilton said.

Hamilton loves running. "It pushes me mentally and physically," he said.

Hamilton was all-conference this year in cross-country.

"It is fulfilling to know this award is something I worked hard for," Hamilton said. "It is rewarding to know that all the time, mileage and persistence I put in was recognized. I always try to give 100 percent,"

Grayslake's top student was also on homecoming court this year, on president's council and is National Honors Society

"I try to take advantage of opportunities that present themselves in life," Hamilton said. "You miss out on a lot if you

"Tim is wonderful as president of the National Honors Society," Schmitz said. "He is considerate, sensitive, mature and responsible in every way. Students like him make the possibilities endless."

Hamilton had a fondness of U.S. history. He wrote his final on the civil war and was surprised how fun the paper was and how much he learned.

Hamilton will be working at Dog 'N' Suds this summer, where he has worked for the past four years. He will also be training in cross-country to prepare for his season at St. Louis.

Student Council produces JEAD ERS

Trip to Ireland inspires a dream

ach and every year, high schools present countless opportunities for students to discover their dreams and admirations. Before the seniors even cross the stage and receive their diplomas, a good portion of them already know what they want to do with their lives. Activities like student council, math team and mock trial all prepare tomorrow's senators, mathematicians and lawyers.

After taking a trip to Ireland this past summer as a part of Libertyville High School's Peace and Reconciliation Program, Jacobs realized he wanted to get into international relations. In conjunction with Model United Nations, another program at LHS, Jacobs experienced many of the essential elements of whatever he may choose to do in the future.

"I was thinking of working with the government in some capacity, maybe with the state department," Bruce said. "Maybe an intelligence agency, I'm not sure yet."

As if his involvement in overseas living and a Model United Nations wasn't enough, Bruce captained his school's debate team to fifth place in state and is the Vice-President of the LHS Student Council.

"It bothers him when people say they are in an activity and don't contribute," Bruce's mother Beth Jacob's said. "When he says he's involved in something, he is involved. He puts every-

Even with the long list of extra-curricular activities, also including National Honor Society and Eagle Scouts, the activity that has been the most rewarding for Bruce has come straight out of the

"(My favorite thing) has just been the classroom experience," he said. "Being around people all day talking to them, telling jokes, discussing with them, debating. That's been the best." Despite leaving that classroom experience behind now as Bruce gets ready to enter John Hopkins University, he's most excited about the experiences to come and the opportunities to learn more information from dedicated faculty members. An experience already undertaken by his older sister Emily who Bruce Jacobs described as "a role model in so many ways." Along with his mother and father, Beth and Dick, Emily is a part of the most important element to Bruce's

"They are such great people and they've been so supportive of me throughout high school," he said. "There's never too much pressure, just positive reinforcement when I do well and never

Though Bruce has many accomplishments and success stories, according to his mother, he isn't deserving of all the credit. Those who supported him and helped him along the way are just as deserving.

"It may look like he reached this point on his own, but he's reached it because a lot of people contributed to help him out," Beth Jacobs said. "It's important to recognize that without the parents, the friends, the teachers, the advisors it doesn't work out."

Bruce Jacobs and Jenny Byelick

Junior in status, not leadership

or most students, high school is a four-year endeavor where three years of hard work all come together and peak during senior year. But for Jenny Byelick, things are peaking a bit early.

Only a junior, Byelick is already student council president at Libertyville among many other activities. Quickly taking on a leadership role, however, has not been that big of a surprise for her father.

"She's always been a leader among her peers," Tom Byelick said. "She doesn't want to wait for things to happen. Even as a small kid she would be the one organizing soccer tournaments at recess.'

Her road to success in high school student council didn't first come without having to overcome some obstacles. In eighth grade Byelick ran for student president and lost.

"When I first came to high school it seemed so awesome how everyone would get so involved," she said. "I wanted to run again in high school because it was more of the students instead of the adults just telling them what to do."

Through her successes in student council, Jenny Byelick was able to uncover what has now become the event she most looks forward to every year, the canned food drive.

Outside of student council, she has enjoyed her participation in back so much that it has aided in her selection of what type of school she wants to go to. Even after the "amazing experience" of capturing first place at super state for wind ensemble, Byelick said she loves the thrill of marching band and playing at the football games.

"I know right now that I definitely want to go to big school," she said. "I always pictured college as being huge, and I want a big marching band so I can be in that." To complete her trio of clubs, band and athletics, Jenny Byelick runs the 400 and the relays for her school's track team. While she looks forward to the end of their season and saying good bye to the seniors, most of her running around should come over the summer with her friends.

Giving her the freedom to do things like go downtown or manage her own activities is an adage Tom and Jane Byelick have stressed for quite some time now.

"My wife and I try and support her, but she has never really leaned on us too much," Tom Byelick said. "We're not those backstage parents. What she takes on she really does on her own."

The future is certainly bright for Jenny Byelick, as the college campus tour gets set to begin.

Visits to University of Illinois, Purdue and Michigan are all on the table and she has already seen Northwestern, Notre Dame and Indiana University and liked the feel of the larger campuses.

Despite the fact that she is only a junior, Jenny Byelick has an outlook fit for a collegiate student. "I've tried to be involved in a lot of things," she said. "You meet a lot of different types of people so if you want you can hang out with different groups of friends. Your not just stuck with one group and you get different experiences."

Once a leader,

2004 High School Student Leaders set to become country's leaders ach of the 20 students selected as Lake County's Student Leaders for 2004 has, in some way or another, done exactly what their title suggests:

By BRIAN JANOSCH Lakeland Correspondent

Whether it be through student government, athletics or community service, each student has stepped up and taken on not only the responsibility of a task, but the responsibility of leading others to accomplish a common goal.

Araine Adams, Round Lake girl's volleyball coach, may have summed up being a leader

"(Jamie Schaufel) leads by words, but more importantly leads by example," Adams said,
"Her dedication, untiring work ethic and positive attitude ignited her team to follow her lead."
Though Adams was speaking of an individual student, the words ring true for each of this year's student leaders.

But once each student crosses his or her respective podiums, it leaves one to ask. What's next?

For these students, the answer to that question is simple. More of the same.

Some of the finest Universities in the world get set to welcome Lake County's leaders onto their campuses including Harvard, Northwestern, George Washington and the finest Chicago has to offer in Loyola, University of Chicago and DePaul.

Though every student leader is headed off to a different college all over the country, with exception to Mike Armstrong of Wauconda ad Dana Kardoush of Warren who both head to DePaul, these students share more than just Lakeland's honor.

For instance student government tends toe a common bond between leaders in high school as seven student leaders have worked to improve their schools including Presidents Erica Wehde (Grant), Calvin Reed (Round Lake) and Jenny Byelick (Libertyville).

Erica Wehde (Grant), Calvin Reed (Round Lake) and Jenny Byelick (Libertyville).

Student government has led to another common link for most students, and that is giving back to the community. This group ha probably helped to organize more food drives, blood drives and any other service deeds than anyone else their age in the county. Or in the case of David Margules (Vernon Hills), roughly $5,000 was raised for the Make a Wish foundation and rural schools in Africa by presiding over Interact at his school.

Many of 2004's student leaders weren't just leaders in the building, but also on the athletic field. Seven more of the leaders captained a team at their school at some point and one, Mike Serio (Carmel), holds a state championship game record for longest kick return.

The links that connect these students won't all pass by once they graduate as many may always a leader

still be forming. For instance, with all the problems overseas lately, it may be several of Lake County's best helping to alleviate those problems in the future. Libertyville's Bruce Jacobs, Vernon Hills' Margules, Wauconda's Armstrong and Grayslake's Tim Hamilton all look to get involved with the government in some aspect of international relations.

"I think an important thing about being a leader is being open minded and seeing all different viewpoints," Hamilton said.

Antioch's James Kubisiak has decided to take a more direct approach to keeping the peace overseas by enlisting in the Marines.

Others may find themselves side-by-side helping America's future student leaders reach their own goals as Amy Jenkins (Grayslake), Schaufel (Round Lake) and Lindsey Andrews (Antioch) all look to get into education.

Mundelein has the science aspect cornered in their leaders Nick Spear and Anjali Garg will study physics and biology respectively.

Regardless of what each student becomes, they have already had a monumental impact on their schools and communities in these few brief years. And though they have already grown into some of Lake County's best, the growing will only continue.

"I think my eyes will be opened up to a lot," Margules said. "I will learn a lot of fun things that I didn't know about myself in particular."

Mundelein High School

Science is name of the game at MHS

Spear knows the formula for success or Nick Spear, his story starts in freshman year physics class. Mr. Hickey is his teacher, and a few short weeks in one classroom would change Spear forever.

"(Hickey) had so much passion for the subject," Spear said. "He just loved doing what he was doing."

By BRIAN JANOSCH Lakeland Correspondent

Four years later he prepares to enter Northwestern University and study physics or engineering. That class wasn't the only thing to shape his future though. Athletics, Athletes Committed to Excellence and being a DARE Role Model have all had equal influence. In fact the most rewarding part of his high school career was going to speak to elementary school children through the DARE pro-

"You don't think you're anything special and then you in there and they don't even know anything about you but they have this great respect for you," Spear said. "How could you want to do anything to lead them down the wrong path?"

Though role modeling may have been the most rewarding part of high school, the most memorable have all come from athletics.

"The best times I had were in sports, some of my best friends played the same sports as me. I can't think what I would have done without them," he said.

Of those great memories beating Stevenson in football, making it to the football playoffs and enjoying the track season with friends stand out most for PHOTOS BY JOHN DICKSON Spear. He said the sports are what he will miss most about going on to college as they have given him something to do after school and structured his life.

of them (Linda) working at the very school he attends.

"Nick is very focused," Nick's mom Linda Spear said. "He made the grades his priority but he understood that he needed the whole picture. Socially and athletically for mind and body."

Spear attributes the success of being Mundelein's first Valedictorian in roughly 10 years to his parents Bob and Linda Spear, along with his two sisters Megan and Emily.

"They experienced everything before I did so they helped guide me in finding what I wanted to do," Nick Spear said of his sisters. Nick had a different situation than most students, with both parents being teachers and one

Nick Spear and Anjali Garg

Garg following in family footsteps

o say Anjali Garg has grown up around science and medicine would be an understatement. Garg's father, Ramesh Garg, works for a pharmaceutical company. Her oldest sister is a pediatrician. Her second oldest sister is also a pharmacist.

Anjali Garg hasn't just grown up around science. She's been completely enveloped by it her entire life. So it is no surprise that it's exactly what she wants to keep doing with her life.

"I think that happens in a lot of families," Ramesh Garg said. "It's what the kids see at home. The kids usually try to see the parents as a model so that may influence them a bit, but we never pushed any of our children into that field."

Science always interested Anjali Garg, but a not so enjoyable experience working in the pharmacy turned her down the medical path. So Anjali Garg will take her knowledge and family tradition with her to Loyola University to study pre-med Biology.

"I see her biggest potential in sciences," Ramesh Garg said. "She understands concepts so quickly which surprises me sometimes. That can be very helpful in understanding medicine." While science and biology stood at the front of her curricular line-up, extra-curriculars for Anjali Garg were focused elsewhere. Garg captained the Speech Team at Mundelein and participated in the prose reading event. In the past Garg also competed in events like the dramatic duet.

(Speech) has definitely been my favorite activity here," Anjali Garg said. "It's nice to get a chance to act and it will help me for the future. Like I will be able to give a good speech at graduation."

Garg has also played clarinet for eight years and enjoyed being a part of the wind ensemble as it gave her one non-academic class. Though the frail condition of her clarinet after years of abuse makes it a little easier for her to let go of. In her free time Anjali Garg enjoys relaxing with a good book, Amy Tan books are generally her favorites. With her genuinely relaxed free time activities, one of the biggest worries for Garggoing into college was getting a roommate that would damper that relaxing time.

"I was most scared about getting a weird roommate," Anjali Garg said. "But now one of my friends is going to Loyola so we are going to room together."

With the roommate fear out of the way thanks to fellow senior Scarlet Lambert, her concerns about college have switched to the classroom.

oung girls look up to me," Round Lake High School Senior Jaimie Schaufel said. "I want to be a role model for them."

A wonderful role model she Schaufel, 18, grew up in Round Lake and yearns for competition. Competition not only with others, but with herself. Whether it be on the basketball court, at a piano recital or in the classroom, Schaufel puts her all into everything she does.

"I am always trying to improve myself," she said.

The all-around athlete played volleyball, basketball and softball all four years, earned the MVP title for both volleyball and basketball and earned all-conference in volleyball.

A new coach brought a new game to the Round Lake volleyball team this year. Ariane Adams pushed the girls to do their best, Schaufel said.

"Jaimie is a hard worker," Adams said. player, I have had the opportunity to see her challenged in both arenas. She has that 'never say die' attitude."

As co-captain of the softball team, Schaufel always encourages her teammates, and tries to lead the girls on and off the field.

"In softball, I like how individual work is important, but everything you do is also to benefit the team," the short stop said.

"She is unquestionably a leader," Adams said. "She leads by words, but, more importantly, she leads through her actions. Her dedication, untiring work ethic, and positive attitude ignites her team to follow her lead," said Adams.

While Schaufel loves volleyball and softball, basketball is her favorite sport to play.

"I love how you are always moving and there is rarely any down time," Schaufel said.

The biggest challenge Schaufel faced in high school was moving up to varsity her sophomore year.

"I didn't think I was ready but in the end it helped me prepare better for my junior and senior years

Round Lake's basketball game against Wauconda is one of the most memorable in Schaufel's eyes.

"I was very sick and I played anyway," Schaufel said. "I ended up scoring like 20 points."

The school is presenting Schaufel with an athletic scholarship, a scholarship awarded to one male and one female Round Lake High School student. She will be going to CLC next fall to play basketball and volleyball.

"I am really going to miss my teammates. It was so much fun spending time and goofing around with them," Schaufel said.

Schaufel also enjoys watching her younger sister play basketball at the park district and her father play volleyball.

"My family is always at my games supporting me, so I want to support them," Schaufel said.

Athletics is not all Schaufel is made of. She "Both having her as a student and a volleyball as excelled in school with a 3.98 GPA, ranking in the top 15 of her class.

She will be attending the community college this summer to study secondary education with a focus in algebra.

"I always loved my algebra classes," Schaufel said. "I hope to teach it to high school students one day."

Playing the piano is another one of Schaufel's life passions. She has been playing since she was in third grade. She takes lessons and performs regularly.

"I love how I can compete against myself and improve," Schaufel said.

Throughout her high school career, Schaufel was homecoming princess and turnabout queen.

The soon-to-be Round Lake High School alumni wishes the best for her graduating class and the students continuing their education at the school.

"Have fun and enjoy it while you're here," Schaufel said. "Four years goes by really fast."

being asked if he was a leader or a follower.

"I said I was a leader," Reed said.

Since then he has demonstrated he was nothing less. Captain and MVP of the football team and wrestling team, student body president, Mr. Panther, honors student, B.E.S.T. student representative, homecoming court representative, D.A.R.E. role model - the list of achievements goes on and on.

"I am just amazed I accomplished all this," Reed, 17, said. "The most important thing I learned at this school is that you can do anything you put your mind to."

"He is a great all-around kid, always smiling and working hard," football coach, Kevin Dempsey, said. "He does the best to his ability

The most challenging thing about high school for the Round Lake native was staying on the right path. "There were. many of times I could've done wrong, but I choose to do the right thing," Reed, son of Mary and Cleveland Reed, said.

"My mother has always been my biggest supporter," Reed said. "She kept me on the right path and encouraged me to make the right decisions."

Reed was on the football and wrestling team all four years, ran track his sophomore and junior years and played baseball his freshman year.

As captain of both he football and wrestling teams, Reed tries to have a positive attitude for the rest of his teammates.

"I try to lead by example by being on time and contributing as much as I can to the team," Reed said.

Wrestling was an important part of Reed's high school life. He received MVP for the team and ranked top 10 in the county.

"It's no one else's fault if you lose," Reed said. "The responsibility is on you and there is no one else to blame."

Reed was a linebacker on Round Lake's football team. He loved the feeling of the fans cheering and the school spirit in the atmosphere. Reed earned MVP, all-conference and first team all-county and attended the North Suburban Leadership Conference this year as the student facilitator where he learned about sportsmanship on the field.

"He is one of the few and one of the besthe is really going to be missed," Dempsey said. The game against North Chicago was the most memorable for him this year. "Last year they beat us pretty bad," Reed said. "This year we proved we could play with them."

Many people throughout his time at Round Lake inspired Reed, but wrestling coach, John Jobst and Dempsey, were two people he truly admired.

"My coaches taught me to work hard and keep my eye on the prize," Reed said. "They taught me to be the best I can be and never to sell myself short."

Calvin Reed

One sport Reed never played in high school that he sees a future with, is golf. He plans on playing for intermurals while he attends Northern Illinois University next "Since I am going into business, I thought it would be good to learn how to play golf," Reed said.

Round Lake prepared Reed for college life. "One thing he learned from over the years is not to procrastinate," Reed said.

Reed's dream job is to be an executive vice president of a large corporation.

He already has immense experience being in charge. For two years, he has been president of the student body.

"I wanted to see change in the school and I took it upon myself to put my thoughts into action," Reed said.

With the help of his committee, Reed organized prom last year as well as homecoming this year. Reed is the student representative for B.E.S.T, Bringing Everyone's Strengths

Together. The organization helps the youth of the community and brainstorms actitivies for them to get involved in.

"We are starting up a teen center," Reed

Reed was also a D.A.R.E. role model. He talked to fifth grade students in the area about drugs and high school.

"I want to make a difference in other people's lives," Reed said. "Hopefully I taught them how to say 'no' when they are confronted with bad situations."

His motto in life is to "do the right thing." He wants to teach the youth of his community to follow the same path.

Despite being a little worried about going through boot camp, the overall anticipation outweighs any worry.

"I am excited to call myself a marine," he said. "I'm looking forward to the discipline and all the people I'll get to meet."

That excitement for representing his country was easily picked up by his recruiter Staff Sergeant Eric Shoemaker.

'He was outgoing and wanted more information," Shoemaker said. "He seemed like a good kid. He had a positive attitude in wanting to be a marine and wanting to take up that challenge."

Overcoming adversity won't be too big of an issue for Kubisiak who was put into a difficult situation at a young age. At the tender age of 16 he was forced out of his house and lived Through determination, perseverance and the assistance from his older brother, James was easily able to overcome the adversity that faced him. Don Kubisiak who "has been there through everything and always will be," was described as a "big influence" by James Kubislak.

Now days he sees the experience as more of a blessing than a curse, teaching him how to fend for himself and eliminating any fear he would have had about leaving for something like the marines.

James Kubisiak will spend his last few months graduating from high school, then just enjoying his shorter summer with his friends playing frisbee golf or any other number of activities. Through it all, however, Kubisiak said he is just going to remain "focused on what I need to do and looking to the future."

"My parents were always there to push me to do my best, they won't let me slag," Hamilton said. "They were at all of my track and cross-country meets."

"I am ready to see where the future takes me," he said. "I want to make the most out of my experience in college."

Jenkins was also involved in band and choir during her four years at Grayslake.

"Band was a great way to meet people and to get involved," Jenkins said. "We got to play fun music at the basketball and football games and prepare more formal music for concerts."

She participates in marching band, pep band and concert band and is also in the varsity honors choir.

"I love to sing," Jenkins said.

Her four years here have taught her a lot about reading music and singing with the proper techniques in an organized group using harmony.

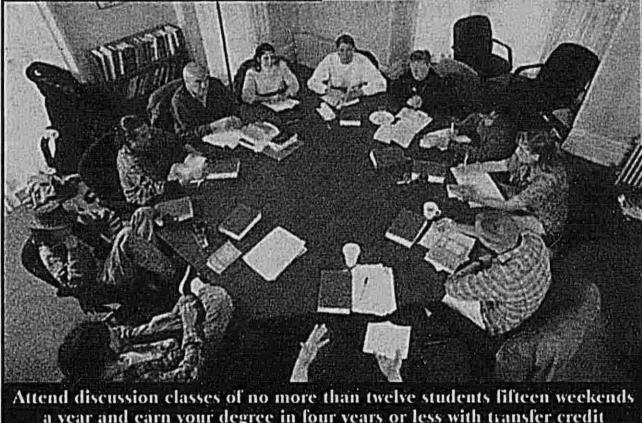

Jenkins is also a member of the National Honors Society and has done community service throughout the year.

The two alumni wish nothing but the best to their fellow Rams.

"Always try to enjoy life no matter what," Jenkins said. "Get the most out of every circumstance and don't take anything for granted."

efore next fall, Allison Kim is going to need to invest in some sweatshirts to continue with her love for running. The late October jogs around the neighborhood won't be the same in Madison, Wis. as they are in Vernon Hills.

By BRIAN JANOSCH Lakeland Correspondent

But weather aside, Allison Kim couldn't be more excited about taking her running shoes

"I look forward to getting a different point of view," Kim said. "I've been in this town for so long and it's just a small suburb and Madison is a big city. It'll just be different."

Even though the competitive days of running may be numbered for Kim, she shouldn't stray far from the athletic field as she aspires to become an athletic trainer.

"When I was a freshman I got injured during track season," she said. "I went to the trainer's office and got interested in what they do. Since I'm not going to be a professional runner, I just want to be around the athletic field."

Kim was the captain of her track and field team along with the cross-country team at Vernon Hills High School. Her time spent with the team sticks out at the forefront of her memories of high school.

"Because the school is so small, we had a small team," Kim said. "So the girls were really close and it was just nice to get to know them so well."

Another involvement that has been rewarding for her has been the work she's done as treasurer of the student council. Planning out different school functions and aiding in the coordination of them ranks with her track seasons as her favorite memories.

(I(O)D

Going the distance

Once June 3 rolls around, however, the cello, the track spikes and everything else will find its way into storage with nothing but the future lying ahead. Something which Kim's parents Donghee and Sachiko couldn't look forward to more.

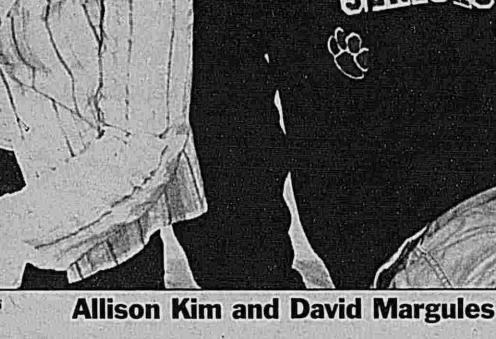

"I think she really deserves all the possibilities that she has and I am thrilled to see her just starting to grab some of them," Sachiko Kim said: "I think it's exciting to see her going up steps little by little."

Allison Kim has never been short on teacher's help, as both her parents have been teaching. Her mom teaches kindergarten music at Hawthorn Elementary and her father is a college professor of "something with cell physiology" as Allison put it. With her older brother, now attending Illinois State, the family is always there for Kim.

"My parents were definitely motivating," she said. "They helped me through the tough times and were always there for support."

Allison Kim should find herself just as involved and active in college as she has been in high school if she continues to live up to her Yogi Berra-esque adage of why she loves to be busy.

"If I have nothing to do, then I just end up doing nothing so I like to be doing something," she said.

ith high school, there is a lot of receiving involved. An education, awards, scholarships, recognition and diplomas are all given away to thousands of students each year.

But students like David Margules do what they can to give a little back. He's done so by serving as president of Interact at Vernon Hills High School.

"It's a service oriented group and it's all about helping people out," Margules said. "You feel good about it."

In presiding over Interact at VHHS, Margules has organized events to raise $4,000 for the Make A Wish Foundation and schools in rural Africa. Events like the Libertyville-Vernon Hills "Cat Fight," a staff basketball game, have helped to gather funds while events like the Senior Citizens Prom give back to the community more directly.

Margules will be taking his service out east this fall as he prepares to attend George Washington University to study international relations. Between the community service and academic success, Margules' father Ken could only describe David's high school success by saying, "he's made me feel like we did things right."

Margules' has known for almost his entire high school career that he wanted to work internationally.

"I've wanted to travel, see the world and leave my mark on it," he said.

Margules cited his love for history and politics as a big reason why he wants to enter the government. He wishes to compare political climates of different areas, try to figure out why people are fighting and then try to find a solution.

Margules also took time in high school playing his trumpet for the wind ensemble and captaining the academic bowl team. The fact that he was able to participate in so many things was Margules' favorite part of attending VHHS.

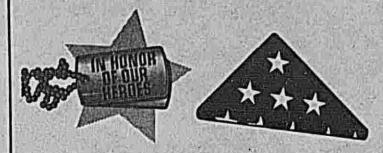

'(The school) provided me with the opportunity to realize my potential and try so many different activities," he said. "I'll have a lot more memories because I've always been busy. I'll never be able to say there was something I could have done and didn't."

Though Margules has a small fear of leaving the "safety net" that he has had in Vernon Hills, his overall outlook on college is full of excitement.

"I think my eyes will be opened up to a lot," he said. "I will learn a lot of fun things that I didn't know about myself in particular, and the world and how it works."

ohn Armstrong will have some time on his hands after May 29's Wauconda High School graduation ceremony.

"It will be the first time in 12 or 13 years that my wife and I won't be going to someone's games," Armstrong, the Wauconda Unit District 118 School Board President, said.

That is because Armstrong's youngest of two soccer-playing sons, Mike, is graduating. "I remember when Mike was in the Tiny Sockers program," a proud dad said.

Mike Armstrong and Leslie Korotka are the recognized student leaders for WHS.

"Both students lead by example," said WHS Principal Jim LePage. Both students are Wauconda Korotka is on the cheerleading and track teams for the Bulldogs.

"I'm very proud of the 4.45," she said of her grade point average. "School is important to me. I think sports are fun and I like them, but they are just not as important."

Korotka is glad she excels in school. Even as the final days click by, she is taking Advanced Placement honors tests in U.S. history and biology. Korotka credits social studies teacher Kerry Kohlbacher as one in particular who challenged her to do her best. "This is the third year of the course, so it is still developing. We just had the AP tests and Leslie said she feels good about it. Most of the students in the class are very self-motivated. They don't need a lot of pushes," said Kohlbacher. Kohlbacher mentioned Korotka has been in his classes since she was a sophomore taking psychology. The junior year was US honors history, studying how historians do their work and this year was knowledge and content, preparing for the AP tests. Wauconda High track and field coach Al Willhoit said Korotka has been a solid contributor.

"She has been on the varsity since freshman year. She has competed in the pole vault, long jump and relays," Willhoit said.

Korotka was recovering from an injury she suffered during cheerleading season last year but still made it through the season. Korotka also said there were several long days of cheerleading competitions and coaching. It all paid off when the Bulldogs gained a fourth place status in this year's state finals. She placed third in the pole vault at the NSC girls conference meet.

"Cheerleading was kind of a joke in middle school. We went from 'Oh, Wauconda' to being a contender for a state title. We were so close to Lake Zurich," Korotka said.

She and fellow seniors Jacey Culver, Courtney Faczek, Brittany Frizier, Derek Karantz led the way. "It was fremendous. I went crazy when they announced the scores," Korotka remembered. Armstrong noted English teacher Scott Cittadino as his motivator, "because of the way he taught his classes."

Armstrong said he likes Wauconda because one can still get to know many other students and Kortoka said track rivals develop as individual events. She was a team captain, competing in the pole vault.

Kortoka has selected and been accepted to attend Marquette University, where she will begin a six-year journey to study physical therapy. Armstrong will attend DePaul University in Chicago, studying political science in hopes of working as a diplomat. Both said the realization of the final weeks of high school began to set in about spring break.

"DePaul was the school where I always wanted to go, but I had back-up plans," Armstrong said. There is a matter of anticipation as both are part of the distinguished seniors group. It will be honored at the May 29 WHS Graduation ceremony.

"I'll be excited; I know I will cry. I remember I cried when my brother graduated, Korotka said. Her older brother, Chad, graduated last year. She also has a younger sister, Lisa, a sophomore. Mike Armstrong's older brother, Nate, attends the University of Chicago.

Both students won awards at the WHS awards night.

Korotka won the American Legion Post 911 Scholarship, while Armstrong won the SAR Citizenzship Award Both are Illinois State Scholars and won a Lillian and Harold Rudy scholarship. Armstrong won the U.S. Army Reserve athlete award. Both won high honor roll, for grade point average of 3.5 or above for all four years, and president's education awards. Armstrong was awarded the Wauconda Rotary Club bachelor's degree scholarship and Korotka won the Bill Whiteley Memorial Award.

Warren Township High School

Well-rounded student excels in new home

ou could consider senior Dana Kardoush ahead of the majority of her Warren Township High School classmates simply because of the fact that she took three Advanced Placement (AP) tests this year: in calculus, physics and English/literature/composition.

Add into the mix her numerous extra-curricular activities and community volunteer projects along with the fact she's only lived in the U.S. for the past four years, and she becomes Dana's average school day beings about 7:20 a.m. when she arrives at school for Scratch Paper (Warren's school newspaper) brainstorming sessions. Dana's the managing editor. Her lunch period is consumed by meeting with her fellow Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) members for recruitment. After school she sticks around for two to three hours, depending on how many meetings, interviews and activities are scheduled for that day. FBLA takes up much of her time, and often keeps her at Warren until 8:30 p.m. in addition to time for weekend volunteer activities and competitions.

Her other activities include the National Honor Society, French Club, Ski Club, Mayor's Youth Council and Healthy Communities/ Healthy Youth. And Dana already knows the meaning of sacrifice, as she gave up her team captain status on the girl's soccer team for other activities this year.

"Soccer has also been a big part of my life," Dana explains, "but I'm too busy this year" to be on the team. Dana said she feels lucky to have had the opportunity to do all of these extracurriculars. In her home country of United Arab Emirates, located next to Saudi Arabia in the Middle East, school was much different.

There, the emphasis is on "studying and taking tests," she said. "Organizations and sports are not important like they are here. Here, teachers encourage you and are always pushing you to do those things. I'm glad I got the best of two worlds."

Although she loves her life in Lake County, Dana admits the initial transition was difficult. Her familymom, dad, Dana and three siblings- decided to move during Dana's freshman year when her brother wanted to come to the U.S. for college at CLC. Dana's grandmother also lives in Waukegan.

Dana said her bond with her family has always been very important to her.

"Getting through the first two years we had to be (close)," she said. "It was pretty tough."

She also said, "school life and the people here made it really easy to adapt. FBLA has been a big part of helping me to transition."

Dana counts among her biggest high school accomplishments her role as a leader in organizing Warren's annual "Concert for Life" event this year, which raised about $15,000 for the American Cancer Society. In the fall Dana will attend DePaul University, in Chicago, Although she's as of yet undecided on what she will study, advertising and business are distinct possibilities. Dana seems to seen herself as an entrepreneur.

"I've always hoped to own my own business someday," she said. "I have a dream of thinking of something new that would change the way we do things." Dana's other interest include math, science and art. She's received honors in her art classes, and her AP physics and calculus courses show her interest these areas.

Although these advanced placement courses are outside her intended field of study, Dana said they will help her to get ahead and "save time" in college. Each of the three will likely count for an entry-level college course.

Dana said the values of "be a morally good person," "strive to succeed," and "work hard," have helped her to achieve.

"If you're a morally good person, if you work hard and do something you love, you'll be a success," she said.

Warren senior hopes for future in broadcasting arren Township High School senior Robert Schroeder isn't afraid to speak his mind, and stand up for issues he thinks are important. At a time when many young adults are apathetic when it comes to politics, Robert breaks the mold.

"I'm strongly politically minded," Robert said, adding that he feels there's a "lack of caring" among many young adults.

"If there's a problem, it's my opinion that you go out and fix it. You don't just wait for it to get better," he said.

Caring about politics is just one of the many things that distinguishes Robert among his classmates at Warren. He holds several leadership positions including reporter for Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) and co-chair of the Mayor's Youth Council. The 4.6 GPA holder is also involved in intramural football, volleyball, hockey and bowling, and volunteers as an umpire for Gurnee Youth Baseball.

Robert will attend Ithaca College, in upstate New York, in the fall, where he has been awarded a full-ride academic scholarship to study journalism.

Robert said one of the high school activities he's enjoyed most is the Mayor's Youth Council, for which he meets with Mayor Don Rudny and about 15 other Warren students to discuss local and national issues.

"That's been one of the most beneficial things I've done," he said. "Since most of us can't vote, it's a way that our voice can be heard."

And Robert certainly isn't afraid to talk politics. He can tell you both what Mayor Rudny and former Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton have accomplished for the village, as well as what he feels President George Bush is doing wrong, ranging from the war in Iraq environmental and tax poli-

Describing himself as a politically-minded individual who "leans to the left," he said, "Standing up for who I am has helped to define my

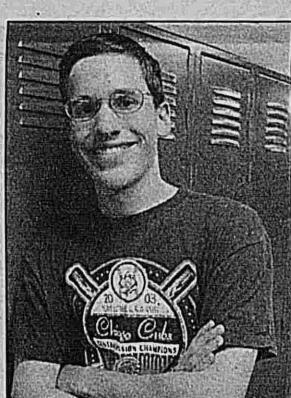

Robert also counts among his greatest high school accomplishments his role in this year's annual "Kiss the Pig" fundraiser to benefit the March of Dimes. He has done other volunteer activities through FBLA and enjoys, "bringing people together to raise money for a common cause."

Robert has decided he will major in journalism in college, and has the ultimate goal of becoming a sports broadcaster. He spends much of his leisure time listening to Cubs games on the radio.

"I'm a big Cubs fan. I listen to a ton of games. I've always thought that those people have the best jobs in the world," he said, of Cubs broadcasters."

"You have your own medium that you can use to make a difference in the community. As a journalist I would have that," he said.

When asked what makes him a leader among his peers, Robert said, "I guess people kind of look up to me because I'm not afraid to voice my opinions and speak out on an issue."

A beautiful theater near you

Waukegan's going 'world class' with renovation of Genesee Theater

By JEFF ZACHARY izachary@lakelandmedia.com

It was the summer of 1927 during the roaring twenties when the immortal Babe Ruth hit a record breaking 60 homeruns in New York.

And it was on Christmas day of the same year that another historic event happened n Waukegan, Illinois, with the grand opening of the Genesee Theater headlining the "Valley of the Giants."

For 62 years, the historic theater remained a popular attraction until being closed in 1989 due to financial reasons.

But after years of planning and hard work by more than 400 volunteers, it is scheduled to be reopened in late September or early October of this year, as Waukegan redefines itself as a "World Class" city.

"We are trying to do our best to transform our downtown into a cultural, recreationand entertainment epicenter." said David Motley, director of public relations for Waukegan. "And that's why this project is being kicked off by the Genesee Theater. The possibilities that everyone have been dreaming about for Waukegan are quickly becoming a reality. And it's not only the entertainment value but also all the peripheral recreational activities that are being created. There is a lot more interest from people wanting to open restaurants and shops."

The city of Waukegan has invested $24 million in the restoration of the theater, which includes increasing the seating capacity from 1,800 seats to 2,500 seats.

During a recent tour of the construction at the Genesee, Waukegan Mayor Richard Hyde could not keep from expressing his enthusiasm for the project.

"This place is fabulous. It's going to be the showcase of northeastern Illinois and maybe even the showcase of all of Illinois," Hyde said. "It's already brought more development, and the lakefront is being redeveloped, too. Waukegan is a great city and everything is working together to bring it back into prominence like it once was.

"Naturally, I will be attending the grand opening of the theater. We are on schedule and we are getting to the point now where we will be putting on the finishing touches, and you will see the progress that is being made."

An equally enthusiastic Steve Kolber is the on-site coordinator for the Genesee Theater. Kolber, a Waukegan resident, started cut four years ago on the project as a volunteer and worked for one year for the GSI architectural firm that was heading up the project. When GSI was fired by the City, Kolber was hired as the one to manage the prolect for the City.

"The goal is to open with a major blockbuster star and to make a big splash," Kolber said. "Nationally known commercially popular touring entertainment has always been the goal for the theater. He added that big name stars like Bill Cosby and Jerry Seinfeld

ach Memorial Day I go to the parade to pay respect to our soldiers who have died in battle protecting the freedoms and values of

But this year I will also be giving tribute to our brave men and women overseas fighting the war on terrorism.

Then I will pray the war ends soon and I will retire to my back yard to reflect on my life as I do every year.

And I will reflect on the fact that God and the brave U.S. Military fighting force have provided me with a great life of freedom here in the United States.

In addition, I will think about my tremendous parents who are honest and hard working and whom I can never thank enough for their kindness and guidance over the years.

When growing up, there was always a lot of love and encouragement in our home.

ZACHARY There was never any drinking, swearing, child abuse or any of the awful things so commonplace nowadays.

FROM A TO

And we were taught to honor God and our country.

The family attended a small Baptist church where the pastor preached against everything. And even though I still don't agree with a lot of the church's positions, what the church taught us about choosing what is right over what is wrong is more than most parents are teaching their children today.

Yeah, each Memorial Day I reflect on the old fashioned values that have made this country great and which I still believe in. I believe in God, the Ten Commandments, honesty, marriage (between a man and a woman) hard work, paying the bills and trying to be successful.

And my prayer is that my son grows up to be a man of high character and is honest, hardworking and loves his neighbors.

Being a news reporter and watching the war in Iraq this past year has led me to believe that we need to get back to our oldfashioned values that have made this country great such as respecting our elders, loving each other and valuing all human life (including unborn babies) or this country is in serious trouble.

So I pray that when my son grows up that he gives food to the hungry, gives water to the thirsty, buys clothes for the needy, visits the sick in the hospitals and prisons, and loves his neighbor like he loves himself.

Just like Americans have been doing for each other for 200 years.

Have a happy Memorial Day and may the war end soon.

Kate Schoell from Arlington Heights (forefront) will dance the role of the Lilac Fairy. Back from left, Carly Czach from Palatine will dance as Princess Aurora and international guest artist Guillermo Leyva from Chicago will dance the role of Prince Florimund. Kate and Carly are members of the Barrington Dance Company.

BYDE's 'Sleeping Beauty' ballet returns to Barrington

Barrington Youth Dance Ensemble's (BYDE) adaptation of the Sleeping Beauty ballet has all the elements to keep an audience enthralled. Beautiful sets and costumes, a compelling score by Peter Il'yich Tchaikovsky and breathtaking choreography will charm everyone in the family.

International guest artist Guillermo Leyva from Chicago will once again grace the stage in the role of Prince Florimund partnering with Barrington Dance Company's Carly Czach from Palatine as the beautiful Princess Aurora. This 'child friendly' production weaves the classic tale of good over evil as true love conquers all in a magical kingdom of make believe.

"Sleeping Beauty" will be presented on Friday, June 18 at 7:30 p.m. and on Saturday, June 19 at 2 p.m. in the Richard C. Johnson Auditorium at Barrington High School. Tickets are $12 for children, students and seniors; $15 for adults; and $18 for preferred seating and at the door.

Following Saturday's matinee performance, Princess Aurora's Wedding Reception will be held at Marian and Jasper Sanfilippo's fabulous Eden Palais which houses a world renowned collection of calliopes and the most spectacular hand-painted European salon carousel in existence. A sweet table buffet replete with wedding cake, hot and cold beverages will be offered as children and their parents mingle with storybook characters from the ballet. To be a guest at the Wedding Reception, please send a $15 donation for each person who will attend. Valet parking will provided. Reservations must be made in advance.

Tickets for Sleeping Beauty and Aurora's Wedding Reception are now on sale at the Barrington Dance Academy, 758 W. Northwest Hwy., and The Canterbury Shoppe in the Ice House in Barrington. Visa and Master Card

The BYDE continues to greatly appreciate the continued generous support from the Fitzsimonds Charitable Trust; Illinois Arts Council, a state agency; Elyse Meredith and Raymond John Roberts Charitable Foundation; Northern Trust Bank in Barrington; Barrington Area Arts Council/Arts Boost; Barrington Junior Women's Club, Inc.; and Hagerty Peterson & Co. LLC.

Through quality dance performances, BYDE promotes artistic integrity, understanding, involvement, and awareness among people of all ages throughout the Chicago area.

For more information on Sleeping Beauty,

Aurora's Wedding Reception or the BYDE, please phone 847-381-6333 (4).

Mom kicks butt

didn't just backslide. Everything came crashing down on me like taking a jackhammer to the Alps.

One minute I'm rummaging through an upper shelf in my closet, adding another prize find to my collection of kitty litter storage bins. The next I'm buried under 30 years of my late father's tobacco-laced newspaper articles, and nursing a head wound from his heavy glass ashtray.

My dad always wrote these articles armed with his ashtray and cigarettes, especially when he covered the crime beat—and certain folks wanted him to visit again when they had 'an elephant gun."

At least he could have left me a cigarette butt for my trouble.

You see, I wanted to follow in dad's footsteps, but he insisted journalism was no place for a lady.

The best I could do was take up smoking, especially when I developed a high school crush on the leather jacketed "greaser" who lit up on my street corner, and sat behind me in class. I so hoped one day he'd ask me for more than my test paper.

LES ON LIFE

Unfortunately, I wasn't the picture of alluring sophistication leaning on a light pole, choking on menthol cigarettes, and dressed for work in cotton candy pink like Gidget looking for love at Baskin-Robbins.

But my love affair with smoking lasted-25 years sure flies by when you have to plan your life around a pack a day habit.

The only thing that made me stop smoking was becoming a mom. I also didn't want to show up at my baby shower with a cigarette dangling from my lips looking like a gun moll in maternity wear. So I joined a smoker's support group and graduated-several times.

Lucky for me the support group workbook came down on me along with dad's stuff. Before I lit up, I was able to remind myself of the many reasons I quit 10 years ago. (Now I would also list the dilemma of either paying my car repair bill, or forking over cigarette tax, if I broke down smokeless in Cook County.)

Besides, I've got bigger fish to fry. For one, my health care "handlers" say I should quit my 10 cup a day coffee habit-and stop chasing after Juan Valdez's coffee laden burro like "The Madwoman of Latte." So I'm currently filling in everyone about the joys of living caffeine free, complete with agonizingly long descriptions of my headache, nausea, and fatigue.

Plus I'm really embarrassed about being caught by the local sheriff getting some noncaffeinated "ZZZ's" at the wheel in an empty parking lot. Still, you guys were regular "Prince Charmings" about waking me up. I owe you. And, since I've discovered the kick in jellybeans, I may even send you a bag. It might come in handy on the late shift.

Don't worry about me. I've got plenty more stashed in my closet-and dad's ashtray now makes a great candy dish.

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Nowadays, it seems everyone is hopping aboard the salad bandwagon. It's especially true as the variety of available greens widens and consumers recognize that they represent not only good eating but a healthy lifestyle.

"Twelve Months of Monastery Salads: 200 Divine Recipes for All Seasons" (Harvard Common Press, 2004), a new book by Brother Victor-Antoine d'Avila-Latourrette, a Benedictine monk, gardener and cook based at Our Lady of the Resurrection monastery in Millbrook, N.Y., offers pointed insights on the subject. Brother Victor's recipes for salads—as starters, main courses or side dishes—combine veggies, fruits, cheese, seafood, pasta, grains and meat with such variation that they're bound to offer something to please most every taste and palate.

His book starts with the basics, proceeds month-bymonth with appropriate salad suggestions, and ends with a useful chapter on salad oils, vinegars and dressings. The accompanying recipe happens to come from his "May" chapter, and we think it's a good one.

Snack News

Late July Organic Snacks is the newest offering from the founders of Cape 'Cod Potato Chips. The crackers are free of transfats. They come in three varieties — round saltine, classic rich and cheddar cheese — with a suggested retail price of $2.99 per 6-ounce box. The bite-size cheese crackers also are available in a snack pack of six 1-ounce bags for $3.69.

Tasters who sampled all three had mixed opinions on the saltine and rich varieties, but were unanimous that the cheese variety was the best. While all are surprisingly crisp for snacks that have no trans-fats, all still were shy of expected flakiness and crunch.

Less Mess

"Love it. What a simple invention for keeping snacks from being scattered all over the floor or car," the mom of a 15-month-old wrote after she tried The Snack-Trap. "At first the flaps on the plastic top were a little intimidating, but once he figured it was safe to put his hand inside, he had no fear. He'd just pull up on a flap and grab a goodie. The Snack-Trap is a good way to help little ones practice feeding themselves while keeping your surroundings clean." For more information about The Snack-Trap, go to www.snacktrap.com or call 248-828-7460.

KMC earns high ratings for composition and performance

Kathi's Musicians' Center School of Music (KMC), located at 130 Center Street, Grayslake, is a licensed school with a nationally standardized curriculm. KMC'S annual events includes students performances in various state and national evaluations during the year. In May, 22 students, adults, teens and children performed for the National Guild of Piano Teachers (NGPT) and International Guild of Compositions, earning 'superior critic's choice' ratings.

The event is sponsored by the American College of Musicians (ACM) headquartered in Austin, TX. Each member of KMC's nationally recognized, degreed faculty has the privilege of preparing for these evaluations because they are 'sponsor members' of the NGPT, a division of AMC, All performers prepare programs from 2 to 15 selections and are graded on over 40 elements including memory which is required, theory, ear training, sight reading, transposition, composition, several aspects of rhythm, interpretation, technique and more.

In addition to AMC, KMC is a member of the National Community Schools of the Arts and the Chamber of Commerce. KMC's degreed performance faculty services students from Lake and Cook counties and Kenosha County, Wis., offering instruction in keyboards, plano, band instruction in keyboards, plano, band instruments, ear training, music history, theory, composition, and improvisation for children and adults, beginners through artist level.

CRITIC'S CHOICE By Tom Witom

George Bernard Shaw's impeccable sense of humor shines through every scene of his 1906 farce, "The Doctor's Dilemma," now getting a laudable revival by Writers' Theatre in Glencoe.

The medical community is squarely on the receiving end of the playwright's pointed gibes, though the news media and egotistical artists take their licks as well.

Ethics frequently took a back seat. Doctoring was a hit-or-miss proposition, often practiced by quacks and incompetents; each practitioner seemed to favor his-and only his-treatment protocol, no matter the illness or success ratio.

One of the first characters introduced is the dynamic Kevin Gudahl as Dr. Colenso Ridgeon, an eminent, recently knighted British physician who has come up with a promising treatment for tuberculosis.

A rogue's gallery of colleagues has gathered to congratulate him on his new title. They include Cutler Walpole (Jonathan Weir), a surgeon of questionable judgment; Sir Ralph Bloomfield Bonington (Bradley Mott), who, willy-nilly, prescribes anti-toxins to all of his patients. Also on hand is the curmudgeonly Sir Patrick Cullen (Robert Scogin), a retired man of medicine; and Dr. Blenkinsop (Steve Hinger), a sincere, dirtpoor physician whose clientele tends to come the bottom rungs of the working classes who frequent the public clinics.

Though they stick togther, each is filled with self-importance and pooh-poohs the efforts of the other. For example, Bonington, the internist, puts down Walpole's surgical practice: "What is operating after all? Only manual labor."

Ridgeon faces a moral dilemma when he's forced to play God and choose one of two prospective seriously ill patients to round out the caseload for his hospital trials. On the one hand is his impoverished fellow doctor, Blenkinsop, and on the other is an amoral but brilliant young artist and con artist, Louis Dubedat (the inimitable Scott Parkinson), who freely admits that the label "scoundrel" fits him all too well. His only two failings: money and women.

Complicating matters is that Ridgeon has taken a fancy to Dubedat's beautiful wife Jennifer (Karen Woditsch). Blind to her husband's multiple flaws, she argues forcefully for Ridgeon to save her man from impending death from consumption.

Under Michael Halberstam's sharp direction, a good farce like this one is just what the doctor ordered.

are some of the type of caliber of entertainment the theater wants to have.

"It's unbelievably admirable for the City of Waukegan to dive into the cost ($24 million) and do this, but when you look on a national scale places like Appleton just built a 2,000 seater for $50 million. And downtown, they just built that new music and dance theater for close to $70 million for 1,800 seats. So when you look at this for $24 million and the type of flexibility on the type of facility we are getting—it a good deal."

facility we are getting— it a good deal."

In addition to being used as a theater the facility will be used for conferences and local events.

"One thing it is important to remember is that we spent years designing this building so that it really works with the concept of creating as much traffic as possible. That was the goal when we first pitched this idea to the city council. It is a multi purpose facility and everything has been designed for flexibility, to be revenue generating and to create traffic."

Another benefit of the facility is that it will be easily accessible for everybody.

"It will be the most ADA accessible historic auditorium in the country," Kolber sald.

In addition there will be 10 dressing rooms for the stars with over 77 different dressing areas and seven different levels with expanded lobby areas and restrooms.

Kolber spoke about how important it was to have enough high quality restrooms.

"When the original theater was built there were only three follets for the ladies and three toilets and urinals for the men. Now with our expanded 2,500 seats we have put in 62 toilets for the ladies. And this is by design. There is a reason behind every architectural decision we make. The number one reason is that if at intermission the ladies are waiting in line for the restroom it means they are not buying drinks. Remember we have to pay back all those bonds. So what it comes down to is that it is revenue generating. Secondly, the ladles make 95 percent of the entertainment decisions for the household and if they are not having the greatest time of their lives here, and if they are standing in a line the entire time of the intermission, they won't be coming back. And its not just them not coming back it's two or three people not coming back. We want to make sure that everybody is happy. And let's face it, if the ladies are happy everything else is a piece of cake."

Across the street from the Genesee will be a

"There is no question that when this thing is open it will be a national model on how to do restoration in a flexible manner," Kolber said.

"We want the 2,500 people who attend the theater to then go out on the streets and visit the restaurants and interesting shops up and down Genesee Street. That's the reason this project got off the ground in the first place. The city didn't invest $20 million because they love theater or because they love the Genesee building. It's because it has the potential to be a huge economic catalyst for downtown."

The first showpiece to be put up in the building was a Grand Chandeller.

"We have over 200 fixtures from 12 different theaters across the country and these are vintage antiques. A lot of the theaters are no longer in existence so this is some pretty rare stuff. Our pride and joy is the Grand Chandelier. This is the original from the Orpheum Theater in Seattle Washington, which was built in 1927 and torn down in 1967. It was in boxes ever since then until we got it here. It is 18 feet tall and eight and a half feet wide. It is gold plated and arguably one of the finest theater chandeliers in the country."

The Grand Chandelier has been appraised at over $350,000.

Motley explained why the Chandelier was the first item put up in the theater.

"The reason why we put this chandelier up first was to set the tone for the project. And to set the tone for what downtown Waukegan can be. We wanted to change and raise the caliber of expectations for what you see in downtown Waukegan. This project is just one of many projects in Waukegan and we wanted to set the tone that Waukegan is a 'World Class' city."

Kolber talked a little about some of the problems the restoration project has faced and said that the main reason that GSI was fired was because of delays. He added that Ray Shepherdson, who resigned recently as the contract manager from the project, might be coming

"I think Ray is the author of the vision that got this whole thing going in the first place. If he doesn't come back we owe it to the city of Waukegan to be true to his vision and what we have been selling the city council, which is a vibrant season of over 250 quality shows a year at affordable

"People can forget about driving to Milwaukee and forget about driving to Chicago. It's all going

Kate Hudson plays Helen Harris, in the glamorous fashion business, who spends much of her time clubbing and traveling to exotic locales for film shoots. She has a close bond with her zany young married sister (played by Felicity Huffman). The two sing a Devo song at a family party and their square older sister, Jenny (Joan Cusack), feels totally left out. None of them seems aware that the song is really about self-pleasureto put it delicately.

Tragedy strikes and Helen's young sister and her brother-in-law are killed. The whole family is shocked when the will names the flighty, irresponsible Helen as the guardian of her kids. Helen struggles to switch gears from being a cool aunt to becoming a responsible parental figure.

Of course, the kids drive her nuts and as a result of the adoption she has to relocate to Queens, and she loses her job. Helen begins to spend more time with a local "everyman," Pastor Dan, who is the opposite of the type of man she is used to.

Soul Plane: Dakwon (Kevin Hart of "Scary Movie 3") wins a huge lawsuit from an airline because of an incident that killed his dog. In a case of life and art not being far apart, he launches a new airline called NWA (with many similarities to Hooters Air). (R)

NWA is intended to appeal to African-Americans, while Hooters seeks to attract men who are hungry for more than chicken wings. What sets Dakwon's airline apart are sexy flight attendants, funky music, a hot onboard dance club and a bathroom attendant. Departing from the all new Terminal X in LA, Soul Plane adds an entirely new meaning to the word "fly." The humor takes on an unexpected twist when the captain, Snoop Dogg, has a white family (headed by Tom Arnold of "Cradle 2 the Grave") board the flight, after they are rerouted to fly on NWA.

ere all orphans of this storm

he first sci-fi action thriller of the summer has arrived. This one geared to us mortals. "Van Helsing" doesn't count. You had to be a gothic horror aficionado to fully appreciate the connection of characters...and besides, it was a mess.

"The Day After Tomorrow" asks what if earth entered a new Ice Age. There's a lot of talk here about global warming and weather gone awry; huge hailstorms in Tokyo, snow in New Delhi, and tornadoes in LA. Right now (May 2004), in the real world, rivers are cresting at record levels in the Midwest of the United States, due to torrential rain and high winds. This "what if..." seems a real possibility, as opposed to the alien invasion director and co-writer Roland Emmerich brought us in his spectacular "Independence Day."

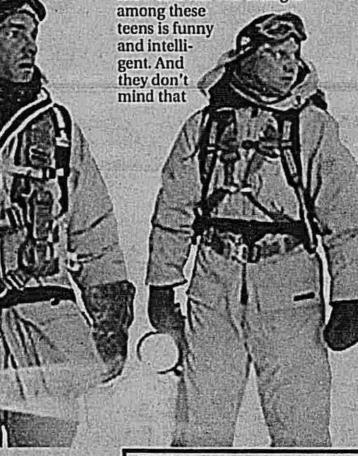

Jack Hall (Dennis Quaid) is a climatologist whose research leads him to warn those in power that dangerous shifts in the world's climate will result in disaster within 7-10 days. A large portion of Earth will

people will instantly freeze in the streets from exposure, as the eye of this great ice storm passes over. There is also a convenient "eye in the sky," a manned space shuttle, waiting to reenter and watching the progress of the world's weather pattems. Jack warns the President that the entire southern half of the United States must be evacuated. The ice storm is dissipating as it moves south. Mexico closes its borders to US citizens, and the irony of the sight of illegal aliens from North America crossing the river into Mexico gets a good laugh from the audience. Jack and his ex-wife Lucy (Sela Ward), a dedicated, caring doctor, are divorced but they still love each other. Their 17-year-old son Sam (Jake Gyllenhaal) feels neglected by his globetrotting father, and he is in NYC to participate in an academic decathlon. Emmy Rossum ("Mystic River") plays Laura; a bright and lovely girl on Sam's team of likeable scholars. They take refuge in the city's main public library when Manhattan is deluged with floodwaters, which eventually turn to snow and ice. The dialogue among these

A hopeful movie in the end, an astronaut in the shuttle looks down on the earth's new atmosphere of normal and asks, "Have you ever seen the air so clear?"

Pam's Take: Jake Gyllenhaal's sort of off-handed delivery and engaging smile appeal to me. I like him here, though I think his performances in "The Good Girl" and "Donnie Darko" were probably more challenging...except, of course, for all that water.

George's Take: Good CGI, particularly on the tornadoes in LA, in a time of some truly mediocre efforts. This is a great way to simply have fun at the movies.

If you enjoyed "Late Nite Catechism", you'll love Sister Bernie and her cohorts, Father Martini and Sister Cherisse. Their unforgettable "BINGO BASH" combines exciting prizes, inspiring songs, spiritual insight and some healthy competition. Everyone goes home a "winner" after an evening with the irrepressible Sister Bernie.

This interactive comedy will be presented Saturday, June 12, at 7 p.m. in the Parish Hall at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church in Johnsburg. Tickets are $15. For more information or tickets by mail, please call 815-385-1477.

Library

A need to read

The Friends of the Fremont Public Library at 1170 N. Midlothian Road, Mundelein, are in need of used children's books for their Book Nook. Our supply of used children's books has dwindled. If you have any to donate, please bring them to the library and place them in the large toy box beneath the stairs on the first floor. Each month the Friends of the Fremont Public Library sell approximately five hundred dollars worth of used books. The money is then used to purchase new items for the library. Next time you visit the library, check the Book Nook for special items.

Decoding the 'Davinci Code'

On Wednesday, June 2, at 7 p.m. discover the mysteries of The Da Vinci Code at the Zion-Benton Public Library, Jim Kenny, Executive Director of Common Ground, provides background information and help to decide where the fact/fiction line lies in Dan Brown's runaway bestseller.

Kenny did doctoral work at Northwestern in Comparative Religions and has many credentials in inter-religious organizations. Common Ground (in Deerfield) is an adult study center focusing on the world's greatest religious, philosophical and spiritu-

No registration is required. Call 847-872-4680 for more information. If you need an accommodation for a disability, please call at least one week before the scheduled event. The library is located at 2400 Gabriel Ave. in Zion and serves the communities of Beach Park, Winthrop Harbor and Zion.

Lake County Area Computer Enthusiasts will host on presentation on digital photo editing at the Grayslake Area Public Library, 100 Library Lane, Grayslake, Saturday, June 12, from 12:30-3 p.m. After a brief business meeting and a question and answer session, Ronetta Colbert will discuss Paint Shop Pro, a complete graphic and photo editing program. She will have a computer set up and will field questions on photo management and manipulation.

A nonprofit educational organization founded in 1983, Lake County Area Computer Enthusiasts (LCACE) promotes computer literacy among users of all computers. The group provides an opportunity to mingle with computer users of all levels-novice, hobbyist, and professional.

Come to the meeting. You're guaranteed to learn something, and you can become part of this "Members Helping Members" group. Membership in LCACE is open to anyone with an interest in computing, from novice to expert. There are neither age limitations nor geographic restrictions for membership. The only requirement is a genuine interest in computers. For more information, call 847-623-3815.

Rods, reels and tackle are available for free rental at the Leisure Center, 3323 Walters Avenue."For more information, call 847-291-2995.

Performances

Kirk Players' Closes Season with 'Curious Savage'

Kirk Players' is proud to present the final show of its 38th season, "Curious Savage," on Friday, June 11 and Saturday, June 12. Both productions will be performed in the air-conditioned Mundelein High School auditorium, 1350 W. Hawley St. Curtain for both productions will be 8 p.m.

Written by John Patrick, Curious Savage is a warm and gentle comedy about an elderly woman who is deposited in an institution by her stepchildren. There, she discovers the warmth and dignity of the gentle inmates of "The Cloisters." The inmates help her as she matches wits with her selfabsorbed, greedy stepchildren. Throughout it all, she maintains a refreshing dignity and humor, which makes the story richly engaging.

More information about the show and ticket availability is available by calling 847-566-6391.

Raue Center for the Arts presents a truly remarkable, influential, and unforgettable drama, Citizen Kane traces the rise of fictional publishing mogul, Charles Foster Kane, from humble beginnings to riches and accolades beyond belief. Orson Welles both stars in and directs this masterpiece which changed the industry and art of filmmaking and took both to amazing new heights.

Performance is Saturday, June 5 at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Ticket prices are $10 general seating or buy a festival pass for $18. Call 815-356-9212 for more information.

Park Fest presents 'Both Y'all Come' choir and 'British 60's Sound'

Park Fest opens the 2004 season with several exciting options. Lou Malnati's will bring its luscious Italian cuisine to Village Green Park at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 1. To open the musical festivities for the season, Northbrook's own "Y'All Come Choir" will present some of the community's favorites, followed by "The Brit Beat's" musical tribute to the British invasion music of the 1960's. Musical performances begin at 7:30 p.m. at 1810 Walters Avenue, in the heart of downtown Northbrook. Park Fest is an annual community favorite, sponsored by the Northbrook Park District. Guests are invited to bring blankets, chairs, family and friends and spread out at the Park gazebo.

This year, the Northbrook Rotary will give residents an opportunity to purchase a chance on a duck for their Annual Rotary Riverchance Rubber Ducky race, scheduled this year on Saturday, June 19 at "Surf's Up at the Green." Watch for their table, set up at Park Fest on June 1,8 and 15.

If inclement weather threatens, this concert will be held at the Leisure Center, 3323 Walters Avenue. Call 847-291-2985 on the performance day for updated weather news.

College of Lake County

New exhibit to feature 'Tramp Art'

The College of Lake County's new exhibit will feature "Tramp Art," a folk art produced in America from the end of the Civil War through the 1930s.

The exhibit titled "Tramp Art: Cultural Expression, Visual Splendor," will open Friday, May 21, with a public reception from 7-9 p.m. in the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art on the Grayslake Campus. During the reception guitarist Chris Farrell from the renowned Old Town School of Folk Music in Chicago will perform music of the civil war through the depression era.

The exhibit, continuing through Aug. 6, will feature about 40 pieces of art from Chicago area collectors. Tramp Art is characterized by highly ornate and idiosyncratic utilitarian objects carved from cigar box wood with pocket knives.

According to popular myth, these boxes, frames, crosses and sculptures were made by tramps and hoboes during the great depression for families in exchange for food and lodging.

Americans of diverse ethnicity found this form of decoration a proper and appropriate way to decorate functional objects, mark important milestones and express love, religion and the continuation of the family.

The exhibit is curated by Amy Ortiz, who is pursuing a doctoral degree in art history/decorative arts and material culture at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

The gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, May 21-June 4 and Aug. 2-6; and 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Friday June 7 -July 30. The gallery will be closed on July 5.

For information, call Steve Jones, gallery curator, at 847-543-2240.

Quest program to explore ethics and politics, Chinese culture

Quest, the College of Lake County's program for adults 50 and older, will offer two weeklong sessions this summer at CLC's Southlake Educational Center in Vernon Hills. The first program titled "Sorting Out the Truth: Finding the Ethical in the Political" will be offered June 14-17. The session will present in-depth discussions on a variety of topics, including "Leadership: Presidential and

Otherwise," "Mass Media and American Politics," "Moral Foreign Policy:

A Critical Look," "Ethics in Campaigns" and "Marketing a President." A second Quest program titled "China: The Giant Awakes" will be held July 12-15. The session will feature lectures on China's history, population policy, international trade and modern China and its superpower potential.

The session also will include a trip to the Field Museum exhibit "The Splendors of China's Forbidden City: The Glorious Reign of Emperor Qianlong."

The cost is $195 for each program or $350 for both sessions. For registration and information, call the Southlake Educational Center at 847-543-6507.

Food sanitation course in English and Spanish

This summer, the College of Lake County will offer the "Applied Food Service Sanitation" (FSM 113) course in both English and Spanish. This accelerated course will prepare food service owners, managers and employees for the Illinois and Wisconsin sanitation licensing examination, which will be given as part of the course.

One section of the course (FSM 113-101) is designed for Spanish-speaking students and will be held from 6:30-10 p.m. on Wednesdays from June 9-July 14 at the Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan. Three other class sections, for English-speaking students, will be offered, one from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays from June 7-21, another from 6-9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays from June 16-July 14 and a third from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on Mondays from July 12-26 on the Grayslake Campus.

The sanitation course also is being offered as an independent study course on CD-ROM, both in English and Spanish. Interested students must have Internet access and attend a mandatory orientation session from 6-7 p.m. on June 7 in Room A159 on the Grayslake Campus.

Additionally, a "Food Safety Refresher

Course" will be offered for certified managers who need to renew their certification. The oneday session will be held from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. on June 18 and will be repeated on July 30.

For information, call Cliff Wener, food service program coordinator, at 847-543-2823.

Aging Well Conference celebrates 'Healing Spirit'

The University of Wisconsin-Parkside hosts its 14th Aging Well Conference Friday, June 11. Featuring keynote speaker Dr. Carl Hammerschlag, the conference is an important source of information and inspiration for people who work with the elderly or who are considering it as a career.

The daylong conference begins and concludes with speeches by Dr. Hammerschlag, A gifted storyteller and an internationally respected physician, author, and healer, Dr. Hammerschlag addresses "Eldercare at the Crossroads: Sustaining Our Healing Spirit." A Yale trained psychiatrist who spent more than 20 - years working with Native Americans, Dr. Hammerschlag offers unique insights on the connections between the worlds of science, spirit, and culture.

Between presentations from Dr. Hammerschlag's at 8 a.m. and 2:15 p.m., a dozen breakout sessions are available. Participants can select from sessions on preventing falls among the elderly to senior benefit programs in Wisconsin. An early session examines "Community Care for the Elderly" while late morning sessions cover "Enhancing a Vibrant Mind and Spirit in an Aging Body" and "Caregiver Coaching." A general session at 1 p.m. looks at the "Future and Financing of Long Term Care."

"Aging well is a topic that concerns all of us," said Mark Marlaire, director of the Gerontology Wisconsin Institute. "The conference is a must for anyone working in the field of aging or considering a career in gerontology."

Thanks to a generous grant from the Helen Bader Foundation, the cost of the conference is just $65, which includes continental breakfast, lunch, and all conference materials.

Chicago Brass Band 2003 NABBA Championships

Chicago Brass Band wins North American Championship

The Chicago Brass Band, under the direction of Dr. Colin Holman, won the Championship Division of the 2004 North American Brass Band Association Competition, held April 16-17 in Charleston, West Virginia. The pieces performed by CBB were the required piece, Chivalry by Martin Ellerby, and CBB's choice piece Leonardo by Philip Wilby. This is a tremendous accomplishment, as the band has only been in existence since 2002. Some quotes from the Judges' tapes: "full of confidence" "very musical performance" very talented band" "noble and majestic sound" "lots of drive and excitement."

As a result of winning the Championship Division, the Chicago Brass Band has been invited to represent North America to compete in the Championship Section of the World Brass Band Championship, http://www.wmc.ni/new/intro/introOl.htmi, taking place July 2005 in Kerkrade, Netherlands. There will be one representative band from Australia, New Zealand, Norway, Switzerland, Belgium, and the Netherlands, as well as three bands from the United Kingdom. This is a tremendous honor and challenge for CBB.

CBB has also been invited to perform at the Great American Brass Band Festival, www.gabbf.com, in Danville, KY in June 2005.

CBB also won awards in the NABBA solo and ensemble competition. The CBB Players, a ten-piece brass ensemble, placed second in the adult brass ensemble competition. Our percussion ensemble, Chicago Percussion Project, won first place in the adult percussion ensemble competition. Amy Nelson, CBBs principal cornet, placed third in the adult high brass slow melody competition.

Our next concert will be Sunday, June 6th at 3:00 p.m. at Cantigny Park, 1 South 151 Winfield Rd., Wheaton, IL. There is a $7 per car parking fee. Call (847) 577-7468 or visit www.chicagobrassband. for more information.

We salute you

Jeff Hammonds, director of CYT Lake County musical production "Godspell" and a few young actors from the cast of over 100 Lake County youth salute "the people that protect us" as a Memorial Day appreciation weekend. "Godspell" performances took place at the Christian Arts Auditorium, 2500 Dowie Memorial Drive, Zion.

Savanna celebrates the grand excursion

In Savanna, Illinois, they're getting ready for the celebration of a lifetime. This 175-year-old city on the Mississippi River will host a weekend riverfront festival, June 25-27, to salute Grand Excursion 2004 and its grand flotilla of riverboats.

Savanna's Grand Excursion festival is part of a region-wide event that commemorates a much earlier event by the same name.

One hundred fifty years ago, the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad completed construction of the first rail link between the eastern United States and the Mississippi River which, at the time, lay on the edge of the young nation's "wild frontier." To herald its feat, the railroad launched a celebratory flotilla of riverboats up the Mississippi. On board were over 1,000 businessmen, journalists and dignitaries, whose awe-inspired reports led to the fist great wave of settlement, investment and growth in the region.

This year, Grand Excursion 2004 re-creates that history-making flotilla, and 54 communities will share in a great celebration of the mighty Mississippi River and its role in the region's heritage.

Savanna's celebration begins on the evening of Friday, June 25 with a dinner dance in nearby Thomson, Illinois. The Russ Morgan orchestra will perform big band favorites in honor of Savanna native Wayne King, a nationally-known band leader.

On Saturday morning, a 5K race and a Main Street parade will begin the festivities, and from mid-day Saturday until Sunday evening, Savanna's riverfront park will be filled with live entertainment, including a water ski show, one-man blues band Patrick Hazell, bluegrass and folk singers The Finders, and R&B artist Pistol Pete.

There will also be educational exhibits, crafters, food vendors and a beer garden.

The highlight on Sunday will be the arrival of two riverboats of the Grand Flotilla: the Celebration Belle is scheduled to dock at 3:00 p.m., and the Julia Belle Swain at 5:30 p.m. An 8:30 p.m. dinner cruise aboard the Julia Belle Swain will be accompanied by fireworks.

For more information about Savanna and the Grand Excursion Festival, visit www.savanna-il.com or call 815-273-2722. To order tickets for the Grand Flotilla, visit www.grandexcursion.com or call 866-GEX-2004.

ith the beginning of summer approaching, millions of people in the United States are enjoying boating, one of America's most popular pastimes. Whether using sailboats, powerboats or personal watercrafts such as jet-skis, the enjoyment of boating also presents dangers. As a result, it's important to protect yourself by understanding and following some basic safety rules. According to the latest U.S. Coast Guard statistics, in 2001 more than 6,419 boating accidents were reported and approximately 681 people lost their lives.

"Many boating accidents are preventable and knowing the causes of common accidents helps to avoid them," says Gurnee Allstate agent Priscilla Callans. "Nearly 70 percent of boating accidents involve operator factors such as operator inattention, careless or reckless operation, operator inexperience, no proper lookout and operating at an unsafe speed."

The Allstate Safe Boater Pledge, approved by the U.S. Coast Guard and the National Safe Boating Council, recommends that boaters:

✓ Take a boating education course, Allstate offers discounts (subject to availability and qualifications) to boaters who have successfully completed qualifying boating courses from groups such as the U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, and U.S. Power Squadron.

Museum, near Wauconda has been selected by the estate of Linda McCartney as the only site in the Chicago metro area to host the exhibition Linda McCartney's '60s - Portrait of an Era. It opened April 17 and is running through July 25, this outstanding collection of photographs provides an intimate and exciting glimpse into the lives of top 1960s musicians through the lens of then Rolling Stone magazine photographer, Linda McCartney. The highly acclaimed exhibition features 50 photographs of rock, R&B, and folk music icons including Jimi Hendrix, Aretha Franklin, the Rolling Stones, Arlo Guthrie, the Grateful Dead, Janis Joplin, B.B. King, and of course, The Beatles.

While visiting the exhibition, visitors will also have fun with "groovy" hands-on activities, and exhibits, many on loan from Chicago's future Sixties Museum, all celebrating the '60s music scene. Additionally, a special guitar exhibition will be featured from the historic and innovative Washburn Guitar Company.

Visitors to the nationally accredited Lake County Discovery Museum will also enjoy the award winning Museum's interactive permanent exhibits including the Lake County Mall of History, the Vortex Roller Coaster Theater, and Bringing the World Home, show'Linda McCartney's Sixties -Portrait of an Era'

s soon as the weather gets even a little warm, the first thing most boat owners want to do is hit the open waters. But before setting sail, there are a few things you need to do to get ready for the season, no matter what kind of boat you have. Although it may set you back a few days or hours on the water, follow these suggestions and those in your owner's manual for specific maintenance instructions prior to putting your boat back on the water:

 Battery: Clean the cables with a wire brush and reconnect. You may have to fill the cells with distilled water.

Boat exterior and interior: Check the boat for rotting, cracks or leaks. (Ask the boatyard personnel if you need help with the inspection). Check the packing gland on your propeller and rudder shafts to prevent sinkings at the dock. Packing can wear out and should be checked. Tighten packing or renew its material if there's extreme leaking. If it's hard to reach, have it repacked once a year or replace it with a dripless model.

 Cooling and fuel system: You may have flushed the cooling system with antifreeze to prevent it from freezing over winter. Now, flush it out and replace it with the right coolant. Keep extra onboard. Replace any hoses with cracks. Replace the fuel filter (keep spares onboard) and examine fuel tanks.

· Electrics: Examine all electrical circuits and wiring. Look for chafing or worn areas that cold weather short circuits. Spray wiring and strips with anticorrosion protectant. Test and charge batteries, replacing as needed.

 Hoses and clamps: Make sure hoses are not soft, cracked or brittle. If they are damaged, change them. Hoses should have the right number of clamps (it varies based on where the hose is) and show no signs of corrosion.

 Rigging: Many boats use cables for steering, engine controls and lifelines. Inspect the ends for tiny flaws with a magnifying glass. With a thin paper cloth, run your hand along wire ropes to find broken strands.
 Replace any damaged wire.

Safety equipment: Each piece should be thoroughly inspected. Examine life jackets, life rings, life rafts, dinghies and cushions for holes, deterioration, proper fit and buoyancy. Make sure fire extinguishers are functional and not expired. Replace old flares and distress signals. Test the radio. Sound all warning sound devices like a whistle or horn and examine the radar reflector. Check compass, charts and navigation lights. Replenish first aid supplies.

Trailer: Inspect the trailer if you'll be towing the boat. Check tires and spares for cracks, worn treads and correct tire pressure.
 Tighten bolts and screws. Spin tires to ensure the bearings operate well and are well-lubricated. Test breaks and gauge the brake fluid level. Inspect the electrical system for worn wires or loose connections. Examine and grease the hubs. Test the back-up and taillights, replacing any broken bulbs or cracked wires. If you find rust, sand it off and prime it to prevent further damage.

Senior Da is on the move

fter 31 years Lake County's Senior Citizen Day will be changing Independence Grove in Libertyville and adding several new events and activities to its already tremendously popular routine. The event that typically draws between three and five thousand of Lake County's senior citizens will now give them even more reason to come back year after year.

The event will be held on June 23 starting at 9 am and running

Though the change is only temporary, the event as a whole will be reevaluated after this year to determine whether or not the change was for the better. Regardless of where the event ends up, the number of things to do has multiplied with the location change.

"We looked at some of the programs and offerings from years past," Marketing Director of the Lake County Forest Preserve Mary Longyhore said. "After some research we wanted to offer activities for active lifestyles like swimming and boating, and introduce everyone to Independence Grove."

The move comes for two reasons. First and foremost, construction on Fairfield Road near Lakewood Forest Preserve in Wauconda, where the event is normally held, could cause potential traffic problems with the thousands expected to attend. That worry, in conjunction with the opportunity for new activities are the reason for this year's change.

This year will feature new programs like swimming, pontoon boat rides, native garden tours and biking along the miles of trial for those who choose to bring their bicycle along. Another added bonus this year will be an air-conditioned building, a luxury the years past have been lacking. The air-conditioned visitor center will be home to sponsored booths and the ever-popular BINGO tables.

This year's changes only continue in the long line of progressions the senior day has made in the past 14 years. In 1970 Helen Bellmont-Amendola and Matt Miholic came together and created the Senior Citizens Picnic. But in 1990, with the guidance of Larry Leafblad, private sponsors were used for funding instead of the forest preserve's budget. Since then programs, activities and prizes have all increased for those in attendance to make it a more enjoyable day for everyone.

"This is an event we all look forward to," Longyhore said. "To come together and see the seniors and give back to them, it's an extremely rewarding event."

Independence Grove can be found on Buckley Rd. (Route 137) just east of Milwaukee Ave. -By Brian Janosch

Spider Man

Two years have passed, and the mild-mannered Peter Parker faces new challenges as he struggles with "the gift and the curse," desperately trying to bal-ance his dual identities as the web-slinging superhero Spider-Man and his life as a college student. Tormented by his secrets, Peter finds that his relationships with all those he holds dear are in danger of unraveling. His life-long yearning for

M.J. (Kirsten Dunst) becomes even stronger as he fights the impulse to reveal his secret life and declare his love. His friendship with Harry Osborn (James Franco) is complicated by the young Osborn's bitterness over his father's death and his growing vendetta against Spider-Man. Even Peter's beloved Aunt May (Rosemary Harris), who has fallen on hard times after the death of Uncle Ben, begins to have doubts about her nephew.

Peter's life is about to become even more complicated as he encounters a formidable new foe — Dr. Otto Octavius (Alfred Molina). Peter must use all the powers at his disposal to try to stop this diabolical madman in his octagonal tracks.

Round Lake Beach the place for teens

or most teenagers, summer hangouts consist of the beach, a pool, restaurants or any other assortment of airconditioned buildings. But something those places all have in common is that teens can never really call any of them their own.

That is about to change for teenagers in the Round Lake area this summer as a brand new teen center has been finished and will open its doors to all the 13 to 18-year-olds in the community on June 7.

"(The center) will give them ownership of something that is all theirs," said Jeff Nehila, Executive Director of the Round Lake Area Park District. "When people are acknowledged and cared about they tend to give back to the community and supervise their own conduct."

The teen center, located on Orchard Avenue, past Hook Drive, behind the Kohl's, will start its first program on that opening day which will be a summer camp that will run from 9-4 everyday. Those enrolled in the camp will be able to participate in sports, arts and crafts, leisure activities, day trips and even pick up on some life skills like computer training.

"We are really targeting kids aged 13-18," Nehila said. "It's a real specific demographic that we want to be able to continually serve because that's such an integral age for character development."

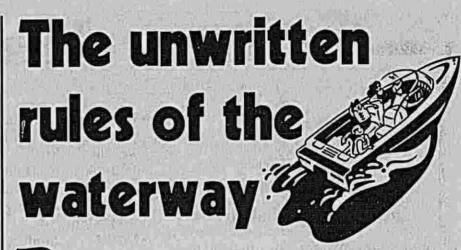

The roots of the newly finished teen center reach back as far as five years ago when land was acquired and two houses were transformed into a child care center and a teen center. They tried to remodel and finish the house to their liking based solely on donations, but that wasn't enough money to truly offer everything they wanted to give to the teens.

Finally the park district decided to fund the completion of the project themselves to create another venue for their programming. The new center now has four "breakout" rooms for individual mentoring or parenting or basic classroom activities like crafts. There is also a large activity room for table games, TV watching or playing video games. The center also contains an outdoor area for basketball and a garage that is home to Ping-Pong

More activities and programs will come once the center grows and the staff can assess accordingly. Until then teens will finally be able to call a place their own whether they attend the camp or simply show up to hangout.

By Brian Janosch

roper manners is more than just practicing good social graces like saying "please" and "thank you." Manners transcend to the waters with a thing called "boating etiquette." It's a school of unwritten rules about the ways of the water and behaviors that every boater seems to somehow learn and know. Fellow boaters are like house neighbors — they are considerate of one another and follow similar "rules."

Good boating manners make for better experiences on the high seas. Here are a few etiquette tips that can help make your sailing smoother.

 Know the rules of the "waterways." The best way to learn how to act on the water is to take a certified boating coarse. It will teach you safety procedures and how to operate and handle a boat. Plus, you can often get discounted boat insurance, not to mention keeping your family and crew safer.

Respect the environment. Be kind to water, one of Earth's most precious resources. That means avoiding fuel spills and not dumping garbage into the water. Avoid grounding on areas like reefs.

Minimize noise pollution. Respect people's right to privacy. Dock away from other boaters if you have barking dogs or rowdy children on board, especially at night. Keep comments about fellow boaters to yourself.

 Don't board a boat without permission. You don't enter someone's home without an invitation. The same goes for boating — always ask permission before boarding and wait to be escorted, even if you're invited aboard.

 Play it safe. Always bring along the proper safety gear, including life jackets and communications equipment. Consult local boating groups or the U.S. Coast Guard to determine the minimum safety gear you need on board.

 Make good decisions. A good decision is a safe one. Don't race other boats or attack a boat if it cuts you off. That means making safety the goal. Remember — a safe decision includes not "drinking while driving" a boat.

• Be a good guest. Guests have certain responsibilities whether they are on board for the day or a week. Overall, guests need to be safe. So, it's best if crew members teach guests safety procedures, any duties expected of them and the "rules" of the boat (no smoking, no running, etc). Guests should be told not to touch any gauges, buttons, radios or other instruments meant for the crew. Remind guests they should wait until the boat has docked to gather personal items or move toward the exit. Such actions can distract the captain by rocking the boat as he is trying to dock.

Assist other boaters. Any boater will appreciate help if he has broken down, run out of gas or has engine trouble. As a fellow boater, call for help or lend a helping hand. You'd want someone to do the same for you. If there is no dockmaster or helper on hand to assist those docking and undocking, you may also want to offer assistance to them.

• Anchor with care. Enter the anchorage or mooring area slowly. That way you won't create waves that can disturb someone who is trying to anchor his boat. The first boat in the anchorage determines where you can swing the anchor. Don't get too close to boats that are anchoring and if anyone in the area thinks you are too close to them, move away. That way, you'll avoid getting your anchor lines tangled with another boater's and banging your boat into another's.

See the best of the season at the Chicago Botanic Garden

he Chicago Botanic Garden in summer is a place of "garden wows." At each bend and in every nook, visitors find a living canvas painted with colorful flowers, shrubs and trees on a background of beautiful lakes and blue skies.

Summer 2004 at the Chicago Botanic Garden offers something for everyone, including a new and improved Model Railroad Garden: See America! Visitors of all ages delight in the sights and sounds of 14 model railroad trains traversing bridges and trestles among miniature scenes of America's best-loved landmarks and beautiful gardens planted to scale. Event fee applies.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Chicago
Botanic Garden's collection includes:
818,916 bulbs.
13,505 vines
927,791 perennials
1,351 annuals
9,955 frees

Another popular attraction returning to the Garden this summer is the Great Chef Series. Forty of the Chicago area's best chefs give free cooking demonstrations in the open-air kitchen of the Regenstein Fruit & Vegetable Garden. Recipes featuring garden-fresh ingredients are prepared at 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday throughout the summer. The line-up includes chefs from some of the best new restaurants, such as Vermilion, Pluton and Gilbert's, as well as some older favorites.

The majestic beauty of carillon bells on a warm summer evening is one of the loveliest sounds in the Chicago Botanic Garden. During the Carillon Concert Series. visitors can bring a picnic dinner and enjoy it on the lawn by McGinley Pavilion, while e n j o y i n g panoramic vistas of Evening Island, where the carillon bell tower makes its home. Free carillon tours are at 6 p.m., with concerts beginning at 7 p.m. on Mondays from June 21 through August 23.

New this summer is Garden Antiques at the Chicago Botanic Garden, a shopping area filled with antiques for the garden, including benches, chairs, fountains, urns, ironwork, tools and sculpture. The grand opening features special free weekend events on June 12 and 13, including a demonstration by master potter Guy Wolff, of New Preston, Conn., and a talk by Beau and Nancy Kimball of Kimball & Bean, Woodstock, Ill. They will speak on the history and lore of garden antiques and their use in decorating the garden. Shopping hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays, and from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekends, through Labor Day.

The traditional culture of Japan takes center stage at the annual Japan Festival on June 12 and 13. Modeled after Japanese ancestral festivals, which celebrate the seasonal harvest, this popular event features Japanese flower arranging, dance, music and food.

Visitors will enjoy two special art exhibits in the Garden's Gallery from July 3 through Sept. 6. More than 40 images from "Garden in Focus," a juried competition sponsored by North Shore Magazine, will be on display. Amateur and professional photographers submitted nearly 1,000 images of the Chicago Botanic Garden in five categories: landscape, close-up, people in the Garden, experimental and undiscovered places.

Watercraft registration information

Il watercraft, with the exception of sailboards, must be registered and titled, except a watercraft that is non-powered, owned and operated on water completely impounded on land belonging to the watercraft owner. This does not apply to water controlled by a club or association.

Registration for brand-new vehicles can only be accomplished by an authorized dealer.

Visit The Illinois Department of Natural Resources web site at http://dnr.state.il.us/ for full details regarding watercraft registration.

The Illinois Department of Natural Resources now offers on-line registration renewal. Receive your new registration card back to you computer screen within about a minute. They accept either VISA or MasterCard.

If you have changed your address or any other particulars, you can also revise your watercraft registration on-line.

Or renew your registration by phone, Dial 1-800-TO-RELICENSE (1-800-867-3542), 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Before calling, watercrafters are reminded that they need their registration card, a Master Card or Visa Card, a pen or pencil and a piece of paper in front of them. The pen or pencil will be needed to record the confirmation number assigned at the end of the call.

hen an emergency strikes on water, a life jacket can make the difference between life and death. That's why you want to be sure you have the right life jacket onboard — preferably one for each member of your boating party.

Selecting a life jacket

When you're dealing with water, fashion or price shouldn't factor into your life jacket decision. Choose your life jacket based on what you will be doing in the water as well as the water conditions. Life jackets vary in shape, color and material — just make sure you get one that's suited for you.

The label on the jacket will indicate if it's designed for your weight, and the proper uses for its level of durability. Following are common types of life jackets:

Type One: It's designed for open, rough waters, or where it may be hard to be rescued. While it's bulky, it provides the best flotation and turns most unconscious wearers from a face-down position to a face-up position. It usually comes in a visible color and in a few different sizes.

Type Two: It's geared for calm or inland waters, making it the proper choice for boating or fishing. It's used in waters where there is a good chance of a fast rescue. Type Two jackets are more comfortable than Type Ones, but they cannot be relied upon to turn unconscious wearers to a face-up position consistently. As a result, they are not good for long hours in rough water.

Type Three: This jacket is designed for calm waters where there is a good chance of a fast rescue. It's the most comfortable type of life jacket available in many styles, making it good for general boating or the activity marked on the label. It's not recommended for rough waters since the wearer's head can be covered by waves where the jacket cannot provide adequate flotation.

Select a life jacket that is U.S. Coast Guard approved (which means it has endured intense testing), properly sized and in a visible color. Child-size life jackets list the weight range geared for the jacket and should feature a crotch strap, an oversized float collar

For all ages, a life jacket should fit snugly but comfortably when all straps, zippers and ties are fastened. Test the jacket on land and on water. If you raise your arms over your head, the life jacket should stay in place. Have someone lift the jacket up by the shoulders; it should stay in place. If you can, test the jacket in a pool or in shallow water prior to use on open water. Relax your body and tilt your head back. Your chin should be above water and you should be able to breathe easily. Another water test is to jump into a pool feet first from a platform the same height as your boat. The life jacket should not pop off over your head. Once you find one that's suitable, put your name on it so you wear one that is sized just for you.

Inspection

Twice a year, re-inspect all jackets. Make sure children still fit into theirs — children grow fast so their jackets will need to be replaced often. Inspect jackets for tears, holes, deterioration or ripped seams. Patch any small holes, but replace the jacket if they are large enough for water to seep in. Buckles and zips should fasten easily. There should be no mildew odor or signs of shirking. Test the jacket in water again to make sure it still floats. If it failed any of these tests, throw your jacket away.

Care and maintenance

Proper care and maintenance of your life jacket can help it last for years.

After a day of boating, let your jacket dry thoroughly in a wellventilated place before putting it away. If you were in salt water, rinse the jacket thoroughly with fresh water. Also remember that heat damages life jackets. That's why you shouldn't leave it aboard a boat in the sun when the boat is not in use. Also, don't dry your life jacket in a dryer, on a radiator, heater or other heat source, which can damage it.

Family Toddler Tyme Expo to be buzzing with activities

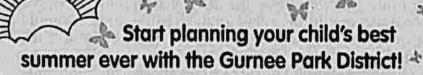

The 2004 Family Toddler Tyme Expo presents a day filled with entertainment, crafts and resources for parents and their families on June 12, from 11 a.m.-6 p.m., at the Libertyville Sports Complex, on Route 45 and Peterson Road, in Libertyville. This new first-time event will provide informational exhibits to educate parents on what is available in their area and promises to be a great time for the kids!

No one will want to miss their chance to meet the 'real' Marvel Comic Spider-Man! Spidey will be available all day long to meet with his fans and to talk about his movie coming out this July. Spider-Man will pose for photos, sign autographs and show kids how to shoot Spidey-style. Many other characters will be around to say a big "Hello" to, including Sponge Bob, Blue, Cat In The Hat and more.

Everyone can enjoy entertainment throughout the day. The Bubba Art Bus is a great attraction from the ArtWorks Children's Museum for kids to create masterpieces to take home. Your little ones can show off their skills at The Little Gym Event Area or putting around at the Monster Golf miniature golf booth. Kids will also enjoy rock climbing on the area1s largest climbing wall, create crafts, face painting, and much more. Ice sculptures will be on display for everyone to touch on a second level

otawatomi Casino announced plans to open 10 poker tables on the second level of facility, according to genmanager, Goodrich. The target opening is scheduled for late-April.

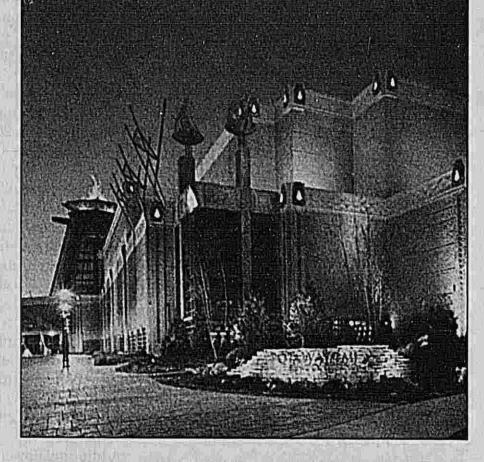

"This will mark the first time that Potawatomi Bingo Casino has offered poker games in which players compete against one another rather than against the house," Goodrich said. "The popularity of events like the World Poker Tour is growing and we're excited to be able to offer our guests this unique form of casino entertainment." Potawatomi plans to include Texas Hold'em, Omaha and 7-Card Stud tables, with a few variations to some of the games. Initial plans are for the poker room to be non-smoking, include beverage service, and be open a minimum of 16 hours every day. The casino will not server alcohol in the poker room.

"This is another exciting addition to the gaming line up at our casino that also creates new employment and training opportunities for our staff," Goodrich added.

The planned addition of the poker room is the latest in a series of new elements at Potawatomi Bingo Casino since signing its amended agreement with the State of Wisconsin last year. Over 80 full-time jobs have been added to support the new games. In recent months, the casino has added a high limit slot area and craps, roulette, and Letin Ride Bonus Poker®; increased its betting limits and hours of operation; installed a fourth pit of table games; and built a nonsmoking casino on the facility's second floor.

Casino information can be obtained by calling 1-800-PAYS BIG, or by visiting www.paysbig.com. Information about jobs at Potawatomi Bingo Casino is available by calling (414) 847-8181 www.better-

Flower Shows and Sales

Local affiliates of the Garden Club of America present the biennial Show of Summer. "H2O" is the theme of this unique flower and gardening event on June 19 and 20. The show features workshops, lectures, and competitive exhibits in flower arranging and horticulture. The Kenilworth Garden Club, the Garden Clubs of Barrington and Evanston, the Lake Forest Garden Club, the Winnetka a Garden Club and the Garden Guild of Winnetka host the show.

Chicago
Botanic Garden volunteers host the annual Roadside Flower
Sale, a display

than 400 natural, handmade dried flower arrangements, from August 6 through 8. The sale showcases ideas on how to decorate indoors and make gifts from the Garden's specially collected dried flowers, pods and grasses. To prepare for the sale, the Garden hosts dried flower-arranging workshops July 30 through August 2.

Participants receive materials and containers to create arrangements, which are then donated to the sale.

The Midwest Bonsai Society's 27th annual show and sale is on August 20 through 22. This popular summer event draws bonsai enthusiasts from all over the country, who come to view more than 200 specimens, as well as selections from the Garden's own outstanding bonsai collection. Workshops for all levels of bonsai enthusiasts are featured.

"Let's Dance," an advanced standard flower show hosted by the Garden Clubs of Illinois, features 80 floral arrangements, which interpret every type of dance from the Varsity Drag to the Viennese Waltz. Horticulture entries are open to all amateur gardeners. The State Flower Show takes place

August 28 and 29 at the Chicago Botanic Garden.

Additional flower shows being held at the Garden include the North Shore Iris and Daylily Society Iris Show and Sale, June 5 and 6; Wisconsin-Illinois Lily Society Show, July 10 and 11; North Shore Iris and Daylily Society Daylily Show and Sale, July 24 and 25; and the Gardeners of the North Shore Show and Sale, Aug. 14 and 15.

Educational Opportunities

The Discovery Program offers visitors of all ages the opportunity explore a variety of gardening topics with volunteers in an informal setting. Volunteers are available in the Regenstein Fruit &Vegetable, English Walled and Japanese gardens through Oct.

10. Programs in the Enabling Garden run through Sept. 30.

Visitors can hop on a narrated Grand Tram tour, which makes stops at the Evaluation Gardens, Children's Garden and the Prairie, and gives an overview of the entire Garden, including spectacular views of the Japanese Garden and Evening Island.

Nature lovers, from the beginning gardener to the seasoned professional, will find inspiration at dozens of summer courses offered through the School of the Chicago Botanic Garden. School courses are grouped into five categories: plant materials, gardening, nature studies, landscape design, and botanical arts and humanities courses. For a catalog, or to register, call 847-835-8261 or visit www.chicagobotanic.org/continuinged.

iscover adventure on your bicycle by doing a one-day invitational ride or a multi-day tour of Illinois. The rides give bicyclists the opportunity to explore new terrain, enjoy new experiences, meet other bicyclists and learn about the state's great diversity all at an easy pace.

Each year bicycle clubs, charities, towns, chambers of commerce and other groups around the state invite bicyclists of all ages and abilities to come ride in their areas. Any easy way to find a ride or tour in your area is to go to the website of the League of Illinois Bicycles (LIB), www.bikelib.org.

The site lists the rides by month and provides details on dates, locations, distances, costs, goodies and how to register. Most are one-day events occurring from May to October. But for the dedicated, hardy cyclists, invitational rides are available during the colder months as well. Some rides or tours can last a weekend or a week.

Ride sponsors have a field day naming the rides, such as A Red Flannel Affair in St. Joseph, Folks on Spokes in University Park, Tour de Stooges in Lebanon, Udder Century in Union, Chase the Moon in Aurora, Bike Psychos' Century in Coal City and the Pumpkin Pie Ride in Ottawa.

These are all one-day invitation rides of varying distances, depending on the choice of the rider. The events usually provide rest stops where you can snack and fill your water bottles. They also provide sag vehicles which travel the course to help cyclists who have a mechanical breakdown or can't go on for any reason. Some rides also provide free t-shirts, a meal at the end of a ride, a goody bag and entertainment.

A good day of bicycle touring burns as many as 3,000 calories, which means each evening a cyclist's engine must be fed to be ready for the next day. For many, that's a major joy of cycling - being able to tackle a big meal after a day of pedaling knowing that tomorrow you'll be back on the bike burning off those calories.

For those who don't want to do one-day organized rides or longer tours, there are plenty of bicycle routes and trails where riders can go when and where they want. Check the first LIB website above, your library, book store or bicycle shop for books or pamphlets on routes and trails in Illinois. One good resource is "Bicycle Trails of Illinois", published by American Bike Trails of Wadsworth, Il.

Another good source of information is the Illinois Department of Transportation, which offers nine regional maps with bicycle routes and trails plus other valuable information for each area. For a free set, call, 217-782-0834 or go online at www.dot.state.il.us/bikemap/bikehome.htm.

Also, the Chicagoland Bicycle Federation (CBF) publishes a great bicycling map for the Chicago metropolitan area for $6.95. To order, call 312-427-3325 or go online at www.biketraffic.org.

If readers have comments or questions about bicycling, they can send an e-mail to: schottcycle@aol.com.)

Play it safe from poisonous plants

oxic plants can cause serious harm to people and pets, Illinois Poison Center (IPC) experts warn. As preparation for the spring planting season begins, the IPC urges gardeners and homeowners to use caution when selecting plants, trees and shrubs for their yards.

"Many people choose plants, shrubs and trees for their gardens and landscaping without knowing that they could be poisonous to their family and pets," said Dr. Michael Wahl, managing medical director, IPC. "The IPC recommends that homeowners first find out which plants are potentially toxic to make an informed decision about using such plants in or around the home."

While many plants are toxic, some of the most popular plants used in landscaping can be poisonous, which include lily-of-the-valley, azalea, rhododendron, amaryllis, foxglove, morning glory and buckeye.

Prevent poisonings from toxic plants

The best way to protect family members from an accidental poisoning is to practice poison prevention. Experts recommend the following:

Keep all houseplants out of children's reach.

 Teach children never to put mushrooms, berries or any part of a plant (including leaves, flowers, stems, bulbs or seeds) into their

 Know the names of all plants in and around the house. Label each plant with the correct common and botanical name. Consult a local greenhouse, nursery or florist to identify unknown plants.

· Consult the IPC's toxic plant list to find out which plants may be poisonous.

 Consider uprooting poisonous plants; replace them with plants that are non-toxic.

Do not assume a plant is safe because birds or wildlife eat it. Some plants that birds and wildlife eat can be extremely dangerous to human beings.

· Post the IPC phone number (1-800-222-1222) on or near all telephones, and in other convenient locations.

Symptoms of plant poisoning

Symptoms of plant poisoning vary depending on the type of plant involved. Some plants can cause skin rash or irritation, which may be serious and painful. Other plants, if eaten, can cause vomiting or diarrhea. Exposure to a small amount of some plants may cause more serious problems with the heart, kidneys or other organs. Some plants may even result in death. People should call the Illinois Poison Center at 1-800-222-1222 immediately if a plant poisoning is suspected.

U.S. Cellular Kenosha Days of Discovery announces 2004 ship line-up

> and traded as USM on the American Stock Exchange

ive historic and environmental vessels will again grace Kenosha's harborfront this summer, August 4-8 for the 2004 U.S. Cellular Kenosha Days of Discovery. Focusing on history, the environment, youth education and Kenosha's prime location on Lake Michigan, the maritime festival will welcome the return of the HMS Bounty and several other magnificent and historic sailing vessels known as "tall ships."

"We have an impressive line-up—the ships are three times bigger than those we hosted last year," said Patricia Lock, port organizer. The Bounty will be joined by the U.S. Brig Niagara, a 198' brig from Erie, Pa., the largest wooden sailing ship in the Great Lakes, which is making a rare appearance in Lake Michigan. Also appearing this year is Milwaukee's S/V Denis Sullivan, 137' replica of an 18th century Great Lakes Schooner, and the Highlander Sea, a 154' schooner from Port Huron, Mich., that was built in 1924. The four historic ships will be joined by 71' Neeskay, the primary environmental research vessel from the Great Lakes Water Institute in Milwaukee. All five vessels promote history, sail training and the environment as their missions.

"The city of Kenosha is pleased to team up with U.S. Cellular once again this summer to showcase our beautiful harbor and these breathtaking tall ships," said John Antaramian, mayor of Kenosha.
"This event offers great history, education, and entertainment while providing a positive economic benefit for our community. More than 60,000 visitors from Kenosha and surrounding cities and states toured the visiting ships in 2003. We're ready to host new visitors again this year."

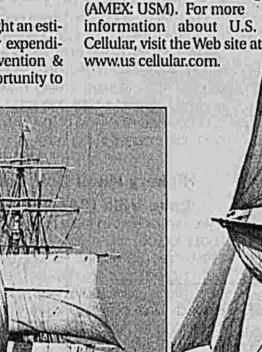

The 2003 U.S. Cellular Kenosha Days of Discovery brought an estimated $1.2 million economic impact to the area in visitor expenditures," said Mary Galligan, president, Kenosha Area Convention & Visitors Bureau. "The festival gave the Kenosha area an opportunity to showcase our lakefront and positively impact the impression that these visitors have about our community. We expect many of these visitors will return to the Kenosha area for future visits and share their experience with friends and relatives, resulting in even more tourism and goodwill for the Kenosha area.'

The event - themed "Wind, Water and Song" - will include an eclectic array of live music to match everyone's tastes, maritime and art exhibits, fireworks and great food, day sails, and many activities for children. Live entertainment on the main stage will be the highlight with a cross section of musical genres including country, shanty, Irish and jazz. Children attending the festival will enjoy roving characters and magicians, and special events such as a pirate look-alike contest on Saturday, August 7. Pier Wisconsin returns this year with new water exploration exhibits and the U.S. Cellular Kids Station will have activities such as face painting and tattoos.

U.S. Cellular Corporation, the nation's eighth largest wireless service carrier, provides wireless service to more than 4.4 million customers in 147 markets throughout 26 states. The wireless company has provided service in Wisconsin since 1985. The 20-year-old, Chicago-based company operates on a customer satisfaction strategy, meeting customers' needs by providing a comprehensive range of products and services, superior customer support, and a high-quality network. U.S. Cellular is listed

Antioch Golf Club, Antioch (847-395-3004)

The year 2003 brought Antioch Golf Course a new clubhouse and a lot of excitement. Antioch is one of Lake County's best values with rates sometimes under $15. If you're looking for a course that is nice, but not expensive — this is it.

Bittersweet Golf Club, Gurnee (847-855-9031)

Still one of the newer courses in Lake County, Bittersweet is a hard course for beginners, but a nice challenge for the veteran golfer. Not the longest course in the county, but you must hit accurate irons. The scenery is also great.

Bonnie Brook Golf Course, Waukegan (847-360-4730)

One of the oldest courses in the area, but still a goodie. Lots of trees make this course very challenging. Although not as flashy as some of the newer clubs, Bonnie Brook has a classic quality that should make the course part of any golfer's rotation.

Brae Loch Golf Course, Grayslake (847-223-5542)

If you are relatively new at the sport and looking to play 18 holes of forgiving gotf, Brae Loch is for you. A slice into the next fairway won't punish you too badly at Brae Loch, as you can usually have a clean shot back to your hole. The price is right as well. Around $20 can get you 18 holes with a cart.

Carillon North, Grayslake (847-548-4713)

The perfect course for the lunch-time golfer. This par-3 nine-hole club is only a few years old. Tucked just off of Rollins Road, you won't normally drive by it, but if your looking for a quick round of golf to test your short irons—you should look them up.

Countryside Golf Course, Mundelein (847-566-5544)

Two 18-hole runs to choose from. Part of the Lake County Forest Preserve system, you will get a nice price and fun round of golf at both courses.

Deerfield Golf Course, Deerfield (847-945-8333)

Another classic course, Nothing fancy, but a good course to get in 18 holes and have a little fun.

Foss Park Golf Course, North Chicago (847-689-7490)

Been around for a while. A nice course if you're just learning to play the game.

Four Winds Golf Club, Mundelein (847-566-8502)

Fox Lake Country Club, Fox Lake (847-587-6411)

Challenging, long and the pride of Fox Lake.

Heather Ridge, Gurnee (847-367-6010)

When most people think of a nine-hole golf course, they many times assume that it must be easy. This is not the case with Heather Ridge. Despite being only nine holes, Heather Ridge is one the better golf courses in Lake County. One par-five, mixed in with two parthrees and six par-fives, this is by no means your average nine-hole club. One of the best nine hole courses in the state.

Hickory Knoll Golf Course, Lake Villa (847-356-8640)

If you are looking to learn how to galf, Hickory Knoll is for you. Nine relatively short, mostly parthree holes are not the fanciest in the area, but a great opportunity to break in your new clubs and learn how the game is played. The cost is also very reasonable at around ten bucks a round.

Kemper Lakes Golf Course, Long Grove (847-320-3450)

The standard for many years. Home to professional golf championships and national golf magazines' praise. More than one hundred dollars to play, Kemper is still a good value. If you are going to shell out that kind of money you must be a serious golfer, and if you are...then Kemper is a must.

Lakemoor Golf Club, Lakemoor (815-759-0011

Just across the Lake-McHenry county border near Route 120 and 12. This course had been in the works for years and opened recently to the delight of many. Very reasonable, its not unusual for four golfers to golf Lakemoor with a cart for under $100. Great value.

Libertyville Golf Course, Libertyville (847-362-5733)

Probably the shortest par-three nine-hole course in the county. Another course to add to the beginner's list of friendly places to learn the game. Even a good golfer can have a little fun at Libertyville by practicing their nine iron.

Marriot Lincolnshire Golf, Lincolnshire (847-634-5935)

This resort course is very popular with both Lake County golfers, as well as out-of-towners. Nice conditions, tight fairways. Challenging. Fun.

> Midlane Country Club, Wadsworth (847-623-4653)

One of Lake County's finest golf courses. 27 holes of scenic fairways, challenging greens and -oh, yes—the dreaded water. If you are a fairly decent golfer, you are going to love Midlane. Also has a great nightclub.

Orchard Hills Country Club, Waukegan (847-336-5118)

Hard to find more open fairways in Lake County. Definitely not one of the hardest courses in the area, but a nice 18 hole course for those that shoot in 100's.

> Pine Meadow Golf Club, Mundelein (847-566-4653)

one of the premier golf magazines in the nation. The reputation has remained with Pine Meadow over the years, as it remains on the top courses in Lake County, Sister club to Cog Hill — home of the Western Open, Pine Meadow is groomed by some of the best greenskeepers in the Chicagoland-area.

Renwood Golf Course, Round Lake Beach (847-231-4711)

Few courses have change as much over the past few years as Renwood. A new clubhouse, new driving range and a modified course layout, Renwood continues to get better as it gets older. Nicely priced, especially for RL residents, Renwood is a great value, as well as a challenge.

Shepherd's Crook, Zion (847-872-2080)

Far and away the best kept secret in Lake County. This is a fantastic golf cause and usually runs less than $40 a round. Comparable golf courses in Illinois go for $80+. Nice scenery, fast greens and excellent fairways. If you haven't yet played Shepherd, add it to your list.

Steeple Chase Golf Club, Mundelein (847-949-8900)

Another one of those courses that you don't drive by very often, as it is tucked away behind Countyside on Hawley in Mundelein. This is a very nice course, however, and should be thought of when planning your next outing. Nice fairways, good course.

Stonewall Orchard, Grayslake

(847-740-4890) Home of the 2003 US Open local qualifier tournament. If that doesn't show what kind of course Stonewall is, I don't know what would. Despite being just a couple of years old, Stonewall has shot right up the charts to become many golfers' favorite club. Perfect greens and fairways. Stonewall is not the cheapest course in the area, but definitely worth the money as one of the absolute best. Ranked 5th best public course in Chicago by Golf Digest this spring.

ThunderHawk Golf Club, Beach Park (847-872-4295)

A few years ago, three new golf courses opened up that set a new standard for Lake County golf. Stonewall Orchard, White Deer Run and Thunderhawk. The gem of the Lake County Forest Preserve courses, no course in the area can match the wildlife views offered by ThunderHawk. Voted "America's Best Public Course" in this year's Golfweek magazine rankings.

Village Green Country Club, Mundelein (847-566-7373)

Another forgiving golf course, where a horrible slice won't kill your chance at a par. If you are an average weekend golfer, this club may be the answer. Not too many spots for trouble, this is your best chance to break 90. Fun course,

White Deer Run Golf Course, Vernon Hills (847-680-6100)

Ranks with the best in Lake County. Nicely laid out, good fairways, satellite-global positioning system on carts let you know your exact yardage to the pin, water and all hazards. Already a top five course in the area in just its first few years.

Boredom busters for rainy summer days

Imagine a hot summer afternoon with blue skies and a touch of a breeze to make the heat bearable. You have visions of tender steaks and roasted corn on the cob dancing in your head. Now look up. A menacing dark cloud has just crawled over your neighborhood. The first fat drops of rain hit your head. Now what do you do, when your grilling plans have sizzled into a torrential downpour?

Here are some ideas to bust the boredom in your area of Lake County. See what malls, movie theaters, and bowling alleys have to offer you in the rainy summer days.

'Family friendly' food contest at the Lake County Fair

If your family always clamors for your "famous" potato salad or those melt-in-your-mouth cheese puffs, get ready to enter your favorite creation in the Hidden Valley Family Friendly Food Contest at the Lake County Fair.

In its second year, the Hidden Valley Family Friendly Contest offers $325 in local cash prizes and a new $1,000 national grand prize.

To enter your own family favorite recipe, deliver any appetizer, casserole, sizzling stir-fry, or other creation that includes The Original Ranch flavor of Hidden Valley Salad Dressing & Seasoning Mix. First place wins $175; second $100; and third $50. The focus is on convenience and flavor, with entries judged on family appeal (40 percent), taste appeal (40 percent) appearance (10 percent) and ease of preparation (10 percent).

The contest is open to cooks 18 years or older, one entry per person. Recipes must be homemade, "from scratch."

Entries are judged at the fairgrounds. For complete contest guidelines, call the Lake County Fair entry office at 847-223-2204.

Original Ranch Drummettes

- I packet (I oz) Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing Mix
- •1/4 cup vegetable oil
- •24 chicken drummettes

Combine dressing mix and oil in large bowl. Add drummettes; toss well to coat. Arrange on rack placed in foil lined baking pan; bake at 425 for 25 minutes. Turn drummettes over; bake additional 20 minutes. Makes 24 drummettes. Spicy hot variation: add 2 tbls. red pepper sauce to dressing mixture before coating.

ummer party planning always seems to be a hassle between accounting for heat, bugs, wind or any other number of things that can go wrong. Al Konchinski, after seeing these problems first hand working at a Putt-Putt Golf, has decided to do something about.

From that point, Monster Golf in Gurnee was born. "We started on March 10 and it's going really well," Konchinski said. "We are drawing people from a 15 mile Granted that Monster Golf is indoors, and the escape from the heat alone is enough to draw people, Konchinski's golf course gone wild has features like none other.

The 100% glowing environment is accented with "club" music. When making one's way through the course, however, animated snakes, alligators and a 15-foot-tall T-Rex all present formidable opponents.

The course itself isn't the end of the fun at this establishment though, as a pizzeria style restaurant, glow in the dark gift shop and state-of-the-art arcade all offer indoor fun.

'We've started a lot of weekly family specials and group rates," Konchinski said. "We've also started all-night lock-ins where 75 people or more can get pizza, unlimited golf and 20 arcade tokens."

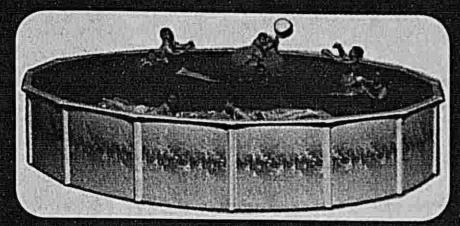

Located right across the street from Six Flags Great America, Monster Golf is eight dollars for adults, seven dollars for kids age 7-12 and five dollars for seniors and those under seven. They also offer matinee prices before 6 p.m. Monday-Friday where everyone can play for five bucks.

Besides the price, Konchinski said Monster Golf presents a better group getaway than places like Great America because of the intimacy and togetherness of the visit. Instead of splitting up and getting separated in a great, big theme park, groups can stay together whether they are eating, playing or just relaxing.

This summer, when the heat is blaring yet you're still searching for that perfect activity, think Monster Golf.
